STATE STREET'S JUBILEE SHOW IS FOR 500,000

Six Blocks of Free Song and Circus.

Extra Jubilee Trains

The railroads concentrate their equipment so that extra coaches and extra trains will be available to bring Jubilee throngs to Chicago from all parts of the central west. Their officials predict that at least 100,000 visitors will ride to the Jubilee by rail. More plans for the grand parade, which will open the Jubilee on Monday night, are announced. Details on page 3.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Three-quarters of a mile of free vaudeville, music, and circus acts will be State street's contribution next Wednesday night to the festivities of the Chicago Jubilee.

The shows will last three hours.

Shows on Platform Cars.

Promptly at six o'clock in the evening the Chicago City Railway company will anchor twelve of its flat cars at these intersections.

Fifteen minutes later State street will be closed to traffic.

Until 9 o'clock scene setters and decorators will be busy transforming the flat cars—two at each of the corners—into stages that will be equipped with amplifiers and flood lights.

At eight o'clock troupes of clowns, tumblers, jugglers, singers, bandsmen, radio stars, and variety performers will take their places on the stages and the show will be on.

Stores Will Be Closed.

Throughout the entertainment the vast establishments which give State street its world wide fame will be closed save that in ten stores there will be emergency stations for the accomodation of women and children who may be tuckered out by the throngs and the gayeties outside.

Balaban & Katz will send leading acts from their theaters. Among them will be a ballet which will appear on one of the outdoor stages.

On each stage eight high class circus acts will be given and among the celebrated radio attractions contributing to the frolic will be Zoule's Hungry Five, Mike and Herman and the Three Doctors.

From the College Inn and Terrace Gardens will come other purveyors of light and airy fun.

Men Back of the Carnival.

What will impress you not less than the extent of the show is the list of men who are promoting it.

Solid men of State street are working over the preparations for it as earnestly as if those preparations concerned the sale of huge consignments of goods.

Among these volunteer impresarios are:

Ray Schaeffer of Marshall Field's staff.

A. L. Warren of Field's wholesale.

Bruce McLeish of Carson Pirie Scott's.

Leon Mandel II. of Mandel Brothers.

E. J. Thain of Carson Pirie Scott's.

Dale Epstein of the Boston store.

They are planning and spending on behalf of the nearly five hundred merchants and building owners of the State Street council, and they have promised the council for Wednesday night "the biggest thing of the kind that State street ever attempted."

View of Leon Mandel.

"I go stronger than that," said Leon Mandel yesterday. "I say that the council has sponsored what is going to be the greatest free show ever put on anywhere.

"The audience alone is going to be a memorable sight. We are confident that there will be half a million people moving up and down the three quarters of a mile of merriment, and if the music and the fun, the maskers and the dancers, the flags and the banners, the confetti and the ballets don't chirp them up for days thereafter then State street will acknowledge that it knows nothing about crowd psychology.

"During my eight years as a working man in State street, who has put in many a fifteen hour day, I have never known 'the street' to get together on a civic proposition with such unanimity and liberality as it is

Move to Curb Billboards on Illinois Roads

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—Bills to create a "Century of Progress Commission" with an appropriation of $350,000 and to protect and beautify the highways that will lead to Chicago for the World Fair of 1933, by regulating outdoor advertising, were introduced in the house tonight. Senator Richard J. Barr [Rep., Joliet] put in the measure, creating a state commission to provide an Illinois building and an exhibit of state products for the exposition.

EDW. P. O'GRADY. [Reel Photo].

Approval by City Club.

Senator Edward P. O'Grady [Dem., Chicago] prepared the bill to regulate billboards, patterning it upon the New Jersey act. The measure has the approval of the City club. In brief the bill provides:

Concerns in the business of outdoor advertising for profit are required to be licensed by the secretary of state, at a yearly fee of $100.

A permit must be obtained for every billboard, at a fee of 3 cents per square foot. No permit is required to erect a billboard on real estate to advertise the same.

Get Written Permission.

No billboard or other structure for advertising purposes shall be erected or maintained within a distance of 500 feet of an intersection of a highway with another highway, or with a railway or street railroad, at a point where it would obstruct or interfere with the view of a train, street car, or other vehicle. No billboard shall be erected or maintained on any public highway, park, or other public property unless permission in writing is obtained from the board having control and approved by the secretary of state.

"No permit to erect or maintain a billboard or other structure for advertising purposes shall be issued, which, in the judgment of the secretary of state, is or would be injurious to property in the vicinity, or injuriously affect any public interest."

3 AGED WOMEN CARRIED DOWN LADDERS AT FIRE

Three aged women were carried down ladders by firemen when a fire which started in some rubbish in the basement of the four-story apartment house at 1250 Sedgwick street early this morning filled all the flats with dense smoke. Twenty-five other persons were driven to the streets. Those carried out were Mrs. Lena Krosan, 84 years old, and Mrs. Sadie Schank, 75 years old, taken from the fourth floor, and Mrs. Anna Rupple, also an elderly woman, taken from the third floor. Mrs. Krosan was sent to the county hospital. The loss was $1,500.

Two stores in the heart of the business district of Chicago Heights were destroyed by fire early this morning with an estimated loss of $100,000. The flames broke out about 4:30 o'clock in the furniture store of J. M. Wiehl & Co., 50 Illinois street. They were sweeping the entire two-story structure when firemen arrived. Finding they were unable to save the building, a call was sent to Matteson for additional apparatus. Meanwhile the flames spread to Ben Cohen's men's clothing store, adjoining, also a two story structure. The entire interior of this place was destroyed. At 7 o'clock the firemen were getting the flames under control.

THE GARAGE OWNERS SEE A NEW MOSES IN 'COCKEYE' ABLIN

David [Cockeye Mulligan] Ablin last night was cheered as the Moses who would lead the garage owners from the wilderness of financial despond through the medium of the newly organized Cook County Garage Owners' association. Approximately 250 of the 600 garage owners who have signed with Ablin attended the meeting.

No mention was made of the amount of money to be collected by Ablin and his benchmen, although a "good salary for our organizer" was mentioned. Several speakers told of the depression in the garage business because of street parking and competition. Three officers of a board of directors of ten members, selected in advance by a "committee," were unanimously elected.

Details of detectives from the state's attorney's racket bureau and the Warren avenue police station attended the meeting in Car men's hall, but the proceedings were orderly.

This is Ablin's second venture in the organizing of garage owners. In 1925, 1926, and 1927 he was the head of the profitable Midwest association with an estimated income of $125,000. He was forced out by George [Red] Barker and after two years of bombing, slugging, puncturing of tires, and kidnaping the association vanished.

4 Guarding Mines Slain in Outbreak

Harlan, Ky., May 5.—(AP)—Four men were killed and two wounded in a clash between deputy sheriffs and mine guards, and a force of about 40 union mine worker sympathizers within sight of the mining town of Evarts today.

The dead, as reported to Sheriff J. H. Blair's office here, were James Daniels, 39, deputy; Otto Lee, 27, deputy; Howard Jones, 26, a commissary clerk, and Carl Richmond, 24, a member of the force that the deputies claimed opened fire from ambush.

The clash, one of a series of outbreaks blamed on unemployment due to the economic situation, and efforts of the men to organize, was the bloodiest one in several weeks of outbreaks, that already have cost several lives, resulted in the burning of sixteen unoccupied miners' houses, looting of half a dozen stores and commissaries, and dynamiting.

A general inquiry into the lawlessness has been ordered to begin tomorrow by a special grand jury ordered by Circuit Judge D. C. Jones, who stated such a condition existed that he was unwilling to await the next regular meeting of the grand jury.

Reports to Sheriff Blair were that three automobile loads of deputies and mine guards, ten men in all, were leaving Evarts en route here when they were suddenly fired upon from the wooded mountain side.

DR. MICHELSON GROWS WEAKER; CONDITION GRAVE

Pasadena, Cal., May 5.—[Special.]—Dr. Albert A. Michelson, 79 years old, America's outstanding physicist, is growing gradually weaker and may not recover from the critical illness that has confined him to his bed for more than a month.

The famous scientist suffered a complete nervous collapse from overwork in connection with his final light-velocity experiment, now being completed by his assistants at the Irvine ranch, near Santa Ana, Cal., where a mile long vacuum tube has been installed.

Until this week, Michelson's remarkable vitality gave hopes that he would recover sufficiently to publish the highly successful results of what he announced as his last scientific research. However, these hopes waned tonight with news from his bedside that he no longer can move his upper or lower limbs.

EXILED ALFONSO URGES SPAIN TO BACK REPUBLIC

Declares He Has No Hard Feelings.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, May 5.—"Monarchy was voted out; if it ever comes back it will have to be voted back."

So said Alfonso XIII., until lately the king of Spain in an interview with Marquise Luca de Tena, proprietor of the newspaper A. B. C. The interview was held in London. Alfonso said that it was his wish that no obstacles should be placed in the path of the Republican government. He disavowed any attempt to foment a rebellion and intimated that he would abdicate when parliament legally declared a republic.

"The municipal elections may have expressed the nation's will," he said. "Only parliament can carry it out."

In the meantime, he declared, monarchist sentiment must be expressed within the law.

His Greatest Sacrifice.

"Once I understood Spain wanted me no more, I lost no time in leaving," Alfonso declared. "It was the greatest sacrifice of my life, and I would be very sad if I could not hope that history some day will do me justice."

The former king talked about his boy, Juan, who entered Dartmouth naval college last week.

"It is a great sacrifice for him, because the life of an English sailor is hard," he said.

Alfonso said that undoubtedly he had been mistaken, but that he had always acted for the good of Spain.

"I accepted a dictatorship when it was already accomplished," he said, answering the charge that it was he who had brought it about, "because I thought the people, who had been crying for it and who had received it with joy, wanted it."

Asks Many Questions.

The king asked a host of questions, Marquise de Tena said. Among these questions were:

"What day did you leave Madrid?" Is it true there is absolute tranquality?" "Do you think they will be able to settle things with Catalonia?" "How is the new government managing?"

Then gravely the king, holding a cigaret in his left hand and pressing his points with his right hand, said:

"I have decided, absolutely decided, not to place the slightest difficulty in the way of the republican government, which for me, in these moments, above everything is the government of Spain. I want you to tell Spain that. I want every one to know it—the monarchists and the republicans.

Insists He is Sincere.

"Whatever twisted interpretation any one may give my words, I am sincere, and my behavior in the future will demonstrate the loyalty with which I will carry out this program. The monarchists who care to follow my suggestions should not only abstain from blocking the government, but should back it patriotically."

The king said that during the last year of his reign all manner of difficulties had been placed in the way of his government.

"Contrary to what others may do," he said, "I will never approve of the people being incited against authority or its agents, nor would I approve that the misfortunes of the country should be used as a speculation against the prestige of the new régime. I do not want the monarchists in my name to incite a military rebellion, and I formally disavow any move that might be made in this direction. I hear that many officers are refusing to swear allegiance to the republic, as demanded. I have already told as many as I could to swear allegiance. Monarchy came to an end in Spain through suffrage, and if at any time it comes back it must likewise be through the vote of the people."

Find $83,000 Trust Fund of Dead Auditor

While police authorities all over the middle west were striving to arrest him yesterday on charges of having embezzled $65,000 in public funds, County Auditor Fred A. Butke of Kane county was dead, a suicide, having shot himself through the head in his room at the Fort Dearborn hotel.

FRED A. BUTKE.

His body was discovered shortly before midnight last night on the bed in his room. He had drawn a pillow over his head to muffle the crack of the pistol. The weapon lay beside Butke's head. Dr. Lee Kiel, house physician of the hotel, which is at 125 West Van Buren street, said that physical evidence showed the death of the absconding auditor had occurred many hours before, probably on Monday night. Butke was 38 years old.

Arranges $83,000 Trust Fund.

The last act of Butke before he locked himself in the room to kill himself, so far as investigators have been able to learn, was to complete arrangements for the establishment of a trust fund of $83,000 with the Chicago Title and Trust company for the benefit of his wife, Marjorie. She was to receive the net income from this for life.

However, Kane county officials learned by chance yesterday that he had made the trust agreement on Monday afternoon and they moved immediately for an injunction to tie up the fund, which contains assets more than sufficient to cover all the peculations from the county that have yet been traced to Butke.

It was a little before 2 p. m. on Monday that Butke had appeared at the hotel and registered as F. W. Beebe of Aurora. He was assigned to room 1503. Two hours earlier, and only a short while after he had fled from his expensive home in Aurora to escape a meeting with the county board of supervisors, he had gone to the trust company offices.

Brings $83,000 Securities.

Even while the search for him was being set in motion he was closeted with P. T. Pullen, head of the trust company's new business department. After making preliminary arrangements for the fund he left the banking institution. Apparently he registered at the hotel before a second visit to Mr. Pullen. On this occasion he brought with him $80,000 in bonds and 200 shares of the Cities Service company common stock, with a market value of a little more than $3,000, to be converted into the trust fund.

He returned once more, according to Mr. Pullen, around 5 p. m. After that there was no further report of him being seen alive. But during the second visit to the trust company Butke had come face to face with Peter Youngen of Aurora, who knew him. Youngen, unaware at the time that the county auditor already had been declared a fugitive, spoke pleasantly. Butke, however, brushed past him without a word.

Just what time he returned to his hotel room is uncertain. He had paid in advance for it and none of the hotel employés remembered seeing him after he registered.

Early yesterday morning a maid tried to get in to clean the room. She was unsuccessful then and at intervals through the day. Last night, late, another maid also failed to get in and notified the housekeeper. She

AN ECONOMIC SPREE LED TO CRASH: TRAYLOR

Warns Finance Must Chart New Course.

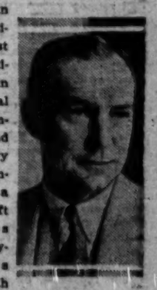
BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—A young banker come out of the west—Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National of Chicago—stood up in the International Chamber of Commerce today and shook up the dry bones of complacency with a vigor that left 1,000 business men from thirty-five countries gasping for breath—and also applauding.



MELVIN A. TRAYLOR.

With that steely glint of the financial eye that is brought to bear upon the security offered for a loan, the young banker—he is 52—surveyed the current world-wide economic depression and proceeded to assess the blame and point the way out.

All Live Beyond Their Means.

What Mr. Traylor pictured was the morning after of a wild economic spree of individuals, corporations and governments, all living beyond their means—a spree on which the world went as a result of too much war between 1914 and 1918. He spared no feelings, not even his own, in taking the leaders of finance, industry, commerce, agriculture and government to task for failing to call a halt on the orgy.

"We have not failed," he gravely confessed, "because of ignorance of economic theories, but because of our utter disregard and defiance of all economic laws. Ambition, stupidity and greed have dictated policies and trouble has been the result."

Mr. Traylor was not the only dispenser of "bad news" for optimists. A little later Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon lunched with the foreign bankers attending the conference who still are hoping against hope that the Hoover administration can be persuaded to turn a sympathetic eye upon the proposition of canceling those war debts. Mr. Mellon would make no prediction of the return of good times, but he did significantly opine that "the troubles which all of us face at this time cannot be cured by any quick and easy method or at some one else's expense." Sadder and wiser the foreign bankers drifted back to the afternoon session.

Assails Stock Exchange Heads.

The severest count in his indictment Mr. Traylor reserved for the heads of the stock exchanges and boards of trade for "aiding and abetting, if not leading," the debacle. Or these exchanges he demanded reform in three particulars: Abolishment of the daily settlement with its daily call money rate, abolishment of floor trading, which he likened to crap shooting, and elimination of small time speculation by prohibiting margin trading in amounts under $10,000.

Mr. Traylor demanded retrenchment of expenditures by all governments—national, state, county, and municipal—and implored caution in yielding to the temptations of federal aid for public improvements.

The farmer, victim of overproduction and legislative panaceas, this banker, born on a farm, asserted, must learn to take his medicine like everybody else, must learn that he can afford automobiles, radios, and other luxuries only to the extent that he can live on food produced on his own farm.

Not in Domain of Politics.

"Relief from world distress, the cure for economic ills," said Mr. Traylor, "does not lie in the domain of political action. Wherever legislative programs have been undertaken for the cure of economic ills, state socialism, with failure immeasurably worse, has been the result.

"Governments cannot effectively or efficiently suspend the operation of economic laws, as witness failure after failure in the field of price regulation and, most recently, the almost complete breakdown of economic conditions in Australia and New Zealand, where government ownership and operation have had their most universal application. We must not travel that path. Government cooperation is imperative, but leadership must come from business."

Financial leadership in this country, Mr. Traylor said, must take stock of itself, turn over a new leaf and chart a new course if there is to be any safeguard in the future against repetition of the present economic tragedy. Not a single financial leader, he asserted, had had the courage to call a halt on the orgy of speculation.

Criticizes Financial Leaders.

"Aiding and abetting, if not leading, the financial group," he went on, "was another group upon whose shoulders must rest a large measure of responsibility for the present condition of the American economic structure. I refer to those responsible for the management of the security and commodity exchanges of the country. I have said before and I repeat that I believe security and commodity exchanges are necessary for the efficient functioning of American business. I have also said that American business has paid altogether too great a price for the character of service we have had in our attempt to maintain a free market for our securities and commodities.

"I do not believe we can afford to continue to pay the price which has been required for the maintenance of such markets. As far as I can recall, this country has not had a major depression in three decades that did not follow a collapse of values on the stock exchange. I do not claim that these collapses — presupposing of course, periods of speculative activity —were wholly responsible for such depressions but I do say that such collapses have been the immediate and most obvious precipitating causes.

"Since public opinion is so directly responsive to price fluctuations, especially on our security exchanges, may I urge upon those responsible for management policies further unprejudiced investigation of changes which may be made in the public interest?"

Suggests Three Proposals.

To be specific he would propose three propositions for the prayerful consideration of the heads of the security and produce exchanges.

"First, and most important of all," he said, "because, I believe, it exerts a more dangerous influance than any other one thing in American financial life, I would urge consideration of the abolishment of the so-called 'daily settlement' with its consequent 'daily call money rate.' Without the power in the federal reserve board to regulate to a reasonable extent the flow of credit and the rate to be charged for it business stability is impossible; and I am equally certain that with a call money market daily making the rate for funds, it is impossible for any banking agency to influence the flow of money more than nominally, and in no sense at all to regulate the rate.

"Therefore, in the interest of a sound banking structure and stable business activity, I believe the exchanges of the country would make a direct contribution of great importance should they adopt some type of periodic settlement which would eliminate the daily call rate and make possible some measure of regulation of the flow and rate of credit by banking authority.

Would Abolish Floor Trading.

"In the second place, I would urge consideration of the complete abolishment of so called floor trading, which, as I am informed, has about it most of the characteristics of plain crap shooting, and few if any more redeeming features than that delightful Ethiopian pastime.

"This much I know and every layman knows, that when the total capitalization of a corporation is traded in once a week, or over a period of a year from five to thirty times, the sales are not made for the account of one who owns and wants to sell, nor are the purchases made for those who desire to buy and actually receive the securities. If I am wrong in believing that the present system should be changed, then a large percentage of the people are wrong, for almost all believe the same thing. Obviously, if their opinion is unfavorable it shakes their confidence in the integrity of the whole procedure.

"Finally, I would urge consideration by all exchanges of the adoption of rules which would prohibit their members accepting trades on any other basis than for cash if the amount involved is less than $10,000, and I should personally prefer to see the amount raised to $50,000. I suggest the latter figure because it is the par value of a hundred shares of $100 par stock.

"This suggestion is not intended to bar the small investor from the market. Other avenues of credit are open to him if he desires to invest beyond his cash funds. My thought is that this country cannot afford again the wreck and ruin of people of small means, which followed the last crash. It is bad enough when the intelligent and wealthy speculate and lose, but when scrub women, day laborers, small home owners, wives and youths speculate and lose simply because they can go to a broker's office and get credit for small sums, the practice ceases to be defensible on any ground.

"If it be objected that the adoption of these suggestions would greatly curtail the volume of trading, and affect vested interests of those owning stock exchange membership, let me say that the welfare of 120,000,000 people should not be sacrificed to the vested interests of any group, however large or small. If such an unprejudiced inquiry indicates that these or other reforms will strengthen exchange organizations and make them more useful members of our economic structure—then surely they should be made."

Reform of Taxing Machinery.

In the matter of public expenditures Mr. Traylor said there must be "some hard, sound thinking if we are to avoid disaster." He cited the increase of our national income by 135 per cent between 1913 and 1928, while the cost of all government rose 300 per cent.

There must be not only retrenchment, he said, but a reform of taxing machinery.

"Let us face the facts," Mr. Traylor went on. "Unless there is a return to sanity in the matter of public expenditures, default and repudiation of public obligations cannot be much longer avoided."

Turning to agriculture, the Chicago financier said that the greatest damage done to farmers was to induce them to believe that "in government action there was some magic wand which would lift off their shoulders the responsibility of hard work, thrift, and economy."

The farmer, he said, was influenced to overproduce just as manufacturers were led to overproduce.

All Deceived by High Values.

"Like all of us, in every line of activity," he continued, "the farmer was deceived by high values in the time of his prosperity. In a well-intentioned but what now seems at least an unfortunate venture, the government provided abundant credit facilities for the farmer's use. These facilities were supplemented by other large and liberal lending agencies, which likewise were misled by land values. The result was that millions of farmers assumed obligations out of all proportion to any possible normal farm income.

"All of us interested in farm activity and farm finance must assume our share of responsibility for this situation. We are learning our lesson and will have to take our medicine with the farmer himself. For this mistake, time and hard work seem to be the only remedy. Certainly more credit will not solve the problem.

"I wish I could possess prophetic vision that I might see the way by which the agricultural industry could be relieved of its distress and started on a course of well being and profit. God has not given me that power, but I think there is a remedy which the farmer himself can apply. That remedy will start him on the making of a comfortable livelihood.

Not a Cow on Many Farms.

"When we find that on approximately 20 per cent of the farms in the United States there is not a milch cow nor a chicken and that on more than 30 per cent there is not a hog, and on approximately 90 per cent not a sheep; when we know, further, that on many farms in our large agricultural states no gardens are kept and almost every article of food is purchased at the store, we are forced to the conclusion that the farmer, by and large, is not farming as he should. I know that there are certain sections where some or all of these means of increasing farm income cannot be applied, but, so far as possible, every farmer should produce his own milk and dairy products, his own meat, and his own poultry, raise his own garden truck, and can the fruit and vegetables he requires for winter use. Until he obtains from his farm every item for personal consumption which it is humanly possible for him to produce, he has not done his job properly.

"Pigs and chickens and cows are worth more to the individual farmer than all the government relief programs that may possibly be conceived."

3 GUNMEN TRY TO ROB POLICEMEN; 1 SLAIN, 2 CAUGHT

Detectives John Geisler and Peter Lenihan of the Burnside police fought a gun battle last night with three Negro robbers who tried to hold them up as they sat in an automobile at 85th street and Michigan avenue. They killed one bandit, captured another, and from him obtained information that resulted in the arrest of the third.

The dead robber was William Johnson, 20 years old, 6408 Burnham avenue. He started the battle by thrusting a pistol through the window of the policemen's car and demanding money. Detective Geisler shot him in the heart after Johnson had fired once at the policemen when they reached for guns. William Roberts, 19 years old, 3024 Prairie avenue, the second robber, was seized as he sat at the wheel of the bandits' car. The third robber, Walter Wilson, also 19, fled, but was captured in his home at 4617 Vincennes avenue.

A short time before the shooting the three gunmen had held up Dr. Samuel G. Seinfeld of the St. Clair hotel, 162 East Ohio street, and Miss Beulah More, 7945 Oglesby avenue, at 83th street and Jeffery avenue.

Robber Shot by Owner of Store Dies of Wound

Edward Rogowski, 20 years old, 1731 West 18th street, who was shot on Monday morning when he and two companions tried to rob the Miller Bros. furniture store at 4020 West 26th street, died of his wound early this morning in the Bridewell hospital. Rogowski was shot by Otto Miller, one of the owners of the store, who pursued the holdup men as they fled. His two companions, Walter Stafra, 20 years old, 1605 South Wood street, and Stanley Duval, 22, of 1900 Cullerton street, were captured after the shooting.

Welcome to the Neighbors.

"But we are not trying to make our show dominate the Jubilee festivities. We want to be just one of the focal points for the neighbors trooping from all parts of the city.

"Least of all do we wish to turn our share in the festivities into a catch-penny or catch-dollar scheme The spirit of the Jubilee is finer than that. Its spirit is neighborliness.

"As to details of Wednesday night's program, I am going to sum them up by saying that for three hours incessantly there will be something fresh, bright and exhilarating for the neighbors to see."

The masters of ceremonies on Wednesday night will be the famous orchestra leaders:

Ben Bernie, "the old maestro," who will of course oblige the half million with "The King's Horses."

Ted Weems, "Prince of Syncopation."

And Dan Russo and Arthur Kassell, who are nationally known as directors of radio orchestras.

In addition to the music played from the stages there will be selections by bands of gaily costumed troubadours moving amid the throngs of neighbors.

Mrs. Caroline Mataitis, 42 years old, yesterday hanged herself with a bathrobe cord in the bedroom of her home at 3439 South Morgan street. She had been ill, the police were told.

CHICAGO INVITES HOOSIERLAND TO ATTEND JUBILEE

Indiana Cities Told of Quick Routes to Loop.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

South Bend, Ind., May 5.—[Special.]—Here on the eastern fringe of the Chicago metropolitan area business men of South Bend, Elkhart and Mishawaka met at a chamber of commerce luncheon this noon and heard about Chicago's Jubilee week, which starts on Monday.

"We appreciate this invitation to participate in the Jubilee," said Carl L. Hibberd, president of the South Bend chamber, speaking the sentiment of the gathering. "We appreciate especially the spirit in which the invitation was issued, as a bid to join in a demonstration marking a revived civic spirit and a revived confidence in our business institutions.

Schuler Is Main Speaker.

"We of northern Indiana are concerned with what is taking place in Chicago after all," he added, smiling. "Chicago is just a big suburb of South Bend."

The main jubilee speaker was L. J. Schuler of the Chicago Motor club, which has a branch in the Chamber of Commerce building here.

"No doubt," he opened his remarks, "You have all read details of the Jubilee in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, which has promoted the event. I am at this meeting to announce that it is your jubilee as well as Chicago's.

Urges Hoosiers to Attend.

"We are not suggesting that you come to Chicago next week to spend your money there. We are suggesting that you come to Chicago next week to absorb some of the new pride in Chicagoland, that you will be able to take back to South Bend and Mishawaka and Elkhart some of the business confidence and civic consciousness which will be dramatized during the week."

"It will be a fitting forerunner of the World's Fair of 1933," Mr. Schuler concluded. "The entire metropolitan area, of which you are a part, will benefit, just as the entire area suffered from Chicago's régime of bad reputation."

At the motor club office touring guides pointed out that Chicago, through improvements of highways and of automobiles in the last few years, has been brought much closer to these northern Indiana cities. The drive from here to the loop can now be made without strain in less than three hours. The distance by way of U. S. 20, through Michigan City and Gary, is 88 miles. By way of Ind. 2 and Ind. 6, using the Torrence avenue and Stony Island avenue route to Jackson park, the distance to the Tribune Tower is 98 miles, but it can be driven in about the same time as U. S. 20 because this combination of state routes, recently completed with the exception of a small detour, avoid local traffic in the industrial districts in the northwestern corner of the state.

Quick Routes to Chicago.

U. S. 20 has also been improved in the last few years.

Both routes to Chicago take advantage of the outer drive.

With these highway improvements and with the spirit of the metropolitan area as demonstrated at today's luncheon, it can be forecast that this section of Indiana will take an active part in the Jubilee. There will be thousands of motorists from here and hereabouts visiting Chicago during the week.

EXTRA RAILROAD TRAINS TO BRING JUBILEE THRONGS

Line of March for Grand Parade Is Announced.

At least 100,000 visitors are coming to the Chicago Jubilee by rail. This estimate is based on reports made yesterday by passenger agents and traffic managers of the railroads which are offering reduced fares to Jubilee excursionists from May 10 to 20.

On the basis of reservations already made the Chicago and North Western railway, alone, expects to handle 15,000 additional passengers during the Jubilee, according to R. R. Thomson, assistant passenger traffic manager. The North Western rail network covers Wisconsin, Iowa, and Minnesota and the special rates are attracting interest in all three states, Mr. Thomson said.

"Division passenger agents, particularly on the Wisconsin and Green Bay divisions, report an extraordinary number of inquiries about the special rates," he said. "We expect to bring in contingents of Jubilee visitors from Green Bay, Appleton, Fond du Lac, and possibly from as far north as Marinette and Menominee."

Extra Trains Planned.

To accommodate the Jubilee visitors from Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, and Madison, the North Western traffic department is already laying plans for extra coaches on all regular trains and for extra trains on the Milwaukee division, according to Mr. Thomson.

A similar situation was reported by W. B. Dixon, general passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific. With the reduced rate effective on all of the Milwaukee's lines east of the Missouri river, that road is now lining up extra coaches and parlor cars for service on the shorter runs and sleeping cars in the yards at Minneapolis, St. Paul, Omaha, and Kansas City.

"The Milwaukee road expects to carry at least 15,000 passengers above normal during the Jubilee," said Mr. Dixon. "We've had inquiries from as far away as Sioux Falls, S. D. In all the larger cities we have advertised the Jubilee excursion rates in the daily newspapers and in towns having no daily newspapers we have posters up in the stations."

Other Thousands Coming.

The Burlington road expects hundreds of Jubilee passengers from Ottumwa and Burlington, Ia., from Galesburg, Quincy, Kewanee, and Oregon, Ill., according to A. Cotsworth, passenger traffic manager. The demand for reservations has been brisk, Mr. Cotsworth said.

The Santa Fé will also bring in its thousands of visitors during Jubilee week, said B. M. Bukey, assistant passenger traffic manager. This road expects to draw, principally on the communities of Fort Madison, Ia., Galesburg and Streator, Ill., and Kansas City, Mo.

"Chicago has always been what railroad men call 'a good excursion town,'" Mr. Bukey said. "Even on a Labor day excursion with the reduced rate honored only in day coaches the Santa Fé has carried as many as 1,500 extra passengers. Now, with the rate applying in Pullman cars on all first class trains and with this big Jubilee attractions, it is impossible to estimate how many thousands will take advantage of the special fare."

Line of March Announced.

The line of march for the Jubilee parade, which will open the fortnight of celebration next Monday evening, was announced yesterday following a conference between Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, parade marshal; Frederick J. Ashley, chairman of the coördinating committee of the Association of Commerce, and staff members of the Illinois national guard.

Forming at Superior street and Michigan avenue, the parade will swing south in the avenue at 7:30 p. m., past a reviewing stand on the east side of the avenue between 7th and 8th streets. Among those in the stand will be Gen. Charles P. Summerall, retired, former chief of staff of the army; Rear Admiral Walter S. Crosley, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station; Gov. Emmerson, Mayor Cermak, and Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce.

BLOSSOM QUEENS FIND BEAUTY LIFE IS DIFFICULT ONE

Assert Proposals Are a Burden.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The life of a beauty queen is a tough one, filled with hardships such as having to turn down proposals and to hear how pretty they are, and the 30 odd beauties of the Michigan Blossom festival who came to Chicago yesterday had an unusually busy day being admired.

Before they left last night for St. Joseph where the queen of all Michigan loveliness, Jane Filstrup of Benton Harbor, will be crowned, the beauties took time out to complain about the ardors of their lot in being beautiful.

"It's Perfectly Terrible."

"It's perfectly terrible, all the proposals and poetic letters I get," said the queen, pushing back her golden waves from her schoolgirl complexion and turning sorrowful blue eyes upward. "I have a whole suit box full of them. They're just the most ridiculous things—about how they'd give their souls to meet me, and so on. You know, honestly, I don't like that at all. I suppose I'll have to get used to publicity as I'm going on the stage—I sing, you know—but I do hate it."

They had been greeted earlier in the afternoon by Mayor Cermak in the Congress hotel—and the mayor was visibly fluttered—and they had lunched at the Hotel Sherman, whither they had been escorted by screaming police sirens and manful policemen who looked as if they had an eye for beauty themselves.

"Tired of Beauty Queening."

As they started on their ascent to The Tribune tower and the elevator man beamed and said he guessed these were the beauty queens, all right, and a photographer was assuring some of the girls that the movie stars he photographed weren't half so pretty, little Miss Kalamazoo sighed and said she was so tired of beauty queening. Otherwise Mildred Griffin, she is one of Miss Filstrup's two runners-up, and the youngest girl in the festival.

But all the proposals the girls have been bothered with haven't been turned down, it was hinted. Of course, Miss Grand Rapids, or Josephine Puhaly, said that the new diamond ring on the third finger of her left hand didn't mean a thing. She was going to have a career and be a dancer.

And Miss New Buffalo, or Inez Bancroft, said she was not engaged. Miss Grace Scherwitz of Hartford did not deny that she was engaged, and Helen Moore of Three Rivers said that she was to be married June 8.

GIRL STUDENT SHOT TO DEATH FROM AMBUSH

Jackson, Ky., May 5.—(AP)—Miss Tessie Patton, 18, student at Lee's Junior college here, was fatally wounded tonight by a shot fired into an automobile in which she was riding. The shooting occurred on the road between here and Quicksand.

George Daniels Jr. said he was driving about 40 miles an hour when a group of men stepped out from the side of the road and opened fire. The other occupant of the car was Thomas Meadows. The men were not struck by bullets.

The Jackson unit of the Kentucky National guard was mobilized to prevent any possible disorder.

She Learns What Happens to Such as She.

New York, May 5.—[Special.]—An interesting revelation of what is very likely to happen girls who run away from home and come to New York to go on the stage or "live their own lives" came to light today with the finding of Doris Louise Dempsey, 15 year old daughter of William W. Dempsey, a wealthy lumber dealer of York, Pa., who left her home on April 22.

She was located in a furnished room on West 161st street where she had been living in the company of another girl—Jeanne Culver of Elizabeth, N. J., who last September escaped from the Clinton reformatory at Clinton, N. J.—and three young men who will, if the plans of the police mature, be held for criminal assault.

Girls Found Asleep.

The younger Cook was found in one room with the two girls, all in bed asleep. The other men had been apprehended an hour earlier at the Capital bus terminal on 8th avenue.

After she had consumed some sandwiches at the station house Miss Dempsey told why she had left home, and also revealed that she is an author. She said she has almost completed a novel entitled "Life in Manhattan," based on what she had read about New York in magazines and newspapers. She has named her heroine Phyllis Vanderveer, and this is the name she used when she reached the city she had written about but never seen.

She knows more about it now.

Good police work by three New York detectives led to the finding of the Dempsey heiress, but not before her two weeks' adventure had left marks which were strikingly apparent when she reached the station house. Normally a very pretty, plump blond, older looking than her 15 years, she was bedraggled, unwashed, and emaciated today. Her hair was matted and her fingernails were rimmed with black.

Doesn't Want to Go Home.

Dempsey, the father, arrived this afternoon and fainted after a short talk with his daughter. Later he said he would remain here to attend the girl's arraignment in Children's court tomorrow. Although she greeted her father affectionately, the girl insisted she did not want to return home. She particularly objected, she said, to returning to the private school at York, in which her parents had placed her.

Her railroad fare took $7.70 and she put up at a hotel which she remembered as the "Avon," took her luggage out of the Pennsylvania checkroom and moved in. There she met a girl, and through her a young man who took her that same night to an apartment in West Sixty-fifth street, where the Culver girl lived. The Culver girl invited her to stay, and Miss Dempsey accepted, leaving her luggage at the hotel because she had no funds to pay her bill.

The Cook brothers, both of whom are Nova Scotians, have admitted that they are in this country illegally and their case has been referred to the immigration authorities.

Borngrebe is an Aurora undertaker, who was friendly with the auditor and had played golf with him as late as Saturday. The body, with the pillow over the head, lay on the bed, coatless but clothed in trousers and shirt.

The pistol lay under the pillow. In the pockets of the trousers were a few cards and $106. Sergt. Charles Reynolds of the coroner's office, who took charge of the investigation, said that death had occurred either in the early morning or late Monday night.

County Acts to Get Fund.

Long after the auditor's death, but before the fact of it was known, Kane county had made its move to take charge of the trust fund to make good the public losses. Assistant State's Attorney Carleton A. Shults, acting under orders of State's Attorney George D. Carbary, appeared before Judge Newhall of the Circuit court at Geneva and filed a seventeen page petition for an injunction to keep the fund intact.

This document stated that the fund was "more than $75,000" and that the peculations of Butke might reach more than that sum. A temporary injunction was granted.

It was decided to take this legal action after Youngen had told his story to Prosecutor Carbary and a public accountant in Geneva. Another investigation is being made to determine whether Butke carried a large amount of insurance. It was possible, it was pointed out, that he may have had enough to cover his shortages to the county, and the trust fund would still be operative, in this event, for the benefit of Mrs. Butke.

Audit Official's Books.

A quick audit of Butke's books was being made yesterday. It was shown that as far back as Nov. 29, 1922, Butke had taken for himself the proceeds of a check from the supervisor of the county poor farm which represented receipts for the sale of vegetables raised on the farm. The first check was in the amount of $2,806. On the same day, it is charged by the investigators, another check for $2,193, which should have been deposited to the credit of Kane county, was cashed and pocketed by Butke.

Frank Averill, supervisor of the county farm and poorhouse, said he had been advised by Butke that it was more convenient to have the checks made payable to cash rather than to the county treasurer.

Butke's affairs came to a showdown on Monday, when a special committee of the Kane county board of supervisors met to examine his accounts, due to the fact that a check made payable by Averill to Miss Urania Kenyon, deputy county treasurer, had been cashed personally by Butke after Miss Kenyon's rubber stamp signature had been put on it.

Butke operated a private auditing firm in Aurora and on Monday, while his personal accounts were under scrutiny, Butke's representatives were auditing the accounts of the Illinois state athletic commission, which gets a percentage on all professional boxing shows and other exhibitions. Butke also was the auditor of the Aurora Masonic Temple fund and for several suburban concerns.

It was shown that Butke drew $700 out of his savings account at the First National Bank of Aurora on Monday and took some documents from his safety deposit box. He still had a balance in the bank, although it was not known whether he left anything of value in the safety deposit box.

Opponent of Prosecutor.

Butke recently figured as a political opponent of Carbary in the fight that developed among the Republican office holders of Kane county because of Carbary's ultra dry policies. The killing of Mrs. Lillian De King of Aurora by Carbary's dry raiders provoked a political storm in that county, and Butke was among Carbary's opponents.

Recently there was a proposal in the Kane county board to create the office of county purchasing agent. Butke wanted the job and appeared certain of getting it. Then Carbary gave an opinion that such a position would be illegal.

His First Political Job.

Butke had been a $125 a month cashier and bookkeeper for the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin electric line until 1918, when State Auditor Oscar Nelson, then the county treasurer of Kane county, appointed him cashier for the county treasurer's office. Nelson was one of the Republican leaders in Kane county and through his sponsorship Butke was elected county auditor in 1920, and as such he had served with three different county treasurers who succeeded Nelson.

Until the question arose over the disappearance of the money paid by Averill, supposedly to the county treasurer, Butke had not been suspected of wrongdoing. His wife, who was prostrated yesterday, said they lived within his salary which, since 1928 has been $3,500 a year. Before that it was $3,000.

an incitement to civil war," the marquise said.

The king was silent for a moment. "O, how sad," he said at last. "I left Spain after drawing up that document precisely to avoid a civil war. The legally considered municipal elections were simply administrative, but I realized that the republicans, as well as the monarchists, conceded the importance of a plebiscite, and thus I decided to go away, proving my respect for the nation's will, refusing the offers of a government of force to maintain order, pending the selection of a cortes. I consider that against the vote of the people a monarchy cannot be defended by arms, and that a mere military rebellion might be repressed.

"I left Spain respecting the people's will, but no one has a right to ask me to descend from my throne until the cortes has proclaimed a republic. The nation's will can only be expressed in parliament.

Insists Move Must Be Legal.

"It is well known that I left to avoid blood being spilled in the streets. It is well known why I did not abdicate. My rights to the crown are not mine alone. And only a national sovereignty, represented in the cortes, can make me resign. But now I want the monarchists to know that it is not my desire to create difficulties for the government which is the government of Spain."

Any monarchist movement, the king said, must be set up within the law and on monarchist ideals and principles only—"enthusiastically, but legally."

Marquise Tena said the king had no complaint. He made no reproaches, not even against those aristocrats who turned republican over night. He praised the work of the republican ministers, but when the marquise spoke to him of certain generals who, prepared to serve the republic, have taken the royal arms off their collars and had sewed them on their shirts over their heart, the king wept.

The papal nuncio, it is learned, has orders from the Vatican to advise Spanish Catholics to forget the monarchy, abandon all hope of a restoration, and turn to the task of keeping Spain a moderate republic instead of a Socialist republic, as it stands a fair chance of becoming. Eventual separation of church and state is taken for granted..

The nuncio's orders are to support the liberal element in the church and quiet the reactionary elements. The appointment of another cardinal archbishop of Toledo, one more liberally inclined, is thought possible. The Vatican urges a strong democratic center party, like that in Germany.

MINISTERS OF EVANSTON RAP ARMY AIR SHOW

The Kellogg peace pact was invoked yesterday by the Evanston Ministers' association as ground for protest against the army air maneuvers to be conducted on May 20 during the Chicago Jubilee. Telegrams protesting against the visit of 600 army planes which are to give a demonstration over the lake front on that date were dispatched last night to President Hoover and Secretary of War Hurley by the Evanston pastors.

The telegrams asserted that since America "is a signer of the Kellogg pact, the propriety of such a military demonstration is questioned by the Ministers' association of Evanston." The telegraphic protests were signed by the Rev. J. J. Steffens, rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal church, president of the association.

According to R. E. Wolseley, who announced the action of the ministers, the argument among the 25 pastors present was that the demonstration is planned as propaganda for increased armament. He said the pastors believe the visit of the airplanes is to help the war department put over extensive plans for increasing army appropriations.

ASSEMBLY ASKS DRY LAW REPEAL FROM CONGRESS

Would Have Issue Sent Back to States.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 6.—[Special.]—Congress was memorialized to submit repeal of the 18th amendment to the legislatures of the 48 states in a resolution adopted today by the house without discussion. Its sponsor, James T. Burns [Democrat, Kankakee], held that the debate was unnecessary in view of the prolonged discussion of the prohibition issue which culminated in the passage of the O'Grady-McDermott repealer and the controversy that has raged since Gov. L. L. Emmerson vetoed it.

JAMES T. BURNS.

Later the house members devoted themselves to two of the so-called Republican "coffin nail" actions, the governor's veto and the senate bill which aimed to wipe out presidential preference primaries and to abolish direct election of delegates to national conventions leaving the political committee to select hand picked delegates. The morticians conducted what was regarded as quite a swell funeral.

Referendum Plan Exposed.

Thomas J. O'Grady [Democrat, Chicago], taking the view that it would be impossible and futile to try to poll a two-thirds vote in each house to pass the prohibition repealer over the veto, moved to wipe from the calendar his motion to that purpose. Before making his motion, O'Grady in dramatic style delivered a brief obituary upon the governor's veto.

"I held my motion back," said O'Grady, "until the Supreme court handed down its decision knocking out the woman jurors act because it was adopted by public referendum and was an unconstitutional delegation of the legislative power. In his veto the governor said he would sign if the repealer had a 1932 referendum. My interpretation was that he had a good idea of the attitude the Supreme court would take on referenda in lawmaking.

"The governor was trying to lead the liberals into a trap. But we declined to be caught. Let the responsibility rest with him. Before the veto the governor had not control of this house; now he controls it, apparently because the Anti-Saloon league has put drys in line for him. This veto was in obedience to the voice of a supergovernment minority. It makes of popular government an Egyptian mummy."

Primary Change Sidetracked.

The Michel bill abolishing presidential primaries and popular election of national delegates was embalmed, so to speak, in the house elections committee during the afternoon. It passed the senate last month, and evoked loud criticism because the assembly digest made no mention of what it did to presidential primaries. It was attacked on the ground that it would enable the sending of a hand-picked Hoover delegation to the Republican convention and would freeze out of a primary vote any other candidates who may appear for the nomination.

Senator Victor P. Michel [Republican, Peoria] explained that his intention in presenting the bill was simply to shift the primaries from April to August, that the repeal feature was put in originally to obviate two primaries, that his feelings would not be injured whatever happens to the bill.

So it went to a subcommittee of which Mr. Roderick is chairman and it is regarded as dead because if the state primaries were shifted to August and presidential primaries are retained it would mean two primaries and double expense.

One bill that has been given a political makeup by the politicians, the Thon bill to abolish party circles from the ballot, was defeated in the house. The vote stood 56 yeas to 67 nays. It was 21 shy of the constitutional majority of 77. The bill has much high grade backing.

BILL TO LEGALIZE WOMEN AS JURORS IS FILED IN HOUSE

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—A bill to permit women to serve upon juries was introduced in the house of representatives today by Representative James J. McVicker [Rep.], long a Chicago jury commissioner. It is backed by the Chicago League of Women Voters.

The bill comes into the house less than a week after action by the Illinois Supreme court, which declared that passage by the legislature of a similar bill last session, because of its referendum clause, was unconstitutional. It is thought by the assemblymen that simple legislative action will be sufficient grant to insure constitutionality.

Other bills of interest included one by Representative John M. Bolton [Dem., Chicago] to raise the pay of legislators from $3,500 to $5,000 for the biennium; another, presented by Representative Sol Handy [Dem., Marshall], to cut the salaries of Circuit court judges from $8,000 to $6,000 a year, and a measure by Representative M. S. Sullivan [Dem., Chicago] to require that all preserved foods be sold in glass containers.

OPENS CAMPAIGN AGAINST STARS ON AUTOMOBILES

A campaign against the illegal display of stars on automobiles will be started today by Ald. Barnet Hodes [7th]. At the special council meeting Ald. Hodes will submit a resolution calling on Acting Police Commissioner Alcock to take action against the offenders.

"The possession of automobile stars and their display encourages the violation of traffic rules," said Ald. Hodes. "It confuses the public mind, tends to bring into disrepute official responsibility and is an unwholesome gesture of legal favoritism.

"There is no practical use for stars on automobiles except to evade the penalties for the violation of traffic regulations, and I am asking that Alcock be directed to advise all extra legal agencies issuing the stars of the illegality of their acts and to request all owners illegally displaying stars to remove them."

MILAN, Italy, May 5.—Edith Mason, American singer, arrived from Genoa tonight with her former husband, Giorgio Polacco, once director of the Chicago Opera company, and their daughter.

Miss Mason went to the home of Baroness Maria Giurana, where she will stay for several days. Both she and her former husband refused to comment on reports that they would be reconciled.

2 ARSON KILLERS SENTENCED TO 40 YEARS IN PRISON

Guilty of Murder in Death of Two Children.

Sentences of 40 years each in the penitentiary were imposed yesterday on Jacom Tatelman, 42 years old, and Harry Goldvarg, 32 years old, when they were found guilty of murdering two small children through an incendiary fire started to defraud an insurance company. Jack Rosow, 41 years old, a waiter, who was a state's witness at the trial, was sentenced to 30 years. He was given consideration for helping the prosecution.

The men conspired to set fire to Goldvarg's butcher shop at 3649 North Kedzie avenue on last Dec. 19. Too much gasoline was used and in an explosion during the fire Homer Israelson, 5 years old, and his brother, Jerome, 4 years old, were killed. They were the children of Irving Israelson, who owned a notions store adjoining the butcher shop.

New Trials Denied.

The defendants wept when Judge Joseph Sabath in the Criminal court announced his decision. Tatelman and Goldvarg pleaded not guilty, but waived a jury trial. Rosow pleaded guilty.

Motions for new trials were overruled by the judge. He allowed a sixty day stay when the defense attorneys said they would appeal to the Supreme court.

Public Defender to Appeal.

Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach, appearing for Goldvarg, said he would appeal on the ground that the crime was not murder, but arson; and because the sentence is cruel and inhuman because the defendants had no malice toward the children and did not intend to kill them.

Assistant State's Attorneys Mal Coghlan and Daniel Covelli, who prosecuted the case, had at first asked for the infliction of the death penalty. They, however, changed their attitude and asked for sentences of 100 years because the father of the children declared himself against capital punishment. The parents later said they were satisfied with the decision of Judge Sabath.

Attorney Jirka Held to Jury in $20,000 Bonds

Attorney Harold W. Jirka, 35 years old, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $20,000 by Judge Frank Padden in the Felony court on an embezzlement charge. "This man has trifled with the various courts of the city to the point of exhausting their patience and consideration," said Judge Padden when attorneys for Jirka said their client could not be in court because of illness. Jirka is charged with having obtained money from four persons for various purposes and then diverting the money.

WIFE AND BABIES PERISH IN BLAZE; HUSBAND IS HELD

"Daddy Did It," Says Surviving Child.

Greeley, Colo., May 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Myrtle Foster, 40 year old mother, and her three daughters, upon whom gasoline was first thrown and then ignited while they were asleep early today, were dead tonight.

The father and husband, James V. Foster, 48 year old salesman, was in the city jail awaiting questioning by police. Before they died Mrs. Foster and their 11 year old daughter, Mildred, accused him of throwing the gasoline on them and setting fire to the fluid with a match.

Accused by Dying Child.

"Daddy did it," Mildred told Chief of Police Roberts before she died. "He woke me up when he threw it (the gasoline) on my face. Then he went out in the kitchen and I saw him throw a match. Everything was afire and I ran through the flames to a neighbor's and hollered for help. Daddy was still there when I ran out."

Foster was arrested several miles from here. He made an immediate denial of guilt.

"So help me God," he said, "I am an innocent man. I didn't do it and I don't know anything about it." Then Foster said his wife probably had thrown the gasoline on herself and the children and set the bedroom on fire.

Also Accused by Wife.

Fire Chief Anderson said that Mrs. Foster before her death said:

"Jim threw a bucket of gasoline on us and touched a match to it. He closed the door and ran."

Foster admitted to Chief of Police Roberts that he bought two gallons of gasoline at a filling station Monday night. He said he purchased the fluid for his wife to use in cleaning.

WINDOW WASHERS END STRIKE AFTER ACTION BY MAYOR

The strike and lockout, affecting nine hundred members of the window washers' union, which has prevented the washing of office building windows for the last week, was settled yesterday after Mayor Cermak had appointed Corporation Counsel Francis X. Busch as arbitrator on the request of Dan M. Agoa, secretary of the Window Cleaning Contractors' association. All men will return to work this morning.

Union officials expressed their desire to arbitrate with the association members after Mayor Cermak had notified both the union and the association of the appointment of Mr. Busch. It was agreed that no more strikes would be called by business agents, and that all difficulties must be settled by a board composed of five working members of the union and the board of directors of the association.

The association agreed that the Advance Window Cleaning company, an association member, must pay union members $8.50 a day. Paul David, international treasurer of the union, represented the Chicago local.

BILL TO ABOLISH ASSESSORS O.K.'D BY HOUSE GROUP

Two Chicago Democrats Vote Against Act.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—The Schnackenberg bill to abolish the Cook county board of assessors and replace the five members with one assessor was reported out of a subcommittee of the house revenue group today with a favorable recommendation.

This is the measure approved by Attorney Silas H. Strawn of Chicago in a recent statement which was regarded as an expression from the bankers of Chicago.

"Unless this bill passes the legislature," Mr. Strawn said, "the bankers of the city cannot afford, as I see it, to buy any more tax anticipation warrants."

Boyle and O'Brien Oppose.

The vote in subcommittee today was three to two, the majority votes coming from Republicans, while the Democrats, Representatives James P. Boyle and Thomas J. O'Brien of Chicago, voted against it.

Prior to the meeting, Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg [Rep., Chicago] moved, on the floor of the house, that the revenue committee be discharged from further consideration of the bill. This was thought to have been caused by the Democratic opposition toward the bill in the subcommittee, aided by Representative Leo D. Crowley [Rep., Peoria], who voted with the Democrats last week for a postponement of consideration.

Schnackenberg amplified his request by stating that he believed action was slow on the bill because the Democrats were waiting for an expression from Mayor Cermak of Chicago

What Cermak Thinks.

"Well, what difference does it make what Mayor Cermak thinks?" asked Representative Thomas O'Grady [Dem., Chicago]. "Do you think that anybody over here [on the Democratic side] is going to wait until some one tells them how to vote?"

"Yes," Schnackenberg returned, "I think it will make a difference to some members on your side of the house to know what your mayor thinks."

Mr. Crowley did not appear at the meeting and the Republican votes prevailed. It is not regarded as likely that Schnackenberg will push his motion to take the bill from committee tomorrow.

Democrats Elect Mayor in Baltimore by Landslide

Baltimore, Md., May 5.—[Special.]—Returns in the mayoralty battle here today indicated that Howard N. Jackson was elected Democratic mayor of Baltimore by a majority of more than 50,000 votes over his Republican opponent, William G. Albrecht.

DEMURRER FILED BY JUDGE LYLE TO $100,000 SUIT

Municipal Judge Lyle filed in the Circuit court yesterday a general and special demurrer to the $100,000 libel suit filed against him by the former mayor during the Republican mayoralty primary campaign. He was represented by Attorneys William McKinley, George H. Meyer, and George L. Quilici.

The suit was based on a Lyle speech which in turn was based on a still pending suit to wrest from the former mayor's hands approximately $100,000 remaining in the Mississippi valley flood relief fund which was raised by public subscription four years ago.

The Lyle demurrer set up that the libel declaration failed to show that all of the relief fund was used for the purpose for which it was collected.

"Therefore," it continued, "the charge alleged by the plaintiff to have been made by the defendant against the plaintiff was justified and was fair comment upon the plaintiff's conduct in withholding said moneys so remaining."

MAY PICK JURY OFF STREET TO TRY KIRKLAND

Motion to Go to Another County Refused.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Valparaiso, Ind., May 5.—[Special.]—The desperate struggle to select a jury in the Virgil Kirkland murder trial came to climax today. Defense attorneys charged that this entire county is prejudiced against the young defendant, and asked that Judge Crumpacker send the sheriff into some other section of the state on a hunt for impartial veniremen. The court overruled this motion, but indicated that when the present panel is exhausted tomorrow the sheriff would be empowered to go into the street and pick up any citizen for jury service. With this emergency rule in effect a jury will be impaneled quickly, all agreed.

OSCAR THIEL.

The bitter feeling underlying the trial of the 20 year old youth for rape and murder of Arlene Draves was brought to the surface in a sudden dramatic explosion after several men in the jury box had expressed in emphatic terms hatred for the high school boy on trial.

Veniremen Speak Out.

"I think he's guilty and no amount of evidence can change my mind," asserted Paul Fenley over the protests of the defense lawyers.

"He was lucky to get off with life imprisonment at the first trial," burst out Edward M. O'Brien, arousing another storm of objections.

But the men in the jury box were not to be stopped by legal technicalities. "I thought and said he had a fair trial the last time," declared Lee Morrow. "He had his chance with one jury and I'm satisfied with their verdict," commented John Banky.

After a recess Attorney Oscar Thiel, representing Kirkland, stepped to the bench.

"I move to excuse the entire panel now drawn," he said. "Several of the veniremen have expressed opinions while in the box and others have heard them."

"The motion is overruled," returned Judge Crumpacker. "You should have objected when the comments were made."

"Then I make a second motion that a special venire be drawn from an adjoining county," said the lawyer. "It isn't possible to get an unprejudiced jury in this county."

The court also overruled this motion. "It is my belief that because of the widespread publicity given this case there is not much difference of opinion as to the defendant's guilt or innocence anywhere in the state," he announced. "However, when the present panel is exhausted we will take other steps. The sheriff will be ordered to go out and pick up citizens on the streets. That will remove one reason why it is difficult to get a jury, and that is that farmers are reluctant at this season of the year to serve on a jury."

At the morning session four women called for jury service revealed that Kirkland's hope for clemency in this county rests upon the feminine contingent. The women cast kindly eyes upon the youth in the defendant's chair. The state, which hopes to send Kirkland to the electric chair, excused all four. Both the prosecution and the defense by their actions have displayed a belief that women jurors would be more inclined to be sympathetic towards the Gary High School boy.

Woman Against Death Penalty.

Mrs. Mattie Conover, who had been deemed an acceptable juror by the defense, revealed that she had scruples against the death penalty.

"You couldn't send anybody to the electric chair for any kind of crime?" queried Prosecutor John Underwood.

"No," replied Mrs. Conover, hesitantly, but added quickly: "I might send some people to the chair. But not the defendant," glancing towards Kirkland.

Mrs. Martha Cowdrey was revealed as the aunt of one of the defense attorney's wives and was also excused. Mrs. Bertha Ewing, who has a son of the same age as Kirkland, and Mrs. Mabel Nixon were excused by the state.

WOMAN SHOOTS SELF AND DIES ON WAY TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. Anita B. Minker, 33 years old, was found dying with a bullet wound in her head in the bedroom of her home at 4600 North Winchester avenue early last evening. She died as she was being taken to the Ravenswood hospital.

Her husband, Albert, a salesman, told the Damen avenue police that she had shot herself. He said that he had come home soon after 5 o'clock in the afternoon and found his wife ill. He then went out to a restaurant for dinner. When he returned Mrs. Minker was lying wounded on the floor with a small caliber pistol beside her.

According to the husband, she had been despondent over illness.

EVANSTON VOTES NEW FRANCHISE FOR STREET CARS

Evanston voters in a referendum yesterday approved the granting of a new terminable franchise to the Evanston Street Car company. For the proposal there were 2,068 votes; against it, 1,886.

Under the terms of the ordinance passed by the city council the city may, by giving the car company six months' notice, purchase its properties at any time for $850,000. This ordinance becomes effective on Jan. 1, 1933, on the expiration of the present franchise.

A special election of a new 4th ward alderman to succeed Claude Welles, who resigned, resulted in the selection of W. E. Dyrenforth.

CLARA BOW IN COLLAPSE; TO REST FOR WEEKS

Hollywood, Cal., May 5.—[Special.]—Clara Bow was removed from her home to Glendale sanitarium today suffering from what doctors explained was severe shock and a nervous breakdown. Dr. Victor Parkin, Los Angeles county alienist, stated that the actress' condition was caused by shattered nerves."

There is a possibility Miss Bow's retirement from motion pictures may continue for months or years, although she still is under contract to the Paramount movie interests. Peggy Shannon has been chosen to substitute for her in the immediate future.

Miss Bow's breakdown was attributed to the Daisy De Boe trial and exposures following attacks directed at her when she stopped payment on $13,000 worth of checks written to a Nevada gambling establishment.

Her condition became worse recently and plans for resumption of her film career were stopped when a local weekly specializing in sensational articles, devoted four successive issues to attacks on Miss Bow. The editor of the weekly, Fred Girnau, is now awaiting trial on a federal charge of sending obscene matter through the mails.

BILL ASKS STATE BOARD TO CHECK ON PUBLIC FUNDS

Would Regulate Officials and Contractors.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Springfield, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—Aiming at crooked contractors and unscrupulous officials who waste public funds, Representative David I. Swanson [Rep., Chicago] today introduced a bill in the legislature to create a state bureau of expenditures with supervisory powers.

The measure, Mr. Swanson said, represents the ideas of United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson of Chicago, who has uncovered tremendous contract waste and official corruption in the income tax prosecutions he instituted in his district. It would allow a close scrutiny of the expenditures and contracts of counties, cities, school boards and other local agencies which are empowered to spend public funds.

Uniform System Set Up.

"By the terms of this act," Swanson explained, "a commission of five members to be appointed by the governor is set up whose powers and duties with respect to public contractors and local public bodies having the authority to receive and expend public funds are somewhat comparable to the control of the Illinois commerce commission over public utilities.

"The act provides that the commission shall prescribe uniform systems of accounts to be kept by all public officials receiving or expending public money, and by all public contractors and subcontractors. These accounts must show the sources of all income, the amount received from each source, and how the said moneys were expended. The accounts of expenditures must show who received the public moneys, and for what purposes, and such other information as the commission may require. Each month these accounts must be filed in a public office in the county seat of each county where taxpayers have an interest therein, and must at all times be open to public inspection and examination."

Broad Investigating Powers.

The five members of the commission and their attorney would receive $12,000 per year and would be required to devote their entire time to their duties. They would have the power to investigate any matters that come within their scope of authority, could compel the attendance of witnesses, subpoena books, accounts and pertinent documents, and bring charges against any persons who refused to comply with their orders.

Each contractor or subcontractor, by the terms of the bill, "shall have an office in one of the towns or cities of the state and shall keep in said office all such books, accounts, papers, and records as shall relate to any public work or enterprise financed either in whole or in part by the public funds of this state. Such books, accounts, papers, or records shall not be destroyed, concealed, or removed from the state except at such times and upon such conditions as may be prescribed by the commission."

The bill will be considered in the house revenue committee.

Three U. S. Grand Juries Are Now in Session Here

The May federal grand jury was sworn in yesterday by Federal Judge John P. Barnes, becoming the third federal grand jury sitting this month. A recent enactment of congress made it possible for any regular grand jury to continue its investigation of unfinished business for not more than two additional terms of one month each. The March jury is still investigating South Chicago booze conditions and the April jury is busy on income tax matters taken up last month. The new jury chose George A. Renney, 1421 North State street, as its foreman.

'ROTTEN' WARDS LOSE VOTERS BUT KEEP OLD POWER

Shifting of Population Fosters Inequalities.

Glaring inequalities in the ward populations of Chicago as a result of shifts since the present fifty-ward plan was adopted ten years ago were revealed in comparative census statistics compiled by Frederick Rex, librarian of the Municipal reference library.

Twenty of the city's rotten borough wards near the loop during the ten year period had population losses ranging up to 38.6 per cent while the thirty outlying wards rolled up the number of their inhabitants in several cases more than 100 per cent, the Rex figures showed. As a result the representation of the different wards in the city council was shown to be grossly disproportionate.

Mr. Rex compiled the statistics for Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], who is chairman of a council subcommittee appointed to draft a plan for redistricting the city. Ald. Bowler announced recently that action on such a plan would be pushed in the council in the near future.

Census Figures Are Used.

The municipal librarian based his statistics on the federal census of 1920, taken before the old thirty-five ward system was discarded and the fifty ward plan was adopted on July 22, 1921, and on the latest revised federal census report as of April 1, 1930. From these figures Mr. Rex worked out the numerical and percentage gain and loss of each ward in the intervening period.

In population the two extreme wards in the city now are the 1st, with 31,631 inhabitants, and the 39th, with 149,715. The 1st ward lost 38.6 per cent of its population in the ten years while the 39th ward gained 148.64 per cent. The practical effect of this difference is that the alderman of the 39th ward has more than four times as many constituents as the alderman of the 1st, although each wields equal strength in city affairs.

Three wards showed a loss of 25 to 50 per cent in population during the ten years, These were the 1st, 20th, and 31st wards. Five wards, 7th, 15th, 39th, 41st, and 50th, gained more than 100 per cent. Five others, 8th, 19th, 37th, 40th, and 49th, gained between 75 and 100 per cent.

41st Fastest Growing Ward.

The fastest growing ward in the city was the 41st, which added 77,301 inhabitants to its population of 124,741 in 1920, a gain of 156.35 per cent. The 41st ward is in the extreme northwest corner of the city.

A recapitulation of the ward figures by Mr. Rex showed the north and south sides of the city to be staging a neck and neck race in population growth percentages, while the west side, although still first in numbers, is lagging behind. Mr. Rex classified wards 1 to 19 as on the south side, 20 to 41 as on the west side, and 42 to 50 as on the north side. The figures follow:

| | 1930 pop. | Gain. | Pct. |
| South side | 1,334,811 | 399,384 | 28.92 |
| West side | 1,436,768 | 229,781 | 18.98 |

The Rex figures showed the average population of each ward to be 67,528 as of April 1, 1930, as compared to 54,272 when the fifty ward plan was put into effect.

GIRL, 16, IS HELD BY U. S. ON CHARGE OF SELLING LIQUOR

A 16-year-old girl, Julia Rachuna, 511 East 154th place, Phoenix, was held to the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday on charges of selling liquor. Prohibition agents testified that the girl sold them two drinks. The girl's father, John, and brother, Walter, also were held to the grand jury. The agents said the brother, who is 22 years old, threatened them.

PROF. MERRIAM DECLINES JOB OF SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Bundesen Offered Post of City Health Chief.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Prof. Charles E. Merriam will not become a member of the board of education. He gave his final answer to Mayor Cermak yesterday afternoon. He declined because of the pressure of other obligations.

He is head of the department of political science at the University of Chicago. He is vice chairman of the Hoover commission which has spent three years and about $600,000 to investigate and report upon the social trends of the nation. He has devoted much time to regional governmental plans for Chicago and has accepted a place on Mayor Cermak's advisory commission.

Prof. Merriam was not inclined to undertake further activities, and besides he feels that he can be of most service to the community on the mayor's advisory commission.

May Change Cermak Strategy.

His decision may change the strategy of Mayor Cermak to gain control of the school board, where he has repeatedly said that he believes that public funds are being wasted. The school law denies the mayor the power to remove trustees, and a majority of the present members of the board have shown no signs of resigning.

The mayor has discussed several times and seriously considered an appeal to the state legislature to oust the present trustees. The plan urged most strongly is that the general assembly create a new board with a smaller number of trustees.

Mayor Cermak has been advised that this would automatically retire all of the present trustees, and consequently he could appoint an entirely new board. Such a bill has not been prepared, but sufficient law has been investigated so that it is believed a bill could be drafted within a few days.

"The school board is going to cut expenses like all of the city departments," asserted Mr. Cermak last night. "I haven't quit. Probably my advisory commission will suggest an effective method."

Offers Health Post to Bundesen.

Mayor Cermak devoted some time yesterday to other appointments. He announced that he had offered the position of commissioner of health to Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, county coroner. The mayor said that he did not know whether Dr. Bundesen will accept. The coroner said that he desired two days or so to consider the offer.

Democratic politicians in the city hall yesterday believed that Dr. Bundesen will make a favorable reply, despite the protest of the Chicago Medical society and other medical organizations.

"The medical society has made no charges against Dr. Bundesen," said Mr. Cermak. "I sponsored him as health commissioner under Mayor Dever. As chairman of the county central committee I sponsored him for the office of coroner."

Awaits Reply from Hurley.

The mayor was expecting a formal statement from Edward N. Hurley, to whom he has offered a place on the city civil service commission. While it is reported that Mr. Hurley is inclined to accept, his final reply has not been given.

Two trustees of the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium were selected yesterday by Mayor Cermak. They are Dr. Allan J. Hruby, a specialist in tuberculosis who has had extensive experience at the sanitarium since it was established; and Dr. Frederick Tice, head of the staff of the Cook county hospital. The mayor said that Dr. Tice is recognized as one of the best medical men on lungs and heart in the country.

These two physicians with the health commissioner will compose the sanitarium board.

The public library board joined in Mayor Cermak's policy of economy. It ordered Charles E. Peace, appointed attorney for the board less than a year ago, to be dropped from the pay roll.

"There will not be any attorney appointed in his place," said Mr. Cermak. "The board has as much use for a lawyer as a wagon has for a fifth wheel."

Two appointees of other administrations were restored to their old places from which they had been ousted by a recent order. They are Julius Newman, member of the board of examining plumbers, originally appointed by Mayor Dever and held over; and William F. Crowe, member of the board of examining mason contractors. Crowe is a brother of Robert E. Crowe. It was explained that both of these appointments are temporary so that the business of the offices will not be held up.

Mayor Cermak was commended yesterday for his appointments so far by speakers at the Union League club luncheon.

"Probably the most convincing promise of improved civic conditions which Mayor Cermak has made," said Fred Sargent, president of the North Western railroad, "lies in the character of the appointments he has made. The selection of such men as Col. Sprague, Mr. Busch and Mr. Lindheimer gives unusual assurance of better things in store."

A delegation of the American Legion called on Mayor Cermak yesterday to ask the reappointment of Joseph L. de la Cour as a member of the civil service commission. He was appointed near the end of the former administration. Mayor Cermak declined to make any comment when his callers had left.

REFUSE TO RESIGN

The school board, which is dominated by trustees appointed under the old régime, ignored at its session yesterday, the demands of Mayor Cermak that the members either resign or give assurance of full cooperation with the new city administration's economy program. The trustees, however, gave indirect recognition to the mayor's demands by discussing economies in school construction through standardization of buildings and the elimination of waste space.

Carter Blatchford, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee presided. John C. Christensen, architect, and Superintendent William J. Bogan were directed to consider revision of the plans for the proposed Welles Junior High school, 936 North Austin avenue. Mr. Blatchford said that it was intended to make these plans standard for junior high schools.

Charges Exorbitant Prices.

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, trustee, charged that exorbitant prices have been paid for building materials. "One sure way of economizing," she said, "is to buy only at rockbottom price. I remember that the board paid $130 a ton for iron used in the construction of the Parker Junior high school when the market price for iron at the time was only $70 a ton. I notice, too, that the plans of the Welles Junior High school call for 6 offices and a recreation room. These should be eliminated in the interests of economy."

Other schools to be built according to the proposed standard at an early date are three junior high schools, the Dvorak, which will be located at 18th street and Keeler avenue; the Rembrandt, 93d street and Essex avenu, and the Galileo, Fullerton and Long avenues. Each would cost approximately $1,500,000 according to tentative plans now being prepared and would seat 1,500 pupils each.

Protest Appointment.

The board received a letter from Mrs. George Packard, corresponding secretary for the Woman's City club, attacking the reinstatement of Mr. Christensen recently as architect to succeed Paul Gerhardt. The letter charged him with responsibility for the construction of 32 public schools during the Dever administration which were later found faulty in structure.

Christensen said a special architect, Edgar Martin, had been retained by the board to design these schools and that he, Christensen, had had nothing to do with them until later, when one of his inspectors reported that premature repairs would have to be made. Such repairs were made in four or five schools, he said, and all of the schools are now being used.

MAYOR OUTLINES PLANS FOR MORE EFFICIENT POLICE

Cermak Is Acclaimed by Union League Club.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Mayor Cermak gave some of his views on police administration and proposed methods of making it more effective in a talk before the Union League club at a luncheon yesterday noon.

"Every good citizen desires that the 1933 World's Fair shall be worthy of Chicago," the mayor said in explaining the goal at which he is aiming.

"I do not believe there is any one thing which will contribute more to the success of that great enterprise than the creation of a conviction in the minds of our own citizens, and in the minds of people in other parts of the United States and the world, that we have rebuilt our police department and that it has become a great force, fully capable of upholding the law and protecting life and property.

Mayor Blames Politics.

"I believe the trouble with the police department has resulted largely from a lack of independent, fearless and forceful leadership. I believe there has been too much politics in the department. As long as I am mayor, politics will be kept out of the department."

The club and its guests applauded the last statement vigorously. The gathering, like that of the Association of Commerce last week, was an unusual tribute to a leader, such as the Union League club seldom bestows.

"I expect to keep a mighty close tab on the department until I am satisfied that it has the right kind of leadership, and is properly meeting the demands put upon it by this great city," Mayor Cermak continued.

Holds Chief Responsible.

"The responsibility for the conduct of the department will be placed squarely upon the commissioner of police. He will not be interfered with by me in the slightest degree, and I shall not permit him to be interfered with by any one else. I shall not hesitate to reorganize the department at any time I am convinced that he is not functioning efficiently."

For the disposal of laggards on the force the mayor said he "will appoint a civil service commission which will coöperate with the police commissioner in weeding out the inefficient portion of the department." He added: "I do not believe this element is as large as some people think it is."

Mayor Cermak listed some of the changes he has ordered in the department. One of these is an order for accurate and complete records.

"I do not know what the actual conditions relative to crime are in Chicago, and I do not believe any one else knows," he said.

Wants Public to Know Facts.

The mayor said that he had ordered the best fitted men in the department placed in charge of the bureau of criminal information and statistics, so that the public may know the facts concerning law enforcement.

The mayor has ordered experienced sergeants placed on complaint desks and all complaints fully and accurately recorded. The police school is to instruct every member of the department concerning his functions. Prosecutors, the Scientific Crime Detection laboratory of Northwestern university and the Institute of Criminology of the University of Chicago are to be asked to aid this police school. The recent police survey is to be utilized and the mayor's advisory commission will be asked to take a hand.

After the luncheon Mayor Cermak ordered Acting Police Chief Alcock to make up a list of lieutenants, captains and inspectors who have gained their rank without taking the proper examinations. The mayor wants to know how these men won their positions.

Mayor Cermak also ordered City Controller Szymczak to report how certain lawyers obtained large fees from the city.

"Some of these lawyers," said the mayor, "were employed as assistants in the corporation counsel's office at $5,000 to $7,000 a year. Then they became special assistants at $150 a day. Some of them were appointed to aid in traction matters and did no work for the compensation received."

"These should be investigated as were the lawyers on the sanitary district pay roll who did no work. I think Judge Taylor is going to have some more evidence presented to him."

JURY GETS MORE BANK ACCOUNTS OF POLICE HEADS

The special grand jury investigating police corruption spent yesterday with representatives from approximately 100 banks. The bankers produced the accounts of 41 police officials, including Acting Commissioner Alcock and Chief of Detectives John Norton. Assistant State's Attorneys Charles Lounsbury and Charles J. Mueller said that they now have most of the accounts sought by the jurors. Two more days are to be spent in calling bank officials before the jury.

It was rumored yesterday that the jurors have received the accounts of Alcock and Norton, although the prosecutors declined to comment. They said that no announcement would be made until all the accounts are in.

of coffee goodness was set when Hills Bros discovered their revolutionary method of roasting coffee...evenly...continuously

a little at a time

IN NO OTHER COFFEE BUT HILLS BROS CAN YOU BE SURE OF SUCH UNCHANGING STANDARDS OF AROMA AND FLAVOR. HILLS BROS' PATENTED PROCESS . . . CONTROLLED ROASTING . . . IS THE REASON. TRY A POUND TODAY.

IF YOU haven't opened a can of Hills Bros. Coffee and breathed that wealth of rare aroma that fills the air—if you haven't tasted a cup freshly made—don't put these experiences off any longer.

Controlled Roasting, Hills Bros.' patented, continuous process of roasting coffee a few pounds at a time, develops a matchless uniform flavor that no other coffee has. An even roast is assured by this exact process—something virtually impossible when coffee is roasted in bulk.

As fast as Hills Bros. Coffee comes from the roasters, it is ground and packed in vacuum cans. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely removed from the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh.

Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

JIMMY MEETS A MAYOR THAT OUTDRESSES HIM

Walker Greets Liverpool's Robed Visitor.

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—[Special.]—The lord mayor of Liverpool, bearing gifts, called on Mayor James J. Walker at city hall today in full mayoral regalia. It was a colorful occasion. The visitor from the banks of the River Mersey wore three colored robes, a feathered hat and a heavy gold chain encircled his neck. A jewel of some kind or other smothered his necktie. Jimmy's lustre was considerably dimmed.

The crowded aldermanic chamber applauded the Right Hon. Edwin Thompson vigorously, but some of the bangers-on used their hands to cover grins when Jimmy faced his robed visitor. The lord mayor towered over New York's mayor just as Walker had dwarfed the king of Siam when they posed together yesterday.

Elaborately Attended.

Lord Mayor Thompson, who for some reason is also called alderman, was accompanied by his official mace bearer, his be-wigged city clerk and the lady mayoress, his wife. The party rode downtown in an open car and excited considerable attention as they drew up at city hall.

The visiting mayor, after the scroll reading was over, presented the city with two pieces of the famous Davenport china from Liverpool's city hall, where it has graced the board on public occasions since 1828. Then the lord mayor reached under his robes and fished out a leather case containing a gold medal struck in honor of the occasion. He presented it to Mayor Walker, remarking, "I wanted you to remember our visit."

"Distinguished visitors come from all over the world bringing us their—best regards. It remains for a mayor to be more generous than potentates," replied Mayor Walker, who took occasion to gibe at his political enemies.

Walker Hits at Home Enemies.

"I suppose," he said, "there are persons in Liverpool, even, so busy they have nothing else to do but find fault with the mayor. Don't be misguided by the importance of the mayor of New York City. There are only three times when he is the whole show. One is in the political campaign when his name heads the ticket. The second is when he receives distinguished guests, and the third occasion is when there is some political investigation. As a matter of fact, under the charter the mayor is only three-sixteenths of the government."

"You say you are only three-sixteenths of the government," snapped the visitor. "Well, the lord mayor is not even a vulgar fraction—he is a mere figurehead."

FIGURES REVEAL HAVOC CAUSED BY GANDHI BOYCOTT

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SIMLA, India, May 5.—The havoc wrought to the British cotton trade by Mahatma Gandhi's boycott movement during the last year was accurately revealed today in figures published by the Bombay Mill Owners' association.

The figures disclosed that Lancashire is being rapidly driven out of the Indian market, and that Japan alone of foreign countries is replacing Great Britain as the leading furnisher of cotton goods in India.

From supplying 500,000 yards of cotton and artificial silk in 1927, Japan furnished 23,000,000 yards, or 61 per cent of the total quantity imported from all countries in 1930.

British Exports Drop.

In 1928 India imported 124,000,000 yards of plain gray cotton goods from England; in 1929 she imported 90,000,000 yards, and last year 40,000,000 yards. Japan, on the other hand, sent 325,000,000 yards of this commodity in 1929. Her exports dwindled last year, however, to 210,000,000 yards, due to the boycott of foreign cloth. British gray long cloths and shirtings were almost entirely displaced by the Japanese, Lancashire furnishing but 10,000,000 yards last year, as compared to 200,000,000 yards from Japan.

In bordered gray cotton goods British exports to India fell off from 400,000,000 yards in 1929 to 250,000,000 yards last year, while the Japanese bettered their trade from 15,000,000 yards in 1929 to 250,000,000 yards in 1930.

The same story is told in every branch of the cotton trade and shows how most of Lancashire's woes are directly caused by the Indian boycott.

In bleached materials Great Britain's exports to India fell off 141,000,000 yards last year, while the Japanese increased their exports by 17,000,000 yards. In printed cotton goods England's trade with India fell from 188,000,000 yards in 1928 to 139,000,000 in 1929 and to 120,000,000 last year.

In dyed goods British exports to India fell from 127,000,000 yards in 1929 to 76,000,000 yards last year. In the same materials Japan's exports increased from 21,000,000 yards in 1928 to 25,000,000 yards in 1929 and 27,000,000 yards last year.

British Register Protest.

MANCHESTER, England, May 5.—(AP)—Normal business on the royal cotton exchange was interrupted today while nearly 2,000 members unanimously adopted a resolution protesting the Indian boycott on Lancashire goods and the recent increase in import duty.

This unusual method of demonstration on the floor of the exchange, where expressions on public questions usually are not sanctioned, was suggested by the cotton spinners and manufacturers' organizations, in view of what is considered the extreme gravity and urgency of the situation. The vote was taken by a show of hands and the result caused much applause.

HIGH COURT KILLS 100 MILLION ROAD BONDS FOR IOWA

Des Moines, Ia., May 5.—(AP)—The Iowa Supreme court today ruled that the proposed constitutional amendment to permit issuance of 100 millions in primary road bonds, is invalid.

The court today held that the amendment contains more than one proposition, contrary to the section of the constitution which provides that the voters shall have an opportunity to pass separately on each subject in an amendment.

Mercolized Wax Beautifies Faded Complexions

Whether your beauty problem is freckles, tan, sallowness or a blotchy complexion you'll find the solution in pure Mercolized Wax. When applied to the skin at night like an ordinary cold cream, Mercolized Wax sinks into the pores and gently lifts off the surface skin in tiny particles. Such blemishes as oiliness, flaky skin or freckles are completely cleared away. The young, beautiful under skin which has been covered is then revealed. It is smooth, soft, white and glowing with health. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty. Powdered Saxolite removes wrinkles and other age lines. Just dissolve 1 ounce in 1 half pint witch hazel and use daily as an astringent.

OLDSMOBILE WINS 3RD PLACE AMONG ALL CARS in Chicago

In April, and for the second consecutive month this year, Chicago and Cook County motorists have awarded Oldsmobile third preference among all cars.

The real significance of this fact can be appreciated when you consider that the only cars to outsell Oldsmobile were those two in the very lowest price class.

Oldsmobile, then, stands as first choice of Chicago and Cook County motorists among all cars in its own price field.

The reasons for this steadily increasing preference for Oldsmobile are based on several important facts. The first of these is increasing public appreciation for Oldsmobile's many good qualities. Further, a growing body of enthusiastic owners is adding more and more to the widespread conviction that Oldsmobile is a truly remarkable value as well as a fine, dependable motor car.

SETTING A NEW FOUR-WAY SALES RECORD...

1. A 47% advance over Oldsmobile sales for the previous month.
2. A 53% advance over Oldsmobile sales for April of last year.
3. A 10% advance over Oldsmobile sales for April of 1929.
4. The largest number of April sales that Oldsmobile has ever registered in Cook County.

But another and equally important reason for Oldsmobile's steady advance in public favor is found in the policies which Oldsmobile has adopted in its relations with the public.

These policies are best expressed in the four great responsibilities which Oldsmobile recognizes toward every owner . . . to design progressively . . . to build faithfully . . . to sell honestly . . . and to service sincerely.

These four responsibilities are the foundation upon which Oldsmobile has built its success. And these are the policies which the motorists of Chicago and Cook County have so heartily endorsed in their steadily increasing preference for the 1931 Oldsmobile Six.

GIRLS IN RUSSIA EAGER TO "WED" FOREIGN VISITORS

Cives Them a Chance to Get Out of Country.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MOSCOW, April 16.—[By Mail.]—It's always leap year in Russia. Girls propose offhand if they feel like teaming up, and particularly to foreigners.

They are under no illusions as to the status of the soviet law on marriage abroad, and are indifferent as to whether the prospective bridegroom already has a wife at home.

Marriage to a foreigner, especially if they live together for six months in Russia, entitles the bride to apply for a passport stating she is wed to a person living abroad, and to ask a visa permitting her to leave the country with him.

A Matter of Convenience.

"Let's get married," the girl suggests. "It won't make any difference. We can live separately and it won't cost you anything. I'll keep on working. Then when you leave you can take me out with you, and then, once across the frontier, au revoir."

Most of these girls want to go to America, some to England or Germany, some to Italy or Switzerland, but they all wish to go via Paris.

"I want to visit the shops in Paris and see the gowns and dresses and coats and hats, and buy some real silk stockings, and some fancy slippers like I see foreign women wearing at the Grand hotel Saturday night dances," they explain. "Maybe after Paris I would like to go to the United States and work there, or maybe London, or maybe just remain in France."

"Just a Russian Wife."

There's something pathetic when one talks to some of these dark eyed Muscovite gals.

"I'm just a Russian wife, you know. That doesn't really count," they say. "My man's real wife lives in Chicago [or maybe Berlin], but that doesn't matter. I am going as far as Warsaw with him when he goes out and from there I will go to America to get a job."

These Russian wives hold an enviable position in Moscow. Often they live in a hotel with their "husband." Generally they are an economic asset, too, acting as interpreter.

They take the food book which the government gives to a special store to all foreigners, and there they can get the coveted butter, milk and cream, caviar, white flour, fruit, candy and cakes, canned stuff, meat and poultry for themselves and their families and their friends, if they are discreet.

Also Able to Buy Clothes.

The book is good to trade in the general store in Kuznezky Most, where they can buy dresses and manteaux and hats and perfume and face powder and wood fiber silk stockings and beige colored slippers and overshoes and gloves.

In many of these Russian marriages the couples live separately because the husband, particularly if he is a foreigner, has a single room, with a little narrow bed, in the hotel, and beside he is away, out in the country "on location," as they call it, working at the various enterprises for which the government imports experts and engineers.

In such cases the wife maintains her room, or "corner," or whatever she occupied before they went to the marriage bureau and for one dollar got a stamped paper saying they were one.

Divorce Costs $12.50.

Divorce now costs $12.50 and there is frequently a delay of a month or six weeks in granting decrees, because of the slow moving, devious ways of the bureaucracy.

Often brides tell no one, except their intimate girl friends, when they marry foreigners. They don't like to be kidded about the worthlessness of the bond. They prefer to go on hoping that when their husbands go out they will really take them along as they promised.

"Yes, I would come back to Russia some day, if I got a visa and went abroad," they say.

Nearly all of them have some primal urge way down deep, a sincere affection for their country. Anyway, they think they have it, and since they have never been across the border they can't be sure.

Many Do Return.

It is a curious fact that every year, every month, there are Russian emigres, exiles, political offenders, men active in the "white" schemes for upsetting the existing régime, who just can't remain away. They come back to be arrested and perhaps shot or sent to prison for long stretches.

In purely Russian circles girls often do the proposing, too. They don't feel any restraint or delicacy about the matter because they go on working, supporting themselves after marriage, exactly as they did before. So it's no financial burden on the selected man. Often it's economical, as usually they get a home, a room, for less rent than they paid for their combined respective lodgings before they were wed.

ORDER OVERTIME WORK TO SPEED TAX ASSESSMENT

In order to speed the 1930 assessment in Cook county the board of assessors yesterday ordered its 300 employés to work three hours overtime each day until further notice. The employés will not be paid for their extra work, the assessors said, and the new schedule will continue until there is assurance that the work will be completed by July 1.

This order follows the publication of a report prepared by J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency expert, who charged that inefficiency in the assessors' office had delayed the assessment work two months. The assessors denied the charge, but Harry S. Cutmore, director of appraisals, upheld Jacobs' findings.

With the delinquency date for the payment of 1929 taxes only ten days away County Treasurer McDonough was making preparations for the last minute rush by taxpayers. After May 15 a penalty of 1 per cent of the bill will be levied for each month that the bill remains unpaid.

More than $50,000,000, or about 20 per cent of the total 1929 tax extension of $250,000,000, had been collected up to last night. The collection so far has been normal, McDonough said.

Family of Six Killed by Fumes from Gas Heater

MONTREAL, May 5.—(AP)—Hector Hayeur, his wife, Delia, and their four children, were killed today by fumes from a gas heater to a washing machine in their flat.

POISONER OF HER FOUR HUSBANDS ESCAPES PRISON

Hunt Paroled Convict as Accomplice.

Boise, Idaho, May 5.—(AP)—Lydia Southard, woman "Bluebeard" alleged to have poisoned four husbands and another male relative to collect their insurance, was sought through the west tonight following her escape from the Idaho prison here.

Officials said it was evident the woman had been aided by an accomplice in her break for liberty and instituted a search for David Minton, recently paroled convict.

Warden R. E. Thomas expressed the opinion that Mrs. Southard was fleeing toward Spokane, Wash., with Minton in an automobile. The machine was seen near the prison last night about the time the woman scaled the wall of the women's section with a ladder constructed of pipe and a rope fashioned of strips of blanket and a piece of garden hose.

Warden Thomas said it was discovered the ladder had been buried in the ground within the walls for several weeks and perhaps several months. A bar to Mrs. Southard's cell was pried loose. This, Warden Thomas declared, required outside assistance.

The woman, who is 39 years old, was sentenced to ten years to life imprisonment from Twin Falls in 1921 for murder of her fourth husband. Her fifth husband, still living, is Paul V. Southard, who contended throughout her trial that she was innocent.

The state contended each of the killings, all alleged to have been caused by poison, was motivated by the woman's desire to collect insurance money.

WEALTHY BRITISH FLYER KILLED IN AFRICAN CRASH

Companion Also Dies as Plane Falls in Gale.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, May 5.—Commander Glen Kidston, millionaire British airman, who recently made a record flight from London to Cape Town, was killed in the province of Natal today. Capt. T. A. Gladstone, pioneer British flyer and a passenger in the plane, was also killed.

Commander Kidston had been negotiating to purchase the rights of the Union Airways, which have been carrying the mail services in South Africa for the last twelve months. He borrowed a small Moth machine in Johannesburg and hopped off to tour the Union of South Africa. He left Johannesburg at 10:35 o'clock this morning for Pietermaritzburg. This afternoon a message from Vanreenen, Natal, 100 miles from Pietermaritzburg, said that a storekeeper saw an airplane crash in the mountainous country during a gale. The storekeeper rushed to the spot and found the two occupants of the wrecked plane dead.

Schneider Racer Crashes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 5.—Great Britain's air speed ace, Flight Lieutenant H. R. D. Waghorn, winner of the Schneider trophy contest in 1929, narrowly escaped death today during tests of a new type of bomber over the Farnborough airdrome.

After looping the loop three times, Lieut. Waghorn lost control of the machine at an altitude of 2,000 feet. Was about 300 feet from the ground Waghorn and his observer, E. R. Alexander, leaped with parachutes. The parachutes failed to open completely and both aviators fell among the workshops of the royal aircraft establishment. The bomber crashed to destruction a few yards from a bomb and gasoline dump.

Flight Lieutenant Waghorn was injured about the thighs, legs, and head, necessitating an operation tonight. Alexander received only a leg injury.

ROCK ISLAND OPENS PORT TO WORLD TRADE

New $360,000 Terminal Is Dedicated.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rock Island, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—From the watch tower where Black Hawk used to sit and smoke his pipe, "and look with wonder and pleasure at the grand scenes that were presented by the sunset rays across the mighty water," a squat 2,000 ton barge began unloading freight rom Dubuque at the new river and water terminal of Rock Island today.

JOHN A. ALLEN.

It is the first of the mighty chain of inland water and rail terminals to be in operation in Illinois, and it marks the actual beginning of the effort of the people of the middle west, aided by the federal government, to bring back the Mississippi valley to an economic parity with the east and west coasts.

It is heralded as the beginning of a new era of manufacturing along the central waterways, a revival of industry which cannot help but benefit the whole people, including the railroad ipterests which are fighting the culmination of the waterway program.

Dedicate New Terminal.

It was waterway day in Rock Island and delegations were here from up and down the Mississippi valley to help dedicate the new terminal which was built by the city at a cost of $360,000, and is now open for business. Freight from the tropics is going to the middle west from here and machinery from Chicago is outbound for the Pacific coast from here.

The new terminal is expected to benefit the country for several hundred miles around Rock Island, according to Mayor Chester Thompson, who was toastmaster at a luncheon to 300 guests which preceded the parade to the terminal and the dedication.

He presented the delegates from the Mississippi Valley association, including Sedman Halleck of Clinton, Ia., known as the Nestor of the waterway movement in these parts.

R. P. Warner of St. Paul; Patrick Higgins, general manager of the Inland Waterways corporation; Congressman John A. Allen of Monmouth, and Congressman William E. Hull of Peoria were among the guests.

Congressman Hull invited the delegates to come to Peoria in June, when their own new terminal is to be opened for business.

Hull Unfolds New Plan.

Mr. Hull unfolded another plan of waterway development which he has in mind. That is the deepening, widening, and lock fixing in the old Hennepin canal, which connects the Mississippi with the Illinois and Rock rivers. It comes in two miles south of here, but is now unused for freight. It winds across a lovely country, a clean, open path of water, and it cost the government $11,000,000 to build. The river barges are too big to go through it and the bridges are fixed.

In five years, Mr. Hull said, barge traffic would be in operation from points in Texas, Alabama, Louisiana, up the Ohio and Tennessee, to Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Paul, through the Illinois river to Chicago and on east to New York. The Chicago link will be completed in two years.

Maj. Gen. Ashburn Speaker.

Maj. Gen. Thomas Q. Ashburn, chairman of the corporation of the Inland Waterways corporation, which has leased the Rock Island terminal from the city and has already begun to carry freight out of the new world port, was the chief speaker at the luncheon. Carl Baer of St. Louis, vice president of the Mississippi Barge Service, a private corporation, spoke at the terminal dedication.

Mr. Ashburn said that in building this fine new terminal the people of Rock Island had done something from which the whole country would benefit.

and other rough fabrics

$35 up

(every suit has 4 pieces)

What the 4-piece, all-purpose suit means—

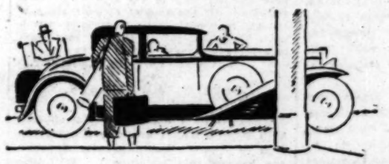
On hurried train trips, when clothing must be confined to the tiny capacity of a pullman berth, rough fabrics are practically wrinkleless and appear well after an all-night ride.

The golfer takes the knickers of this all-purpose suit out for its Saturday afternoon and Sunday game. Generously cut, and well-styled.

For motoring . . . the knickers come in handy and show but little signs of travel after a hard day in the car.

Street wear . . . and a sudden shower effect this rough type of suit not at all. Moisture resistant, yet not excessively heavy in weight, it is the ideal service suit.



Week-ending in the three pieces and the knickers compactly packed away in the suitcase—only to emerge on the other end none the worse for their confinement.

For office wear—the long trousers with the coat and vest make a smart business outfit. The colors are conservative enough for everyday wear—the models are not too "sporty".

Here, in our sports apparel section, you can now find an interesting, new collection composed entirely of all-purpose suits tailored of tweeds, shetlands and similar rough fabrics so important to the wardrobe of the man who must be out "on the street" all day and yet must look well as he goes from one office to another.

Salesmen, contact men, advertising executives, publishers' representatives, architects, engineers . . . the classifications are endless . . . but these are the men who know and appreciate the all-purpose service given by rough fabric suits.

And this wide assortment of four-piece suits that we have assembled for your selection in one convenient grouping offers values that you'll agree are among the finest you've ever seen. Four pieces . . . knickers, vest, coat, long trousers . . . priced from $35 up are indeed clothing values of importance.

THE MAYOR AND THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Mayor Cermak feels that he has a right to a freer hand in the school administration. The board of education has a history of misbehavior which does not taint all the trustees alike, but it should be the new mayor's privilege to be rid of the persons he holds responsible for incompetence or misconduct. Much of the school administration has been discreditable and the old régime lacks the confidence of the understanding public.

The mayor says that the election was authority for a change in methods and personnel, but as things stand he is charged with responsibility without power to act. Propriety and respect for public opinion would compel the trustees to resign. It may not be a sound general rule that the school board should follow the consequences of an election of mayor, but the present situation is exceptional. The recent election was intended to be a purge. One was needed. Poison was throughout the municipal system.

It ought not to be necessary to ask the legislature for a bill to permit an increase or a reduction in the number of trustees in order to correct the state of affairs. The members of the board could correct it by resigning. Some might be reappointed, as they would deserve to be, but the mayor's responsibility then would be real as it is now theoretical.

The school management of recent years has been characterized by grotesque political conduct which was the notorious indication of derangement of the city's educational system. The worthy and able men and women in the teaching staff and administration had above them this wasteful mockery of a school institution.

The mayor may be assured that the people interested in the school support him in his demand for authority with responsibility.

ARMAMENT AND THE UNITED STATES.

The President's remarks upon the huge expenditure of European nations upon armament justify a footnote worth attention from the American people. It may be supplied from a recent analysis by the Navy league of our naval status.

First in interest is the fact that our navy is 13.7 per cent below the strength permitted us under the treaty of limitation with Great Britain and Japan. The British navy is 1.3 per cent below, the Japanese about 0.8 per cent.

In other terms, our navy is 154,000 tons below treaty strength, the British 21,000 tons, the Japanese a negligible amount.

This would seem to give a certain moral weight to the President's advice to Europe to consider more seriously the factor of armament expenditure in its housekeeping difficulties. But he could go even farther. We are not only now far below treaty strength, but the present plans of our government indicate plainly that it proposes to wait as long as possible for the other powers to consent to further reductions. In other words, although we must build about 334,000 tons before the time of the next naval conference, 1936, our present program calls for the building of only 51,700 tons, or less than 16 per cent of the total required before 1936. This leaves 84 per cent to be provided for in the fiscal years of 1933 and 1934 or thereafter.

In other words, the United States under its present government is giving a unique example of restraint in naval building and armament expenditure, such an example as our pacifists and internationalists are vehemently urging upon us with the assurance that it will be followed by the world. For six years we have been carrying on this noble experiment, and its influence, if any, has been the reverse of pacifist prediction. Some day we will realize, perhaps, that the United States at a minimum of its strength is at a minimum of its influence, that a strong United States is the strongest factor in world peace, that Theodore Roosevelt was counseling wisdom when he said: "Speak softly and carry a big stick."

AMNESTY UNDER VOLSTEAD.

Generally throughout the United States one problem of law enforcement is finding room for convicts. This is true of the federal government and of the states as well. The Washington government has not been able to build fast enough to take care properly of more than a fraction of the persons convicted in the federal courts. Sanford Bates, director of the bureau of prisons, has reported to President Hoover that there is "very bad overcrowding" made worse by the "more vigorous enforcement of law."

The federal reports usually refrain from indicating how many of the convictions are for violation of prohibition, but the percentage is estimated at about one-half. The department of justice estimate is that two-thirds of the federal prisoners who have been farmed out to county jails for lack of room in federal prisons are Volstead act offenders.

These offenders are in a very true sense political prisoners. The act under which they have been convicted is not morally supported by the people generally. In many of the greatest states it is the law of a minority successfully imposed on a majority. It is not a law arising from the conscience and usage of the people, but one contrary to their ideas of propriety and their doctrines of government. Such law always has produced nonconformity. Enforcement is political. Conviction does not imply moral turpitude. It indicates personal misfortune. For every conviction and imprisonment there are a thousand violations which escape punishment although fully liable to it.

Evidently the government cannot build rapidly enough to keep up with the courts, but the government can recognize a procedure common to the treatment of political offenses. When it is embarrassed by the success of its prosecutions and the numbers of its convicts it can grant amnesty to persons already behind the bars. It will have to let some out before it can get more in, and in a spirit of regal good will it might celebrate some one's birthday anniversary by extending a general pardon. Then it could fill the prisons again.

A PRECEDENT FOR CHICAGO.

The decision of the United States Supreme court in the New York water diversion case is of first importance for Chicago.

New York City's growing population long ago exhausted the fresh water supplies near the city. New York has been obliged to extend its aqueducts farther and farther into the back country. Latterly it has sought the right to take water from streams in New York state which flow into the Delaware river. This move was opposed by New Jersey on the ground that its rights would be invaded. The Supreme court referred the case to a special master, who did not grant New York all the 600,000,000 cubic feet a day it claimed, but laid down the rule that New York could draw on the Delaware watershed provided the amount taken did not seriously interfere with navigation on the Delaware. New York, he said, may draw 440,000,000 cubic feet a day from the Delaware tributaries unless the Delaware gets too low, when impounded water must be released. This view the Supreme court has now upheld.

The significance of this decision for Chicago lies in its bearing on the question of the diversion from Lake Michigan into the Mississippi. When the court decided against Chicago it did not pass on the point raised by Chicago's adversaries that under no circumstances could water be withdrawn from one major watershed into another. The court has now faced that question and its decision is in terms so definite as to admit of no doubt. As Justice Holmes put it:

"New York has the physical power to cut off all the water within its jurisdiction. But clearly the exercise of such power to the destruction of the interest of lower states could not be tolerated. And, on the other hand, equally little could New Jersey be permitted to require New York to give up its power altogether in order that the river might come down to it undiminished. Both states have real and substantial interests in the river that must be reconciled as best they may be."

The formula for reconciliation is the preservation of all essential rights: That of New York to quench its thirst and that of New Jersey to float its ships. A similar finding with respect to the great lakes would preserve to Cleveland and all other lake cities an adequate depth for shipping; to Chicago the proper dilution of its sewage for the preservation of its health, and to Illinois and the states below it on the Mississippi an adequate barge channel. It is entirely possible to achieve all these results without injury to any one. Engineers, including President Hoover, have stated in most positive terms that control works at the straits will maintain lake depths at any desired point regardless of the effect, if any, of the withdrawals at Chicago.

The finding in favor of New York invites an eventual reopening of the lake case. The lakes-to-gulf waterway is now under federal control. It is a recognized channel of interstate commerce. As such it cannot function without enough water. The ultimate reduction of the diversion ordered in the decree will not suffice to float barges. Perhaps the authorization for additional water can be had from the secretary of war. Perhaps it will be necessary to turn to the Supreme court. If so, the New York case will provide a valuable precedent.

In the previous litigation the case for Chicago, Illinois and the Mississippi valley was needlessly compromised by the known and unenviable character of the sanitary board. Meanwhile the board has undergone a considerable improvement. It is of the utmost importance to the voters and taxpayers of Chicago that the improvement be at least maintained. If the moment comes to ask a modification of the decree the spokesmen for Chicago must be of a character calculated to impress the war department or the court with their integrity.

PATRIOTS WHO CRITICIZED.

[Decatur Herald.]

Explaining the action of the Daughters of the American Revolution in censoring the speech of Congressman Hamilton Fish—an extraordinary thing, for Mr. Fish himself is one of the most zealous patrioteers and witch hunters of these times—Mrs. Grace H. Brosseau, former president, said, "We have but one policy, and that is, not to criticize the government."

This is a statement of the sort that draws automatic, unthinking applause from most audiences. But what would Mrs. Brosseau say, and what would her applauding audiences say to this statement:

"Government is not reason, it is not eloquence, it is force! Like fire, it is a dangerous servant and a fearful master; never for a moment should it be left to irresponsible action."

That is to say, government should be jealously watched by citizens who prize their liberty, and subjected to effective criticism when it goes wrong. Such was the considered opinion of that eminently respectable American revolutionary, George Washington, who wrote the words just quoted.

And what would the same uncritical patriots say of this statement, written about the constitution of the United States:

"I confess there are things in it that stagger all my dispositions to subscribe to what such an assembly has proposed. The house of federal representatives will not be adequate to the management of affairs, either foreign or federal. Their President seems a bad edition of a Polish king."

This was said by Thomas Jefferson, another American presumed to have some claims to the title of patriot, but one never under the illusion that governments could be left without criticism.

DANCING EYES.

TRAIN dispatchers have developed a new disease and, in order that their rights shall be preserved, they have supplied the name as well as the disease. Train dispatcher's nystagmus is a disorder of the eyeball muscles. The soubrettes of another day had a song about making "goo goo" eyes, or something like that. The dictionary definition of "goo goo" eyes is not exactly satisfactory, but, as well as we can judge, the train dispatchers' malady comes as near being "goo goo" eyes as is possible for train dispatchers. In nystagmus the eyes move something like the tremble in paralysis agitans, or palsy.

There are six muscles which move the eyeballs in different directions. If these are working perfectly the eyeballs are held steadily in the direction of vision. If the muscles are out of balance an eyeball may "cross" or turn outward or up and down. In nystagmus there is a certain, almost constant jerking movement of the eyeballs. The best known form is miner's nystagmus. This develops in miners, and especially in coal miners, as the result of working in cramped positions and by poor, flickering light, long hours through long years.

Train dispatchers have charge of the movement of trains. They handle about two messages a minute to and from trains. A conductor reports where his train is, the dispatcher receives the report, decides what the train is to do, gives his order to the conductor, and enters the information on the work sheet which lies before him, all within thirty seconds. The sheet is ruled into small squares. He must be constantly moving this sheet, finding the appropriate squares and making entries. His eyeball muscles get tired. In the course of time they develop the eye dance that is known as train dispatcher's nystagmus.

Dr. C. P. McCord, who conducted an investigation, found that about two-thirds of train dispatchers on heavy "tricks" have it. Unlike miner's nystagmus, the eyes roll only to the sides. They never dance up and down or on a slant. Again, unlike miner's nystagmus, the condition is liable to develop after a year or two of hard work. The disorder in miners comes only after some twenty years of labor. Still unlike miner's nystagmus, this trouble is not very grave. A reasonably good rest should cure a given case.

Train dispatchers are also somewhat deaf in the left ear, as a rule. This results from the noisy conditions under which they work, aided somewhat by the steady wearing of an ear piece. However, no relation between the ear trouble and the eye disorder has been proved.

NEW ONE POSSIBLE.

D. F. W. writes:

A year ago I had my gall bladder removed and also a stone taken from the common duct. I am now suffering from pains similar to those I had before operation and am informed by doctors that another stone has probably formed in the duct. Is this possible after such a short time? If so, is there any remedy other than another operation?

REPLY.

An old stone may have moved into this location from one where it caused no symptoms, or a new stone may have formed.

WHICHEVER YOU LIKE.

Mrs. J. A. S. writes: Will you state the relative values of a glass of orangeade, lemonade and grape fruitade as a morning drink?

REPLY.

If of equal strength they will be practically of equal values.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

HOW MUCH DID YOU LOAN?

Chicago, April 16.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A man who was a resident of Chicago had an office here and represented an out of town firm. I loaned him some money and for security he gave me a bill of sale for the office furniture which he claimed was his. He signed all checks and papers used in the business with the firm's name on top and his underneath. He has since left and the firm put another man in his place. He owed about $500 and the firm paid all of the bills, including a bill at a loop store for clothes, etc. Must I sue this firm and try to get a judgment or can I go up and take this furniture on my bill of sale? Is this firm responsible for the money I loaned on the furniture? This man claimed to be an equal partner in the business.

J. K.

Much would depend upon the nature of the partnership business and the facts going to show the authority of the man with whom you dealt. If the amount of your claim is enough to make court proceedings worth while we advise you to go over your facts in a personal interview with a lawyer.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SUPPLY THE NUMBER.

Chicago, April 16.—[Friend of the People.]—I have applied for my citizenship papers which are due around the 15th of June. Would greatly appreciate having this by July 1. Will pay for any extra charges. E. H.

SURVIVING PARTY TAKES.

Chicago, April 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In the case of a married couple, both having been married before, and both parties without children, and having property—one consisting of real estate and the other of bonds and mortgages—in the event of the death of either party, what disposition would be made of the estate of the deceased, according to the Wisconsin laws? S. A. D.

Either estate would go to the survivor.

APPLY FOR NATURALIZATION.

Chicago, April 20.—[Friend of the People.]—I was born in America and married a foreign born in 1915. Am I a citizen? If not, must I apply for papers? T. C.

By the marriage of 1915 the wife assumed the citizenship status of her husband. If she desires to become a citizen she must apply for naturalization.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

IT COULD BE SPEEDED UP A BIT.

Nevada changed its divorce laws so that only six weeks would be necessary in which to establish a residence and apply for a decree. Now the line forms to the right in Reno and a decree of divorce is granted at the rate of one a minute. But the crush is so great that quick as the Nevada courts are they are still too slow for demand. What to do?

Why not have a divorce go with one of those throwing machines where you hurl balls at a lot of dolls standing at the far end? Can't you hear the barker bawling, "Step up, ladies and gents, three balls fer a dime, an' every time you knock over a doll yuh git a deevorce!" That would provide entertainment and at the same time grant a decree in short order. The trouble would be that the gals are rotten throwers. Some of them would stand there and pitch balls at the dolls for days at a time and never come within a mile of getting a divorce. So the gals might cut the cards with the judge. Anything better than a ten spot would give them a decree while they'd have to pay two bits for all the other cards that turned up.

Of course, the church grab bag thing would be good, and with plenty of grab bags around one thirsting for a divorce would not have to take many chances before he got hold of a bag containing a decree. Or to add a touch of boisterous mirth to the divorce business a certificate of divorce might be folded neatly and put in an apple. Then the apple could be mixed with a lot of others and thrown into a tub of water and the applicants for divorce could kneel around the tub and bob their heads into the water trying to seize the lucky apple in their teeth. This would cause great shrieks of joy from all and make the dreary business of getting a divorce a source of good, clean fun.

A divorce lottery could be run in Reno every day that would bring in quite a lot of money to the state and enable some of the applicants to have a divorce right away. There could be five winning numbers out of a thousand, for instance, and the winning numbers, of course, would entitle their holders to an immediate divorce. Anyhow, something could be done. Why, the very idea of having to wait six long weeks for a divorce! In this speed-mad age six weeks is an eternity. Hurry up, Nevada, and make it snappy!

HOMESICKNESS.

Sadder than the falling

Is the thought of pleasures
Too long unknown;

Sharper than the anguish
Of a dying face

DOROTHY KISSLING.

AND COUNT FELIX VON LUCKNER, the German Terror of the Seas, was arrested in Dallas, Tex., because he refused to tell a nosy policeman why he was out so late at night. Somebody must have told the count that this was the land of liberty. Oh, count, as they used to say long ago, "You don't know the half of it, dearie; you don't know the half!"

THE SECOND LOOT AGAIN.

And speaking of Second Loots, as we were yesterday, we don't want to forget the story we heard in France. If you are one of the sort that kicked the end out of your cradle the first time you heard this story take a jump right now and don't read any more. Anyhow, some man was interviewing soldiers after the late guerre asking them what they were going to do after they were demobilized. He approached a crowd of colored soldiers and put the question to them. One of them spoke up and said: "You wanta know what's the fust thing Ah'm a gwine ter do after Ah gits out o' dis man's army?" "That's the idea," said the man; "what's the first thing you're going to do when you're no longer a soldier but a civilian again?"

"The very fust thing?" asked the colored soldier. "Yes, the very first thing?" "Well, suh, de very fust thing Ah'm a gwine ter do when Ah gits outten this yere army is tuh walk right up to de secund lootenant o' dis company an' bash his daim haid off." A big burly colored sergeant who was standing nearby overheard the remark and he spoke up quickly and said: "No, yo' hain't, buddy; no, yo' hain't. Yo' is jest a gwine to fall in line and wait yo' turn."

ANSWER TO EOLUS.

"Survival of the most unfit."
And who are you to speak of right
Or wrong, of good or bad, to sit
In judgment of those men whose might

Arose to life and conquered it
And broke the selfish empire wrought
And crushing slavery—the fit
Are those who fight, and fighting win

SOL GERSTEL.

UNCLE ANDY MELLON has gone and done it again. Now we know. He says the solution to the present economic distress will be found in individual initiative. Three cheers for Uncle Andy! Another Solomon come to judgment. (No, Laura, we haven't the least idea what individual initiative has to do with the present economic distress or how it's going to solve it. But that does not take away from the fact that Uncle Andy has told us just how to reach out and grab old prosperity by the hind legs and yank it from behind that corner.)

Lagniappe.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN has started in France. Why the French have a president nobody knows. All they seem to do with him is to have him stand out on a flag draped balcony on Bastille Day every 14th of July and say, "Vive la Republique!" But, mon Dieu! Did he ever forget to say those words most memorable! Aux barricades! Aux armes! Aux armes! R. H. L.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 6, 1915.

LONDON.—China has appealed to Great Britain, France, Russia, and the United States to save it from Japanese aggression. This course was adopted immediately following receipt at Peking of the news that Japan has decided to send an ultimatum to the Chinese government giving it forty-eight hour notice in which to reply. That Japan is prepared to invade China is almost a certainty and the Chinese are preparing to resist.

LONDON.—Terrific fighting was in progress today at almost every point along the western front. The war office admits that the Germans have regained a foothold on hill No. 60, southeast of Ypres, which recently was won by the British after one of the hardest fought battles of the war.

CHICAGO.—By a decision of Judge Landis, the government has broken up a peculiar "booze" industry which has been in operation in Chicago and other parts of the country for the last several years, and in which several millions of dollars were invested. It was the business of recovering from empty barrels whisky that has soaked into the barrel staves. The "extractors" claim that inasmuch as the barrels were empty when purchased, and the further fact that the tax of $1.10 per gallon had already been paid on the whisky extracted, they were under no obligation to pay a further tax. Judge Landis thought otherwise.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 6, 1901.

CHICAGO.—Ten thousand clerks in and around La Salle street are speculating in stocks and grain. Thousands of them have become so absorbed in the craze that they have bargained their wages weeks ahead to loan "sharks" and are playing chance with their yet unearned salaries.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Jacksonville, in ruins as the result of the fire which laid 148 blocks of the city in ashes, is under martial law, and 10,000 homeless citizens are camping out in vacant lots in the suburbs.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A cigaret thrown under the grandstand at the ball park started a fire which destroyed the structure, the pavilion and the offices of League park and caused a panic in which several persons were bruised severely and a number narrowly escaped death. John T. Brush, owner of the Cincinnatis, had a close call.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The 42d general assembly of Illinois has passed into history. The congressional and senatorial apportionment bills met the approval of both houses before adjourning. Among new laws enacted which affect Chicago are those limiting taxation to 5 per cent of assessed valuation; authorizing the creation of small parks; giving the south park commissioners control of Lake Front park and locating Crerar library in Grant park.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 6, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—Gen. Garfield has determined to be President of the United States. He dealt a fearful blow to Senator Conkling, his foe, by withdrawing from the senate the names of five of Conkling's friends who had been nominated for federal positions. His action created a sensation and is pronounced by the President's opponents as a political crime incited by Blaine. Vice President Arthur is understood to be so highly enraged as to threaten resignation.

EDITORIAL.—It is not surprising that President Garfield has decided upon an aggressive defensive policy against Conklingism. His decision is indicative of both grit and judgment. The American people will admire the pluck which has dictated this course and will stand by him in any tumult it may precipitate. Conkling's late speech before the caucus of Republican senators showed him to be at once ungrateful and disloyal to the Republican party. Every reasonable concession had been made to him after his defeat in the Chicago convention. It is time to put a check on the effrontery and recklessness of this New York bully.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Abigail F. Grant, superintendent of the Home for the Friendless, died at the home of her son, Prof. Grant, 2219 Wabash avenue, after a protracted illness, at the age of 61. She won distinction as matron of the Soldiers' home at Cairo,

THE SCHOOL AGE.

Chicago, April 23.—Your editorial this morning, "The Compulsory School Age," deserves special commendation. It is dispassionate, very fair and logical. The proposed amendment to the law is another example of the efforts of well intentioned but only partially informed people who expect every possible blessing for society as the result of some pet legislative measure, regardless of the factors involved.

Because a number of school principals are actively opposing a change in the statute requiring attendance until 18, they may be accused of being anxious to unload their problem cases as early as possible. However, the proposed law, unless accompanied by measures which would enable us to properly provide for this additional load, would only result in a delayed unloading on society of a much greater number of maladjustments. No teacher or principal fears these problem cases if he has rooms or a school equipped for dealing with them.

The traditional elementary school is not so equipped and, as previously pointed out by others, such reorganization and equipment would involve expenditures far beyond the ability of the city to pay under the present taxing system. There was a time, and especially in the smaller communities, when boys had ample opportunity for part time work either at home or for others. They could go to school and also earn money. There is little such opportunity in the large city today. Therefore, the children who have achieved up to their capacity in the regular school and who cannot be accommodated in schools more suited to them should be allowed the "sterner discipline of regular employment."

There is no school administrative body more alert to the situation or more aware of the need than our own superintendent and his advisers. Up to the limit of available funds they have been active in providing according to the best modern practice for adjustments of this type, but financial limitations just now are a marked deterrent. K. C. MERRICK,
Principal of Lafayette school.

PACIFISM IN THE PULPIT.

Oak Park, April 30.—Let me point out that the clergy in the recent questionnaire regarding war and peace were about evenly divided. You have twice quoted the fact that a large number stated that they would not participate in any future war, without any mention of the 8,760 who signed their names to their declaration that they are ready and willing to serve their country in any capacity in the event of war. In all, 10,427 are pacifists, scarcely more than one-half of those whose replies were received. WILLIAM J. H. PETTER, Curate, Grace Church.

TAMMANY AS AN ISSUE.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 2.—To one voter at least it seems that Gov. Franklin Roosevelt has definitely aligned himself with Tammany Hall, a fact which should, and no doubt will, cause him to lose many, many votes in '32 from disgruntled Republicans. There is no doubt in this writer's mind but that the Democratic candidate—if he is right—will pick off a great many anti-Hoover Republicans, but Franklin Roosevelt cannot do the trick unless he changes front in the matter of Tammany.

H. A. WILEY.

PLOWING UP THE PLAYGROUND.

Chicago, May 4.—Green Briar park at Peterson and Washtenaw avenues is a typical city park with one-half of its area occupied by field house, lawns, tennis courts and enclosed playground for small children. The remaining half of the block is an open field for baseball, football and similar games, and in the winter is flooded for ice skating.

Announcement has now been made that this latter section of the park is to be plowed up immediately and landscaped with shrubbery, bushes, flower beds and lawns in the usual small park style. This space will deprive the boys of their baseball diamond, which has also been used as a football field in season, and in winter is used by old and young alike as a skating pond.

This seems to be a step in the wrong direction in a day when we are making such strong efforts to keep the children off the streets. By far the greater part of activity of this park is now centered in this field, where, playing games with established rules and codes of ethics, children acquire training in sportsmanship, adherence to rules and respect for the rights of their fellows—essential training if we expect them in later years to follow the rules of society. To deprive them of this playing field will drive them to the streets, as there is no other field of size available in this neighborhood. This is not only dangerous for the children but annoying to neighbors and destructive of property.

Providing an open field of this type is the least costly form of child welfare, having none of the expenses of construction, equipment, maintenance or supervision of the field house or landscaped park, and falls right in line with the present ideas of administrative economy.

Undoubtedly this same plan will be proposed at other small parks and has already been put into execution at some. There is no logical argument for depriving children of play that gives them health and training for citizenship when by doing so we increase the problems of parents, motorists, neighboring property owners and police, and at the same time increase the maintenance cost of our small parks. R. E. A.

FOR PAYING TAXES.

Chicago, April 30.—Would like to take this opportunty to answer some of these real estate taxpayers' associations which are telling property owners not to pay their taxes. These landlords never refused any rent during the last three years, and if they did not save any money that is their own fault. Cook county has been very lenient the last few years regarding tax payments, and many owners would not sell their property at the valuation on which they are taxed. PETER MILLER.

BIRTH CONTROL.

Chicago, May 2.—Your heading over the photograph of the family of Chief Justice Richard B. Russell, "His Children Argument Against Birth Control," is very misleading. I have always understood the supporters of birth control to favor large families wherever there are sufficient means to provide for them and the children are not handicapped by inherited diseases or physical and mental deficiencies. # ALDERMEN MOVE TO CUT WASTE IN CITY'S BUREAUS

Mergers Urged for Local Governments.

A move to carry out Mayor Cermak's plans for economies in the operation of the city government was begun yesterday by the council committee on efficiency, reorganization and consolidation.

At the first meeting of the committee under the new administration Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th], chairman, offered three suggestions for action on the expression in the mayor's inaugural message that expenditures may be curbed by consolidating the overlapping activities in the city's 32 departments.

Ald. Cronson called attention to the existence of two bridge design divisions and two groups of sidewalk inspectors, one each in the department of public works and the board of local improvements. Four departments—health, city physician, police, and fire—he said, have physicians attached to them.

Must Act by Dec. 1.

"With these suggestions as a beginning," said Ald. Cronson, "I believe that this committee through an extensive survey can go far toward coöperating with the mayor. However, what action we decide upon in the consolidation or elimination of departments, bureaus and some positions must be taken by Dec. 1 to be effective in the 1932 budget."

Ald. John A. Massen [48th] was authorized by the committee to submit to the council today his tentative suggestion for the consolidation of the three major park boards, the sanitary district and the forest preserves. Massen is chairman of a subcommittee studying the plan.

Plan for Parks Merger.

Under the Massen plan a board of 15 commissioners would be elected for four year terms to govern the consolidated bodies. Ten of these members would be residents of Chicago and ex officio members of the city council. The other five members would be chosen from Cook county outside of Chicago and would be ex officio members of the county board.

The plan proposes that this commission reclaim 40,000,000 square feet of submerged lands on the lake front and sell it at a price of not less than $5 per square foot.

Merrick, L. I., May 6 [Wednesday].—[Special.]—A gunman, identified by the police as Francis Crowley, who is wanted in New York City for the shooting of Virginia Brannen, dance hall hostess, two weeks ago, invaded Long Island early today and killed Patrolman Frederick Hirsch, when the latter attempted to stop him in a lonely section of this community.

CITY HANDS OUT LAST OF CASH IN FINAL PAY DAY

Tell Workers There Isn't Any More.

With the payment of $360,000 in salaries yesterday, the corporate fund of the city, out of which 18,000 of the city's 27,000 employés are paid, was depleted. Until the city can sell 1931 tax anticipation warrants these 18,000 employés, according to Controller Szymczak, will not be paid again.

The 13,000 teachers in the public school system also are dependent on the sale of warrants for their salaries. A delegation of them which visited the board of education offices yesterday was informed that the trustees have not yet been able to raise the $3,775,000 which was due the teachers on April 28. The $400,000 pay roll of the board's civil service employés has been in arrears since May 2.

The education fund of the schools has only $31,000, according to Harry Brackett, school auditor, and only $99,935 remains in the building fund. These funds can only be replenished by the sale of 1931 school warrants.

The other 9,000 city employés will receive their salaries, as they are paid out of the water, bond, and vehicle tax funds and the capital accounts.

The employés paid yesterday were those in the offices of the controller, treasurer, city collector, city clerk, and of the finance committee relief.

President Whealan of the county board announced that the 4,000 county employés who failed to receive their bi-monthly pay checks yesterday probably will be paid on Saturday. The pay checks, totaling $550,000, were held up by order of the commissioners, who asked that they first be submitted to them for approval. The pay roll will be scanned at a special meeting to be held Friday.

U.S. ENGINEERS TO STUDY CALUMET WATERWAY LINK

Economic Survey Will Be Made at Once.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—An economic survey of the Calumet river—Sag channel link of the lakes-to-the-gulf waterway project—will be undertaken at once by the war and commerce departments. Secretary of Commerce Lamont announced today.

COL. W. C. WEEKS. [Acme photo.]

A preliminary survey of the project made by the corps of engineers at the direction of congress has been completed by Col. W. C. Weeks, Chicago resident engineer. This cursory examination was sufficient, engineer officials said today, to show that the possible benefits of the proposed improvements warranted a thorough investigation.

Plans to Be Discussed Here.

Plans for the survey will be discussed shortly in Chicago at a conference attended by Col. E. M. Markham [division engineer at Cleveland], Col. Weeks, Col. A. G. Caples, and Col. R. G. Spaulding. The economic survey will be under the general direction of A. Lane Cricher, chief of the transportation division of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Dr. L. P. Nickell, chief of the inland waterways section of the transportation division, will head the field investigation.

It is expected that 10 months will be consumed in completing the economic survey and working up a report for submission to congress early in the new year. The war department expects to complete the Illinois river improvement connecting Chicago and New Orleans early in the spring of 1933.

Is Connecting Link.

"The importance of this inland waterway project is broad and far reaching," the commerce department said today.

It has been generally termed the Great Lakes-to-the-Gulf waterway project, since this segment, the Calumet river part, is the connecting link betwen Chicago and New Orleans in the Mississippi river system.

BLAINE POSTAL SITE CHARGES LABELED A LIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—"An unmitigated falsehood," was the label which Postmaster General Brown today attached to the recent assertion by Senator John J. Blaine, radical Republican of Wisconsin, that the change in the new Chicago postoffice site from the Marshall Field property to the present air rights location had been "slipped over" on congress.

The postmaster general declared that a statement of facts was due to the citizens of Chicago in answer to the charges made by Senator Blaine at the meeting of the senate postal lease committee in Chicago last week. Senator Blaine, chairman of the committee, was the only member present at that hearing.

"Blaine charges that the postoffice department deceived congress into authorizing this purchase and that the price agreed to be paid for the property is excessive and exorbitant," said Postmaster General Brown. "Among other things he has stated to the press that he will make a definite effort to see that the 'Chicago deal,' as he calls it, is not consummated. The deal referred to is apparently the abandonment of the site originally selected for the new postoffice building and the purchase of another site adjacent to the Union terminal.

Reviews the Circumstances.

"Under the circumstances it is due the citizens of Chicago, whose federal building plans it is thus proposed to delay indefinitely, to state the important facts relating to this transaction."

Reviewing the facts surrounding the original purchase of the Marshall Field site and the change to the air rights site, Mr. Brown continued:

"It is noteworthy that in considering the railroad site, Blaine was careful to avoid taking account of the value of buildings now situated on the property, including the Van Buren street postal station building, which the government occupies under lease at an annual rent of $310,000, or of the extensive and costly changes which the terminal company will be required to make in its plant in order to permit the erection of the federal building adjacent to the station, for all of which the company is entitled to fair compensation.

Replies to Tardy Report Charge.

"At the conclusion of his recent Chicago hearings Blaine made the following statement: 'The postoffice department obtained legislative authority to make these deals. They slipped it over on congress, coming in about two hours before noon on the last day of the session and asking that these specific items of millions be placed in the budget. Of course, the budget committee had no chance to investigate and therefore had to rely on the officials' honesty or judgment.'

"This false and malicious charge was intended as a slur upon the honesty and business judgment of the officials of the postoffice department. As a matter of fact, it reflects equally upon congress itself, particularly the committees on appropriations, which gave consideration to the transaction which, according to Blaine, was 'slipped over on congress' two hours before adjournment.

"Blaine's statement is completely at variance with the facts. In the first place, it was the treasury department and not the postoffice department which sought legislative authority to change the site for the Chicago federal building. In the second place, the transaction had the careful attention not only of the bureau of the budget, but of both houses of congress."

Given Seven Weeks to Study.

The transaction was submitted to congress, said the postmaster general, not two hours before adjournment, as charged by Senator Blaine, but on May 22, 1930, seven weeks prior to adjournment. It was passed by the house on June 20, and by the senate on June 27, six days before adjournment.

"In view of this record of the facts," Mr. Brown concluded, "it is apparent that Blaine's statement that this transaction was 'slipped over' on congress in the last minutes of the closing day of the session is an unmitigated falsehood.

"I have neither the desire nor the interest to engage in any controversy with a notoriety seeker of this type. However, I deem it my duty to warn the public that there is no more reason to put faith in any statements which Blaine has made or may make suggesting irregularities in the purchase of sites for federal buildings than there is to believe his thoroughly discredited charges respecting postoffice leases."

REGULAR and PERSISTENT TREATMENT

"KEEPING everlastingly at it brings success" is an old and familiar saying that applies particularly to the treatment of social diseases, syphilis and gonorrhea. Perhaps in no other field of medical science are regularity and persistency of treatment so highly essential. Health authorities declare that much of the suffering and disability caused by social diseases would never occur if proper treatment were instituted early and carried on regularly until satisfactory results were accomplished.

Such dire consequences as heart trouble, locomotor ataxia, paralysis, paresis (a type of insanity), dangerous operations to women, blindness to babies at birth, sterility and other disasters are, in most cases, the result of neglect, improper treatment, or ignorance of the presence of infection.

Two very harmful misconceptions prevail about social diseases: One is that syphilis is incurable, and the other, that gonorrhea is no worse than a bad cold. Both have far-reaching and often serious consequences. While it is true that syphilis is often responsible for a long chain of physical disasters, it can be definitely cured by proper and timely medical care, in the great majority of cases. Gonorrhea, in many respects, is fully as dangerous, especially to women and children, and requires skilled medical attention to prevent serious results.

Social diseases, particularly syphilis, can be acquired innocently, especially by women and children, and exist without their knowledge. Symptoms are often so misleading that only the most experienced physicians, aided by extensive laboratory facilities, can be certain of a correct diagnosis. It is highly important then that all persons who have been exposed to a social disease, or know definitely that they have a social disease should seek experienced medical advice and attention without delay.

Good medical treatment for either gonorrhea or syphilis, including Wassermann and Kahn blood and other necessary laboratory tests, can be secured within your means from an experienced family physician, or from the Public Health Institute. Treatment also is available through the Institute and many free clinics for those without funds.

The Public Health Institute was organized more than ten years ago to combat "social diseases" (syphilis and gonorrhea) in Chicago. Every facility necessary for competent and reliable medical service is provided. Members of its medical staff are experienced and are registered by the State. All treatment and advice are given by these men and women physicians.

The fees are within the reach of all. The first examination is only $3.00 and includes Wassermann and Kahn blood and other laboratory tests. Six consecutive treatments in the Urological or Gynecological Department for $4.00. Examination and treatment are available to those without immediate funds. No one is turned away because of inability to pay.

More details of this subject will be found in Leaflets Nos. 1 and 2, sent free in plain envelope on request.

Announcement . . . This advertisement has been submitted to and been approved by the Medical Advisory Board which has been formed at the invitation of the Trustees. It is published by a health agency established for public service to inform the public of the dangers of "social diseases," of the importance of securing good medical care, and the facilities whereby this can be obtained.

Tells Court Why Gangster Did Not Testify.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Alfred Cleby and John Kurlek, embezzlement, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Peter Schwaba.

Ferdinand Estranda, rape, sentenced to 1 year in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Philip Finnegan.

Leo Brothers, convicted slayer of Alfred Lingle, did not testify at his trial because Attorney Harry J. Cantwell, who knew of Brothers' St. Louis career, did not want to give the state the opportunity of questioning the defendant on his St. Louis record. Attorney Cantwell, who came from St. Louis to appear as one of Brothers' attorneys, made this statement yesterday in Judge Joseph Sabath's court, where the arguments were finished on the new trial motion. The judge will give his decision on Friday morning.

Attorney James C. O'Brien, who has taken over Brothers' case since the imposition of the 14 year sentence by a jury, argued that Brothers should be given a new trial because he had been improperly advised not to testify.

Cantwell Makes Statement.

Assistant State's Attorneys John Holman and C. Wayland Brooks were answering that argument yesterday when Attorney Cantwell made the following statement: "It was on my advice that Brothers did not testify. I did not want the state to open an inquiry into his activities in St. Louis."

Brothers is wanted in St. Louis for murder. He also was arrested many times in that city prior to the time he fled to Chicago to escape the murder charge.

In a counter-affidavit filed yesterday by the prosecution it was charged that Louis McCann, a structural iron worker, who filed an affidavit in behalf of Brothers, had been intimidated at union headquarters. In his affidavit filed in Brothers' behalf McCann said that he saw the shot fired and that Brothers is not the man he saw in the Illinois Central railroad tunnel.

Reports Former Identification.

In the affidavit filed yesterday by Attorney James McShane it was stated that McCann had identified Brothers previously, but refused to testify because of fear that he would be thrown out of employment and that his wife and three children would go hungry.

"If you want to work again, you're going down the line for Brothers," Attorney McShane quoted McCann as saying he was told at union headquarters at 848 West Madison street.

"There has never been a case in which the state has met with such damnable opposition, filled with falsehoods and slurs," said Prosecutor Holman in concluding his argument.

CARRIERS REMOVE FOKKER PLANES BEFORE U. S. BAN

Two Chicago air line operators flying the type of Fokker airplanes which have been temporarily barred from passenger service by a ruling of the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce announced yesterday that their services would not be affected by the order.

Charles White, division traffic manager for American Airways, operating passenger service between Chicago and St. Louis and Chicago and Cincinnati, said that other flying equipment is being used for passengers and that the Fokker F-10 planes formerly used were withdrawn from passenger service last winter.

Harris M. Hanshue, president of Transcontinental and Western Air Lines, Inc., operating passenger service from Chicago to Columbus, O., Philadelphia, New York, and other points between New York and Los Angeles, announced that the company had anticipated the government ruling and had suspended all Fokker models affected by the ruling. Reserve equipment has been placed in service for air passengers, Mr. Hanshue said.

STUDENT GROUP FOR RADICAL CHANGES IN NORTHWESTERN U.

An "individual" system of study, comprehensive examinations at 2 year periods, and the privilege of unlimited absences from lectures, are asked in a report presented last night at a meeting of the Northwestern faculty curriculum committee. The report came from the student committee of 12, of which John A. Peterson is chairman. It has been at work since Feb. 1. The idea of making a report was suggested by Dean Addison Hibbard of the college of liberal arts.

Dean Ernest Hahne of the school of commerce is chairman of the faculty committee which will consider the report and may report within a few days.

A portion of the students' report reads, "We do not find that the students of Northwestern are even near the point of revolution against the present curriculum. If Northwestern hopes to be led by the students, disappointment must be expected.

BILL PASSED FOR DIVORCE ON ONE YEAR DESERTION

Springfield, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—At its late afternoon session today, the house of representatives passed the Woodward bill cutting the time element in divorce cases, on grounds of desertion, from two years to one.

By a vote of 10-1—Miss Josephine Perry [Rep., Chicago] dissenting, the bill to increase the terms of Chicago ward committeemen from 2 to 4 years, was approved this afternoon by the house election committee.

Chicago legislators say the measure originated with the remnants of the discredited Thompson political faction, which desires to remain in office as long as possible. It was introduced by Representative A. O. Galvin [Rep., Chicago[, resident of Homer Galpin's territory, and a former assistant corporation counsel during years of Thompson administration.

The bill was amended, on motion of Representative John R. McSweeney [Dem., Chicago], to provide for the first election to be held in 1934 instead in 1932.

Gangsters Blamed; Guard Prosecutor's Home.

Catskill, N. Y., May 5.—[Special.]—State troopers were assigned today to guard the homes of State's Attorney John J. Bennett Jr. and other officials engaged in investigating the activities of Jack "Legs" Diamond and his beer racketeers in the Catskill mountain region. The guards will be maintained day and night.

The extra precaution was taken following an attempt by a "human fly" burglar to break into a room occupied by one of the attorney general's deputies in the Ten Eyck hotel at Albany last night. The thief got into an adjoining room by mistake, was surprised revolver in hand, and escaped in the uproar that followed.

There is no doubt in the minds of Mr. Bennett and his assistants that the burglar was a "scout" of the Diamond gang, assigned to recover cancelled checks and other checks seized from Diamond's safe deposit box yesterday.

Seized Records Not Revealed.

The attorney general was quoted as saying that the seized records indicated a working arrangement of some kind between Diamond and "Scarface Al" Capone, Chicago crime overlord, but just what the data was to show this connection was not disclosed.

Simultaneously word was received from New York that United States Attorney George Z. Medalie and Prohibition Administrator Andrew McCampbell were thrusting all the forces of the federal government into the situation and were sending men here to make an immediate inquiry in cooperation with the attorney general.

Bennett today ordered the arrest of Diamond's wife, Mrs. Alice Schiffer Diamond, presumably for questioning about the remark attributed to her when she arrived at the Cairo National bank late yesterday and found that state troopers and officials of Bennett's office had beaten her there and had taken away all the contents of Diamond's safe deposit box.

Insists He'll Be Sorry.

"He'll be sorry for this, too," she is reported as saying angrily, and then left for her husband's farm near Arca.

It was revealed that the assistants of the attorney general believed they were being shadowed by Diamond's men, called "the most brazen activity of the racketeers" since Bennett began his inquiry ten days ago.

JORDAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO POLICE KILLINGS

Frank Jordan, confessed bank robber who shot and killed Policemen Anthony Ruthy and Patrick Durkin on April 30 at Michigan avenue and Randolph street while trying to escape arrest, entered a plea of not guilty to the murder charges yesterday before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court. State's Attorney Swanson appeared in court to push the prosecution and insisted that an early day be set for trial unless some good reason is shown by the defense for delay.

Jordan's attorneys tried to obtain a further continuance of the arraignment, but Prosecutor Swanson insisted that this be held at once. The defendant then entered his not guilty plea, although it was intimated that he might change his plea if he can be assured a life sentence. The prosecutor, however, said that he would not waive the death penalty. The case was tentatively set for trial Monday.

Jack Munson, pal of Jordan, who was arrested Sunday, was identified from newspaper photographs as one of the men who on Feb. 11 robbed the Walworth State bank of Walworth, Wis., of $3,000.

'Happy Sinner' Appears Happy Without Sins

She's Heroine of That Sort of First Novel.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

THEY used to call them "hammock novels"—the kind of tales that were perfect for an afternoon stretched out in a shady spot, gently swayed by whatever breeze might be tugging at the ropes which held one's hammock taut. A box of chocolates or caramels, an extra cushion for the small of the back, a gentle, not too devastating novel, and a summer afternoon was marked down in one's life as one of the happy ones that have no history.

ELIZABETH H. HERBERT.

These lazy days have given place to hectic ones for most of the world, and sweets between meals and lolling to activity and banting. The old fashioned hammock is something you find in "Way Back When." But the old fashioned hammock novel hasn't been relegated to any attic. It, and the flowers, still bloom in the spring.

A first novel, a perfect "hammock" type, which has a special interest for dwellers in Zone 7 is Happy Sinner, by Elizabeth Hamilton Herbert. Mrs. Herbert lives in Detroit and is the sister of David Hamilton, one of Chicago's group of interesting young novelists.

Mrs. Herbert has chosen a pleasant suburban group as the characters of "Happy Sinner," with a fluffy, gay young thing as heroine, and the assorted heroes all decent and gentlemanly and considerate even when they are like the oldest brother, veneered over with worldliness. A few unusual things happen—for instance the heroine marries very suddenly and for a slightly dazed reason, it seems to me—but everything is all charmingly proper and conventionally gay and attractive. "Happy Sinner," except for its title, is a throwback to the fiction days when a love story was all delightful and sweet and pleasantly amusing, when life—in popular novels—was all sugar and spice.

The heroine of "Happy Sinner" has delightful thoughts all about the joys of the suburbs and spring and love and babies, and she takes all of them as casually as if life were a pas and to a brilliant little symphony orchestra. She thinks she is moved by the suburbs and spring and love and her baby, but she is the same charming child after the sequence of those four events, as she was when only the suburbs and the spring bloomed for her. She wears life like a boutonniere, gayly to celebrate her glee, and not like a corsage to distract the onlooker's eye from her too fiercely beating heart, the way that most modern heroines wear their bouquets of life. "Happy Sinner" is a gay tale, very young and "nice," one of today's output.

Our favorite book bargain published today is Mary Roberts Rinehart's Romance Book because it contains three of the best novels that Mrs. Rinehart has written, each one in its entirety, and all three on a thousand odd pages between the two covers for the price of one novel. Hours and hours of joy are sheltered there. "K." "The Amazing Interlude," "The Street of Seven Stars"—they make an omnibus to delight any one. And if you missed "My Story," Mrs. Rinehart's autobiography, rush out and buy a copy. You'll find in it the stories of how and when and where those three novels were written. And you will find, too, the record of an amazing life, set down with beautiful candor and touching simplicity.

If you yearn for even more spine tingling excitements for today try The Hangman's Guests, by Stuart Martin. It is about a huge diamond that from the moment of its discovery in South Africa brought death and terror in its wake. The night before a hanging in a prison, with the chaplain and the hangman vieing in their attempts to catch out the other about the diamond, is the delightful, pastoral background of "The Hangman's Guests." It is a Harper sealed mystery. That means that if you can resist breaking the seal which locks the pages from 244 to 300 you may take the volume back to any book store and have your money refunded.

Or if you want action and thrills rather than creeps and chills there is Trial by Water, by Hulbert Footner, a rapid fire adventure in the Louisiana bayous. Hulbert Footner is a name fairly well known to American readers of excitements, but, strangely enough, English writers who never heard of other American writers of Footner's type all know Hulbert Footner. They all inquire about him when they arrive or when you go to London. English writing men are lyrical about his work.

If today you are in no mood for novels at all, but yearn for the more solemn forms of literature, I fear that we haven't much to offer you. Not a line about Russia or the future of American business or the immoral state of the African savages or even our memory of the good old days when being buffy was a graceful state instead of a state of grace as it has come to seem in the literature of prohibition. All we can suggest is a volume called Balconinny, by J. B. Priestley, which is a collection of "whimsical" essays in the author's slightly cut-uppish mood. Mr. Priestley manages somehow, even in the ten or twelve pages permitted him by a short essay, to be very expansive—the way he is in his novels. A "balconinny" is, if you MUST know, a small balcony. There is a great deal about Mr. Priestley and where he is staying and what he is thinking in "The Balconinny." If you have any yearnings to know more of his inner life here's your chance.

ST. JOHN ERVINE IS FREED BY JURY AT BRITISH TRIAL

LONDON, May 5.—[Special.]—St. John Ervine, dramatic critic and playwright, escaped hanging and the alternative sentence of seven years' penal servitude at a trial staged by the London School of Economics today when he was acquitted by a jury of a charge of "being unduly critical."

A large crowd in the courtroom was astonished by the result, because the bitterness with which Viscountess Rhondda prosecuted Mr. Ervine, and the prejudice against the defendant shown by the judge, J. Theobald Mathew, in charging the jury made any result other than conviction seem impossible.

The judge told the jurors it was clearly shown by the evidence, although it was not, that Mr. Ervine at an early age had deliberately formulated a plan for killing off all other playwrights by devastating criticism so he would have no competitors when he got ready to write a play himself.

Lady Rhondda in opening the prosecution, said Mr. Ervine had determined to be a highbrow writer, for which he considered the five essential qualifications to be unintelligible, unreadable, never to sell more than 500 copies, and to be always gloomy and always ultra-scornful in his writings. She charged he had accomplished his purpose of being unintelligible by adopting Gertrude Stein and James Joyce as his models.

Doctor Warns, Styles Favor Curves for 1931

Women Told Starvation Diets 'Are Perilous.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 5.—(AP)—Here's a bit of news for the ladies: This starvation diet and boyish figure stuff is passé.

That's what Dr. E. S. Judd, Rochester, Minn. surgeon, told the 78th annual convention of the Minnesota State Medical association today. To be in style this year, he said, women must have curves.

And to do that she must include in her daily diet two quarts of milk, cereals, meat, bread and potatoes, and plenty of green vegetables.

"This is a boon to the medical profession," Dr. Judd added, "and means the end of starvation diets which have helped increase tuberculosis."

Dr. Charles H. Mayo, said families in the future will pay for medical treatment by the year.

"The time is coming," he declared, "when a father will say to his family doctor that he will give him so much a year for his family, primarily in the way of preventative medicines and treatment."

Dr. Mayo predicted that would eliminate the "appalling waste of lives" among persons who now refuse to consult a physician until it is too late.

Persons generally refuse to consult a doctor soon enough, he said, warning that absence of pain should not be considered an indication of good health.

"There is an old theory almost universal and is held by some members of the medical profession that an infallible symptom of disease is pain. On the contrary, cancer almost never produces pain in its early stages.

"We of the medical profession in years to come," he concluded, "will have to examine and otherwise take care of more and more persons to keep them well rather than cure them."

Candy Doesn't Harm Teeth, Doctor Tells Convention.

Baltimore, Md., May 5.—(AP)—The belief that candy and other sweets harm the teeth "belongs with other fallacious theories," Dr. W. McKim Marriott of the Washington University School of Medicine said in an address here today. What sweets really do, he explained, is to destroy appetite for foods essential to healthy teeth.

Diet, not heredity, is the biggest single factor affecting teeth, he said, pointing out that the savage, transplanted to civilization yields to the same oral afflictions suffered by persons long civilized.

The best teeth in the world, said Dr. Marriott, are those of the Zulus of Africa, the Eskimos of the polar regions and the Maoris of New Zealand, "savages who have never heard of a tooth brush, paste or mouth wash."

Bogan Urges Special Training for Handicapped Children.

The need of medical education for handicapped children in public schools was stressed by William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, in an address yesterday. He spoke before members of the Illinois Homeopathic Medical association at the Palmer house. Over 100 members attended the opening session of the three day annual meeting.

"The lame child, the child suffering from faulty eyes or faulty teeth, the child suffering from tuberculosis must be taught to develop other fields of activity to compensate for these drawbacks," Mr. Bogan said. "We must use a system of psychological substitution and substitute a positive activity for a passive attitude."

Dr. Grant Houston of Joliet at the afternoon session declared surgery was the only cure for cancer and must be used in its early stages.

Today France Opens Colonial Show on Site in Vincennes

PARIS, May 5.—(AP)—France's international colonial exposition at Vincennes park will be opened tomorrow by President Doumergue. The exposition will continue until the last of October.

The exposition unites the world's efforts in colonization. It is estimated that it will cost France and the six foreign countries participating $30,000,000.

In addition to all French colonies, the United States, Italy, Belgium, Brazil, Denmark, Holland, and Portugal are represented.

The colonial aspect gives a touch to the affair. Native life of Indo-China, equatorial Africa, and Madagascar has been reproduced even to the extent of importing 3,000 natives.

The United States is represented by a copy of Washington's Mount Vernon home, and by pavilions for Hawaiian, Porto Rican, Alaskan, and Philippine exhibits.

Paul Poiret to Make Dresses, Not as Poiret

Now he says he will open his own establishment next month. He cannot use his own name and he has not decided what name he will use.

Prize Author Says Women Should Write

Home Best Place, Too, Mrs. M. A. Barnes Avers.

Of all the professions open to woman, writing is the most easily adjusted to family life, and the home and not the office harbors the ideal atmosphere to pound her portable typewriter.

At least such is the conclusion of Margaret Ayer Barnes, who stepped considerably into the limelight yesterday with the announcement that her novel, "Years of Grace," had been selected as the Pulitzer prize novel of last year as portraying American family life.

Mrs. Barnes, speaking at the City club of Chicago, told why she believes women have a definite contribution of a different point of view to bring to the world of letters. She explained why she believes the home the best laboratory for writing, and reviewed her difficulties in becoming both a playwright and novelist.

"Of the professions, writing demands the least amount of laboratory equipment," Mrs. Barnes said. "All you have to do is to park your typewriter on a corner of the living room table. An office is only a matter of embarrassment. Home life provides the proper stimulation.

"The family woman has an advantage over her more isolated sister because she can view the emotions close at hand. This will teach her more about life than introspection or acquaintance with carefully selected companions."

Mrs. Barnes, who also has to her credit, among other plays, the dramatization of Edith Wharton's "Age of Innocence," in which Katherine Cornell starred last season, advised would-be playwrights that a play never is entirely one's own, as is a book.

"Every one has a hand in a play, and it is invariably a compromise. It is only when you are writing a play that it is your own. As for a novel, it is yours from the start to finish, because a publisher will accept it pretty much as it is."

Carbondale, Ill., May 5.—(AP)—The engagement of Col. T. B. F. Smith of Carbondale and Miss Mae Trovillion, member of the Southern Illinois Teachers' college faculty, was announced yesterday. Smith, a lawyer, is a member of the Illinois board of paroles and a Republican state central committeeman from the 25th district.

Four Seasons Club Will Open Officially May 30

The women's auxiliary of the Four Seasons Club of America is preparing for the summer opening of the club May 30. There will, however, be a bridge tea to be held at the Lake Shore Athletic club on Friday, May 15. Mrs. Gustave Callerman, president of the club, is to be the hostess and she will be assisted by Mrs. Albert Sorenson, vice president; Mrs. James Piggott, secretary; and Mrs. George E. Gorman, treasurer. The Four Seasons club is composed almost entirely of residents of Chicago and their clubhouse, located on the Miscauno island in the Menominee river, is the center of activity throughout the summer months for those of its members who enjoy golf, horseback riding and fishing.

MRS. JAMES PIGGOTT.

THE STAGE

SUBSCRIBERS and occasional patrons of the Theater Guild's season of plays may count upon seeing that organization's latest production, "He," a comedy from the French of Alfred Savoir, at the Illinois theater. The three weeks' engagement will begin Monday, May 25. Thus there will be an interim of one week between the departure of "Green Grow the Lilacs," and the arrival of "He."

The cast will contain Tom Powers, Claude Rains, Violet Kemble Cooper, Pedro de Cordoba, Edward Rigby, and ten others. The play was adapted and staged by Chester Erskin. The announcement of the booking of "He" lifts a weight from the minds of many playgoers who had feared that the Guild intended to give us its revival of old Mr. Shaw's weather beaten "Getting Married."

Announcement and cancellation, postponement and change of base have become standard procedure in theatrical management. There was a time, the old boys say, when plays for Chicago were fixed on the calendar forty weeks in advance, and kept their dates with the regularity of a railway schedule. But all that has been blown away by the winds of change. . . . Which is apropos of the fact that "Blossom Time," promised for the Great Northern next Sunday night, will not arrive at all. Also of the fact that "Oh, Promise Me," first listed for the Apollo next Sunday night, and then shifted to the Selwyn, has changed its mind again in favor of the Apollo.

The reason why the revival of "Blossom Time" will omit Chicago is the engagement of Gladys Baxter, its prima donna, for Natalie Hall's rôle in "Three Little Girls," during the St. Louis open-air engagement of the latter operetta. There will be other changes in the cast as well—Clifford Newdahl will be the tenor; and Hal Forde will appear as the Baron von Biebitz. St. Louis thinks so highly of Miss Baxter that it will retain her for several other operettas in the municipal summer repertory. She was last seen in Chicago a year ago in "A Wonderful Night," otherwise a modernization of "Die Fledermaus."

The impending première of "Oh, Promise Me," will find Gregory Ratoff and Ben Bernie in the anxious seat of management. The former is a graduate of "Candle Light" and "Three Little Girls," and also the admiring husband of the up and coming Eugenie Leontovich, heroine of the New York run of "Grand Hotel." Mr. Bernie is widely known as "the old maestro" of night club frolics. Together, they represent Chicago's latest movement to lift itself out of provincial status and become a creative theatrical center.

Messrs. Ratoff and Bernie, or maybe Ratoff alone, have plans that extend beyond "Oh, Promise Me." A summer musical show will be offered to Chicago under the title of "Let's Go." Already engaged for it are Wini Shaw, who sang "Ten Cents a Dance" in "Simple Simon" last winter; Hope Emerson, who was the brawny leader of the Spartan women in "Lysistrata"; Richard Craig Jr., a well known monologist of the radio chains; Harry Puck, the spirited dancing comedian of "Three Little Girls," Mr. Ratoff himself; and Ted Fiorito's orchestra. Mr. Fiorito is at this moment scattering score paper around his room in a fury of composer's energy; for he has been elected the man to write the music.

"Peter Ibbetson" didn't fold up in New York last Saturday night, in spite of dismal announcements to that effect. It will continue its run for three more weeks with Glenn Hunter in the title rôle, which has been deserted by Dennis King.

Subscribers to the Dramatic League of Chicago may prepare to see A. A. Milne's "Give Me Yesterday" next fall. This play ended a long New York run last Saturday, and will be sent on a long tour, including the cities of the Shubert subscription groups, four months hence. C. C.

Prince of Wales Is Likely to Receive for the King

WINDSOR, England, May 5.—(AP)—Matrons and debutantes who will be presented at the first two courts of this season, May 19 and 20, may find themselves curtseying to the prince of Wales instead of King George.

It was reported today that because of the recent illness of the king it still was undecided whether or not he would be able to attend the first two courts. Should the physicians finally decide the king's condition was such as to make his attendance unwise, the courts would be held by the queen and the prince of Wales.

Princess Plans to Wed Flying Austrian Noble

Ileana Is Engaged to the Archduke Anton.

FREIBURG, Germany, May 5.—(AP)—Aviation lent the wings of the romance of Princess Ileana of Rumania and Archduke Anton of Austria, whose engagement was announced last night.

PRINCESS ILEANA.

The archduke is regarded as an enthusiastic flyer. He does all the work on his plane personally, never permitting any one else to touch it.

Ileana also is very fond of aviation. Since their acquaintance, she has spent much time with Archduke Anton in his plane, making daily flights which took them even as far as Vienna and Paris.

Queen Marie and Princess Ileana arrived at Castle Umkirch near Easter for a short visit. Archduke Anton arrived about the same time. The acquaintance between the two began and soon ripened, it is said, into real love.

Their marriage is expected to take place before long, probably in June. Ileana, it is said, presents a picture of a very happy girl who has found the man of her heart's desire, and there are no lingering memories of the unfortunate end of her previous engagement to Count Alexander von Hochberg in 1929.

Archduke Anton refers to the sporting plane which he owns as "the only thing left of my Spanish fortune."

When the Austro-Hungarian monarchy fell after the war he went to Spain with the royal family and became an engineer. The plane was bought with his savings.

Early this morning the archduke and princess took off for Friedrichshawen to watch the Graf Zeppelin start on a flight to Switzerland.

The couple will be separated after the next few days. The archduke will go to Spain to attend to some personal business, and Princess Ileana will leave for Venice with her mother, Queen Marie, to spend the next few weeks there.

Wedding Won't Affect Little Entente, Says Prague Paper.

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, May 5.—(AP)—The Bucharest correspondent of the Prager Tagblatt reported today that he had been assured the marriage of Princess Ileana would not influence the foreign policy of Rumania or in any way contribute to a solution of the Hapsburg question in Hungary.

He also was informed and officially assured that a union between the Rumanian royal house and a Hapsburg archduke would not alter the policy of the little entente.

GRENOBLE, France, May 5.—(AP)—Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania, with a suite of eight persons, arrived tonight from Freiburg, Germany.

Hundreds of Messages Sent to Princess from Rumania.

BUCHAREST, May 5.—(AP)—Hundreds of messages of congratulation were sent from here today to Princess Ileana at Umkirch castle in Germany, congratulating her on her engagement to Archduke Anton of Austria.

The archduke is the seventh child of a family of nine. His father is the Archduke Leopold Salvator and his mother was Blanche of Castille, princess of Bourbon. Both his parents reside with the rest of their family at Barcelona. There they established a residence when they were asked to sign a forfeiture of their royal privileges in Austria.

The first message was sent by Miron Christea, aged patriarch of Rumania, who christened her and to whom she has been "my little girl" ever since.

Princess Ileana has made happy thousands of persons in her own country by the large number of charities and other institutions which she organized and supported.

Those institutions, especially the Y. W. C. A. and the Rumanian branch of the Girl Guides, will have every reason to rejoice at her choice of a husband, because Archduke Anton, besides being an aviation enthusiast, also is an accomplished sportsman.

Two of his other delights are motorcycling and skiing, both of which also are dear to Ileana. Both he and Ileana also share a dislike of snobbishness.

Roosevelt Professorship to Be Revived in Berlin

New York, May 5.—(AP)—President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university today announced reëstablishment of the Roosevelt professorship in Berlin. Frederick J. E. Woodbridge, Johnsonian professor of philosophy and former dean of graduate faculties, will be incumbent for 1931-'32, taking his post in October. The professorship was established in 1906 and discontinued at the outbreak of the war in 1914.

Heart Disease Common Among Youths, It's Said

East St. Louis, Ill., May 5.—(AP)—Heart disease is not an old-age ailment, but is common among adolescents, Dr. I. C. Riggin, executive secretary of the American Heart association, New York, declared today at the opening session of the eighty-first annual convention of the Illinois State Medical society here.

One Well Chosen Perfume Better than a Medley

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

When I read the frequently administered advice about a perfume for every mood, I just wonder how many moods would a well perfumed lady be permitted? And what kind of perfume you'd use for a "mad" mood, a peevish one?

Anyway, that perfume for moods always seemed to me to be blood relative to the well known Mr. Hooey. So, I read with pleasure that the single perfume for every mood and occasion is no longer milady's ambition. Her own individual perfume, which will provide for her every varying mood and her just as diversified occasions and costume is the new order. That simplifies matters for most of us, doesn't it? I have a suspicion, in fact, that the great majority of us were acting on that principle, anyway.

But one well chosen perfume, it seems to me, is more attractive than a whole medley of scents. Not that we wouldn't like the medley, just for the fun of owning it, smelling it, and exhibiting it's lovely containers.

It is nice, though, to have a perfume people associate with you and with no one else. Some women indicate this preference so strongly that they're insulted if you have the effrontery to ask "what brand"? That's their secret. And should be—if you can afford a personal and private mixing of scents, as some fastidious women can.

I recall an interview with a certain lady of the screen, more famous a couple of years ago than now. Was I chastised for suggesting I'd like to know the name of her perfume? If I'd inquired how much money the lady had in the bank I would have earned no more withering look.

But the fair creature had told me a whopper about where her scents came from. So I felt privileged to ask a whopper, too. She told me that her perfumes were especially distilled from flowers that grew about the tomb of Cleopatra.

Says I: "How on earth could Cleo's tomb supply flowers for the world?"

She turned on the lowly worm that was I by this time, and said: "It doesn't supply them for the world—only for me." Anyway, you can see from that what a perfume can do to the imagination. Which, I'm told on the best information, is the great importance of a perfume—what it will do to your own or the other fellow's imagination (with emphasis on the fellow).

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

My husband and I were attending a vaudeville performance. During the vaudeville he sat at my right. When the picture started we moved to the center aisle, he taking the seat on my left.

The picture was thrilling and, as was my custom on such occasions, I sidled up and put my arm through his—so I thought. When the lights came on I found that my attentions had been lavished upon a strange man who occupied the seat on my right. I had forgotten that my husband was now on my left, and as the stranger had not moved throughout the show, I did not notice my error until the show was over.

I whispered to my husband to hurry out with me and we laughed all the way home over the incident, but I shall always regard that moment when I discovered my error as my most embarrassing moment. M. M.

When Rival Wins It's Best to Look for Another Gal

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Being told that there's some one else with a stronger claim on your affections is a hard pill to have to swallow. But if it has to be done, it should be done and over with as quickly as possible.

Which is the lean comfort we have to offer "Joe," whose ideal girl recently imparted the bad news that he might still be a friend, and that's all. Some one else has the brighter rôle of some day be-diamonding said young lady. Of Joe's successful rival, Joe says the fellow isn't the right sort for the girl.

The rival never does look the right sort. But that's because one weighs the rival by one's own personal standards. Consequently one is not always in a fair position to do the weighing. And then, of course, where love enters into the scheme weighing of pros and cons may have no bearing at all. So often the impossible one turns out to be the most devoted and orderly of husbands. That is impossible from the rival's standpoint. Which goes to prove that it takes a pretty big person to be generous about a rival's claims. A trifle bigger person, in fact, than most human beings manage to be, under the circumstances.

So there's no use trying to solve one's dismissal by understating the rival's character. The best thing for Joe to do is to put on his hat and keep on walking as far away from the girl as he can get, meantime casting an eye to the right and left just in case there might be a living duplicate [ideally speaking] somewhere along the road of retreat.

It's so unprepossessing a picture one makes when one hangs around as "a friend" after a decision in favor of another has been made. The picture doesn't appeal to other women, Joe. And, eventually, if not now, you've got to take another girl on, or be sunk in sour gloom. There's only one guaranteed remedy for a "turndown," and it's to turn up with another girl on your arm. It's a pleasant remedy when you get around to taking it.

So, Joseph, I'd suggest the graceful exit and the eye kept clear for another girl-try.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

"Dear Miss Blake: What do you think of a fellow who takes your phone number and says he'll call and take you out on Sunday and doesn't?

THE CLICK OF THE GATE

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS.

Iris de Bertincourt lives in a remote section of Paris with her fifteen year old daughter, Clare. She and Maj. Alan Charnwood are desperately in love, but there are barriers to their immediate marriage. They are spending the last evening they will have together before, in a few months, as Maj. Charnwood plans to leave the next day for Africa. Clare is acting in a school play and is to be brought home by friends.

Iris has been separated for years from her husband, Marcel de Bertincourt, a man of enormous charm but utterly lacking in moral sense. Iris and he are cousins and the possible heirs of their Aunt Victoire, the Comtesse de Castelmaurou. Iris plans to divorce her husband and marry Alan when he returns, but she is keeping her plans secret, as she wishes to avoid the interference of her tyrannical aunt, who has until recently ruled her life.

Iris receives a message that her aunt is on her way to see her. Alan leaves. The concierge tells Iris that her husband's character has wholly changed and that he is desirous of resuming his duties as a husband and father. Just after the countess leaves Iris rents a motor stop in front of the house and hears Clare's friends bidding her good night as she opens the door. Clare is nowhere to be seen.

Maj. Charnwood is just ready to leave his hotel when Iris calls him. He hurries to her home. The friends who drove Clare home tell Iris they left Clare at her door. Alan commands Iris to notify the police, then they wait all night; but day breaks and Clare is still away. An inspector assigned to the case calls. He finds a photograph of a handsome Latin youth in Clare's desk. Iris calls her aunt, and Alan leaves to call on Mrs. Roderick Roderick refers to Clare's father as though she knows him well. She says she has known Marcel for several months and that he's not as black as he's painted. She hasn't told Iris, so she didn't want to risk losing her friendship. When Alan returns to Iris' home he finds it closed.

INCOMPREHENSIBLE SILENCE.

For ten minutes Charnwood poked about, studying the convent wall opposite and the unbroken stretch of the Rue Guillaume d'Orange, then giving up in despair, decided to waste no more time but to go at once to the commissariat. Impervious officialdom met him. Nothing as yet had been heard of Mlle. de Bertincourt; the authorities were busy combing Paris in search of her; Inspector Maupin was absent on some line of inquiry known only to himself, and the commissaire's secretary could vouchsafe no information as to the house of his return.

These items were furnished by means of a tight lipped mouth and an eye as expressive as that of a dried haddock. The secretary's serious attention was centered on paring his nails, to the absorption of which pursuit Charnwood left him and hastened back to his hotel.

Was there any message for him?—he asked eagerly at the desk. No, none. Probably Iris had as yet had no chance to communicate with him, but he would have felt easier to know exactly what was going on. He watched some lunch, mounted to his room, and unpacking his belongings, embrace the still eyes seemed to follow him, filled, he now imagined, with an appeal for help.

God, if he could only do something! Never in his life had he felt so completely useless.

At hour passed, he could bear the suspense no longer. Rash or not, he must ring Iris up at her aunt's house. Glancing at the slip of paper Mathilde had given him, he picked up the receiver.

butler. In his best French Charnwood asked to speak to Mme. de Bertincourt, only to be informed that she had gone out.

"When do you expect her back?"

"I have no idea," came the formal tones. "Who is it wishes to speak to her?"

He gave his name and rang off. It puzzled him to learn that Iris was not at home, for he had pictured her as having been put to bed. Then it occurred to him that she was very likely on her way to seek him. But of course! Why hadn't he thought of it sooner? She might be here any minute.

However, the hands of his watch moved from three to half-past five, and she did not appear. Twice more he telephoned, and each time was given the answer that madame had not returned. What did it mean?

Although only nine hours had passed since he had left Iris, he began to feel as if a thick curtain had been drawn between them. He did not suppose she had anything fresh to impart, but that was not the point. Last night she had turned to him instinctively in her first blind need of succor, had shown that he was the one being on whom she wished to lean. He could not forget now she had shrunk from seeing her aunt and put off the evil hour as long as she dared. Yet, now, after a brief interval, she had apparently forgotten his very existence.

At six o'clock it entered his head that perhaps it was all a mistake. The butler might have been ordered to deny her to any one who called. At any rate there was a way of finding out.

He put on his hat and set forth in search of the Comtesse de Castelmaurou's house, fortunately close-by. Slight misgivings as to the wisdom of his course pricked him, but he refused to give heed. As a woman of the world, the comtesse must know that her niece had friends naturally concerned over her misfortune, and what possible reason could she have for believing him more than a friend?

The Rue de Babylone is a narrow and deceptively mean street threading that most conservative of quarters, the Faubourg St. Germain. To the cursory eye it presents an aspect of poverty almost sordid, so that when one penetrates its outer husk and catches sight through a yawning doorway of some green and lovely garden one is rapturously surprised as though one had found an emerald in a dung heap.

In the midst of dingy walls, Charnwood came upon a pair of immense iron gates, through whose interlaced grille could be seen a magnificent edifice of the time of Louis Quatorze. This, he saw by the number, was the residence of Comtesse de Castelmaurou. The building formed a wide U, its two sides, one of them constituting a concierge's loge, extending to the street, while the middle portion lay well back, facing a paved court and a circular flower bed. Square paned windows glinted in the fading light, their uneven glass displaying green and purple tints; beneath them were bordering boxes of multi-colored asters, in spite of which brilliant touch the great hotel had an air implacably aloof, like the dwelling of royalty.

The concierge who issued forth in response to Charnwood's ring added to this impression. Dignified, superior, like an elderly diplomat, he surveyed the visitor through gold rimmed pince-nez, sizing him up with the scarcely hidden dislike of the alien characteristic of his class. His short gray beard was trimmed to a point, in the buttonhole of his shabby black coat showed the purple ribbon of an order; a service medal dangled from his breast, and he had lost an arm.

"Mme. de Bertincourt?" repeated the old man deliberately. "Madame has just come in. Have the goodness to follow me, monsieur."

With the ceremony of an inaugural procession he preceded Charnwood around the flower bed and up the shallow stone steps. The big doors opened obsequiously, a man servant, bullet headed and basilisk eyed, blocked the way. The concierge imparted the message, the butler in turn repeated it to a pale bejeweled youth hovering behind, and in oppressive silence Charnwood waited while the latter departed on his mission.

Seldom had he felt more acutely uncomfortable. There was no suggestion that he should enter the house, the butler stood with averted eyes, a deliberately pointed presence registering veiled contempt, and even the concierge remained in attendance, as though well aware it was hardly worth while to withdraw. To make matters worse, a dried, gimlet eyed woman appeared in the doorway of the loge, knitting as imperturbably as the watchers at the scaffold, and watched him over with frank suspicion.

Minutes dragged by. The flunky reappeared, murmured something in a low voice which the butler transmitted like an announcer on the wireless.

That was all. The doors closed in his face, the concierge was already locking wide the gate.

Suddenly in the midst of his chagrin Charnwood wondered if by any chance the comtesse herself had intercepted the message. Somehow he found it hard to believe that Iris could know he was here without seeing him.

He turned back, scribbled on one of his cards: "Am in town for a few days, and have just heard of your trouble. If there is anything I can do, please let me know"—added his address, and handed the note to the concierge with the injunction to deliver it at once.

"At least she'll know," he reflected as the gates clanged to behind him. "And if the old woman reads it first she can't jump to any damaging conclusions."

Yet, to his utter bewilderment, the evening and the following day passed without so much as a word from the Rue de Babylone. Each time he telephoned he was told that madame was out—a circumstance which, if true, pained him deeply. Through the police he learned that no trace of Clare Iris had come to light, in view of which fact Iris' failure to communicate with him seemed quite incomprehensible. Surely in her present distress she must want some man to act for her, but in spite of her avowed love for him she was behaving as if he counted for nothing.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 5.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover dined tonight with the secretary of commerce and Mrs. Robert P. Lamont of Chicago in their home at 2215 Kalorama road. The other guests were the president of the United States chamber of commerce and Mrs. Julius H. Strawn, Sir Arthur Balfour, delegate from England to the international chamber of commerce sessions; Mr. and Mrs. John T. McCutcheon of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Lamont Jr. of Larkspur, Colo., and Mrs. Chauncey Belknap of New York, daughter of the hosts.

President and Mrs. Hoover received this afternoon the Colonial Dames of America, who are holding their council this week. Mrs. Hoover attended the session of the Dames this morning.

Francise Clow Prefers Study to Garden Debut

BY THALIA ——.

MISS FRANCISE CLOW, daughter of the William E. Clow Jrs. of Lake Forest, is apparently going to show the same disinclination for the conventionalities of "coming out" as did her sister, the former Beatrice Clow, now Mrs. Lloyd Laflin.

Tentative plans had been made for a garden party presentation to take place this summer at the Clows' distinctive residence, but now Miss Clow thinks she won't be having a debut this summer and she plans to go to Paris next fall to study at the Sorbonne.

Her sister, who was to have made her bow two years ago last winter, departed early that season, also to study in Paris, thereby foregoing the gayeties of a winter that was unusually gay for the debutantes, who included Bertha Palmer, Barbara King, and Betty Borden [Mrs. Robert Pirie].

Miss Francise and her schoolmate, Miss Marjorie Horton, daughter of Mrs. Samuel Rinaker, returned on Sunday from the Hacienda del Sol, near Tucson, Ariz., where they had been for the winter. The school closes earlier in the spring than most because the Arizona climate gets too hot to be conducive to study.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick is to give one of her famous dinner parties some evening next week—a Jubilee week dinner party. The date and guest list haven't been decided upon as yet.

Mrs. M. A. Barnes Too Busy to Celebrate Latest Honors.

"Busy." That's just what Mrs. Margaret Ayer Barnes and her telephone were all day yesterday after everybody who hadn't been told read that she had been awarded the Pulitzer prize for "Years of Grace," judged the year's best novel. She was so busy that she didn't even have time to celebrate. What with a wedding in the family, too—that of her niece, Janet Chase, to Mr. Hauck on Friday, she hasn't had time to make her own plans for the summer. She's hard at work on her new novel, expects to go to New York City the end of the month, and hopes to go abroad with the children this summer.

There won't be any excuse for any of the American Friends of China arriving at Mrs. Charles W. Hubbard's tea a week from Sunday afternoon with such exclamations as: "We had the worst time finding you!" because the invitations have very explicit little maps on them. They show all possible approaches, with Sheridan road, the railways, the water tower at Tower road and the lake, and the exact location of Mrs. Hubbard's house at 849 Foxdale avenue clearly indicated. The tea is so that the American Friends can see Mrs. Hubbard's collection of Chinese pewter.

Passavant Hospital Benefit Financial, Social Success.

The benefit musical arranged by the Woman's Aid society of the Passavant Memorial hospital given last night at the Bendix gallery was successful both fashionably and financially. As brilliant an assemblage as has convened in many months attended the program given by Madame Claire Dux, and the proceeds—approximately $8,000—will be nearly enough for the endowment of a free bed at Passavant.

In the audience were the board members responsible for the arrangements for the party, Mrs. Francis J. Johnson, the chairman, looking very lovely in white lace and carrying a hand bouquet of orchids, Mrs. Harry H. Shearson, Mrs. Mark Trude, Mrs. Gardiner Van Ness, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mrs. Charles King Corsant, Mrs. E. R. Fifield, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr., and Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum. Others attending, most of them having previously attended dinner parties, were Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick in silver and white brocade, Mr. and Mrs. Laurance Armour, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mr. and Mrs. I. Newton Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Eames MacVeagh, Charles Edward Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hinde, Mrs. Edward Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank and Miss Janet Fairbank, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Johnston, the George Norton Northrops, Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. J. M. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Mrs. Joseph B. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kirk, Mrs. Lockwood Honore, Mrs. Warren Ripple, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bissell, Mrs. Townsend McKeever, Mrs. Spencer Browne, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Sudler, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Eddy, and Mrs. George Magoun.

The new Mrs. Marshall Field must be a pretty good cameraman. The Field museum announcement of the receipt of a gift from the Fields of 4 lion specimens and several thousand feet of film showing African wild life says that the films, made by Mrs. Field, include some "especially good views of groups of lions amid rock dens as well as in the open." She also got some trick shots of two cheetahs in action, which is quite a stunt, as cheetahs are the fleetest of mammals. The films and the lions—a large male one between nine and 10 feet long, a female, and a pair of cubs—were bagged on the Fields' recent hunting trip in Tanganyika territory, British East Africa. The lions are to be used in a habitat group, according to Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood, the museum's curator of zoology.

Don't say we didn't tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sherman Taylor are moving today from their residence at 1244 Stone street to an apartment at 1540 Lake Shore drive and that their daughter, Miss Helen Campbell Taylor, is to go abroad in late June . . . that the Franklin P. Smiths arrived yesterday from Palm Beach and are to be at the Drake until their Lake Forest place is opened . . . that the Lake Forest flower show is to be on May 30 and 31 in the service buildings of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick's estate, that Mrs. Farwell Winston is chairman, with Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III. assisting her, and that it's to be fancier than ever because the club isn't going to have the open gardens this year . . . that boxholders for the Chicago Bach chorus tomorrow evening at Orchestra hall include Arthur Bissell, Hugo F. Simon, Mrs. William Sherman Hay, and Dr. Otto L. Schmidt.

The marriage of Miss Edna Mae Tubbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lorin Tubbs, and Charles Daniel Peacock III., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Peacock of 2600 Lake View avenue, is to take place at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of Monday, June 1, at St. Chrysostom's.

Miss Margaret Swayne is to be maid of honor for Miss Tubbs, and the bridesmaids will include Mr. Peacock's sister, Mrs. Kingsley Colton, Mrs. Henry R. Taylor, Miss Frances Paschen, and Miss Dorothy Tubbs of Hillsdale, Mich. [a cousin]. Stewart Blair Peacock, a cousin of the groom, will be his best man, and the ushers will include Alfred Langtry, Kingsley Colton, Bernard Smith, and John Scott. The wedding reception following the service is to be at the Drake hotel.

Mrs. Kenneth Fisk is opening her residence, 9918 South Irving avenue, on Saturday for a tea for prospective students of National Park seminary and their mothers, from 3 to 6 o'clock.

News assortment—More than half of the reservations for the South Shore Country club's special train to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby and French Lick have been taken. . . . McPherson Holt is a member of the new board of directors of the North Shore circuit theater to take office in June. . . . Mrs. Frederic W. Upham has a large committee working with her at Red Cross headquarters in preparation for the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Red Cross.

Buys Mother Present.

Lamar, Colo., May 4.—(AP)—Bryan Untiedt's gift for his mother, purchased while he was the guest of President Hoover at Washington last week, arrived at the Untiedt home today. It proved to be a white gold strap for her wrist watch.

Those who know the fresh sweet taste of maple sirup and sugar will rejoice with Calvin Coolidge, who said recently, "The sugar season is coming. It is time to bring out the sap buckets and the great pans. The dripping sap will make pleasant music, mingling with the cry of blue jays and complaining squirrels. And the air will be filled with incomparable flavor of new maple sirup."

The large displays of the pound blocks of new maple sugar that have been shown for the last month in confectioners', drug store, and grocery windows are indeed inspiring to cooks who can revel in the use of this incomparable sweet. When we wish to prepare some distinctive dessert or confection for either formal or informal service it is well to remember maple sugar and sirup. Fountain operators realize that maple is one of the rarest flavors that they can offer.

The housewife may feel that she cannot afford to pay 45 or 50 cents a pound for this sugar. This is rather expensive when one compares it with the price of granulated sugar, but there is no comparison in flavor. Maple sugar may be used to sweeten many kinds of desserts and confections and the cost will not be prohibitive in the average household. In foods like candies it may be combined with granulated sugar.

The flavor of maple is truly delicate, yet it is quite penetrating. It will combine with 1-3 of its weight in granulated sugar and still the flavor of the maple will predominate.

Maple sugar is especially delightful in making fudge, mousses, and sauces for ice cream sundaes. The following recipes are suggestive of maple sugar possibilities. These two recipes will enable you to use maple in the most economical way.

MAPLE BAVARIAN.

1 tbsp. gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup hot maple sirup
2 cups heavy cream whipped

Soak the gelatin 5 minutes in water. Add to the sirup and stir until dissolved. Cool, fold in cream. Fill wet mold or paper cups lined with lady fingers. Chill thoroughly.

Yield: 6 servings.

MAPLE MOUSSE.

1-3 cup maple sugar
1 tbsp. butter
¼ cup water
2 egg yolks
Pinch salt
1 cup whipping cream
½ tsp vanilla
¼ tsp. lemon juice

Grind the sugar in a food chopper. Measure carefully, packing fairly well. This amount weighs 2½ ounces. Combine sugar, butter and water and heat directly over the flame in the top part of a double boiler until the sugar dissolves. Pour mixture over well beaten egg yolks, beating rapidly to keep smooth. Add salt. Cook over boiling water 5 minutes, stirring constantly with a wooden spoon. Remove from fire. Scrape down sides of pan and stir thoroughly to see that mass is smooth. It is important to have a smooth consistency. Cool. Chill the cream thoroughly and whip until stiff. Add the vanilla and lemon juice. Fold a few spoonfuls of the whipped cream into the maple mixture and blend until smooth. Then add mixture to whipped cream. Cut and fold tightly but thoroughly with a wooden spoon. Turn into cold freezing pan and place immediately in refrigerator. Requires 3 to 8 hours to freeze.

Welsh Singers Win Applause in Concert Here

BY EDWARD MOORE.

THE Chicago Welsh Male choir appeared in concert last night at Orchestra hall under the direction of Daniel Protheroe. It is a sturdy, upstanding organization, full of vigorous voices that can, however, be modified down into many dexterous effects of either flexibility or gentle singing or both, as the occasion may demand.

In other words, it is a well trained chorus of good singers. The program was generous in its scope, covering numbers by Bach and Handel, modern part-songs, spirituals, a group brought from Wales with language intact, and some fairly extended works besides. The soloist was Attilio Baggiore, tenor, an excellent singer who would seem to believe that a good repertoire is worth using more than once.

Under the sponsorship of the Young People of the Second Presbyterian church, Edward Eigenschenck gave an organ recital last night at Kimball hall. He is an artist of more than usual ability, well versed in the music of both the ancient and modern schools, direct and dignified in the works of Bach and Handel, quite as expert in the greatly different technic of modern playing as well as in the complexities of tone color in the modern organ. He put together an interesting program and played it well.

Four hundred children from nineteen different Chicago settlements will sing in a choral concert at the Opera club, 18 West Walton place, next Saturday afternoon. The event is the seventh annual Intersettlement Music festival. Boys' and girls' choruses will appear separately and together, there will be selections by a boys' string quartet, and the little children's chorus will sing numbers from "Everything and Anything," an attractive work which has poems by Dorothy Aldis and music by Herbert E. Hyde. Poet and composer will speak, as will Daniel Protheroe, whose cantata, "The Spider and the Fly," will be sung by the girls' chorus. The choral director is Anna Kheiralla, the soloist will be Frank Dutt, and the chairman is Mrs. Charles Morgan McKenna.

Pique Touch Vital in Spring Costumes

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—It looks as though the couturiers had bought up every available piece of piqué in Paris, this spring, for white piqué trimmings appear on every type of costume from the morning dress to the evening runabout.

Piqué belts, waistcoats, scarfs, stocks, cuffs, epaulettes, bibs, whatever you can think of, in fact, help you to keep your dark wool suits or frocks looking perpetually fresh by virtue of washing, starching, and ironing.

Piqué scarfs are awfully chic with the new collarless jackets and, as careless draping doesn't go with crisp piqué, the couturiers are often thoughtful enough to put a slit or two somewhere in the coat, through which the scarf may be drawn in such a way that it stays put.

FARM AND GARDEN

SAVING VEGETABLE SEED.

How thick to plant seeds in the garden this spring may puzzle amateurs and even tax the memory of those who have years of standing and reputation as gardeners.

Thinning out usually is a tedious process, but can be curtailed greatly by following a few rules, according to Bob Adams, extension worker with the New York State College of Agriculture. Wasting of good seed is another reason for planting carefully, although seed that is old and not to be trusted as to germination may be planted thicker than usual. Similarly, beets and chard can be planted fairly thick if the thinnings are to be used for greens.

Onion sets can be placed an inch apart. "Take every other one if you want to eat them green and smelly," says Mr. Adams. Later he says every other onion can again be pulled, leaving the remainder four inches apart to make large bulbs for late summer.

One method suggested for getting the seed evenly spaced in a row is to cut a small envelope straight across the end and to shake the seed with an even, steady motion from the cut edge, which is held lengthwise of the row.

Carrots, parsnips, and parsley can be sown at the rate of five or six seeds to the inch. Beets, chard, onions, spinach, and salsify usually are planted two to four seeds to an inch.

Sometimes Boys Need a Vacation from Niceties

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

One of our columnists has created a mythical personage, "Nice Nellie," who is really not as mythical as one might think. "Nice Nellie" is the last word in gentility, in ultra refinement—quite too ladylike to be alive in this everyday world.

My young friend who has a son of 11, told this one on herself.

"You know, I love a nicely appointed table, even when I have to do the appointing myself, which is the real test.

"I thought the breakfast table looked pretty nice, the other morning. The cereal was in green pottery bowls, set on my new peasant plates, brightly colored. The glasses were green, and the butter plates green, too. And the little cockatoo salt cellar at Pete's place just gave the right touch.

"After Pete had finished his breakfast and was in the living room, I polished a rosy apple, set it on my prettiest plate and took it in. Pete gave me a dark look. 'Do I look like the kind of a guy that eats his apple from a plate?' he said.

"Well, of course Pete doesn't, so I was properly chagrined."

She laughed and sighed, "Wouldn't it be nice if our children could live in the mediaeval ages while we lived in the twentieth century?"

Don't you feel that sometimes we are a little bit "too nice" with the children? A little bit too Nice Nellyish? That the large gesture that growing manhood instinctively has is not given a free enough outlet? Do your children—particularly your boys—say to you, "Gee, I wish I lived in the time of Queen Elizabeth when you didn't have knives and forks and threw the bones under the table to the dogs." [long sigh.] "Wouldn't it be swell?" Or, "O, boy, I like vegetables all right, and milk and bread, but sometimes I'd just like to get my teeth in a large hunka roast beef and just eat nothing but that—and no table manners, either."

How would it be to give them a vacation sometimes from the maximum of table manners we try to exact, and let them "go native," once in a while? Perhaps a picnic lunch in the kitchen with the elders discreetly eating in the dining room. Or if that offends your sense of the proprieties, a dinner in the yard with "no knives nor forks, either," and a vacation from the eyes of the polite grownups will let them indulge their atavistic instincts—and allow them to come back later to the ways of civilized men with a little more resignation.

But what a costly saving it may be! What guarantee have you of the hygienic safety of this substitute, if you know nothing of its makers? Is it fit for this personal use? How was it made? Where?

When your choice is Kotex, you're backed by medical approval. The best hospitals use it. They appreciate the splendid purity of Kotex, the exacting care with which it is made.

CANTON MASSES ARMY OF 50,000 TO FIGHT CHIANG

Demands He Quit as Head of Government.

NANKING, China, May 5.—(AP)—Confronted by smouldering rebellion in Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces and widespread communistic banditry in many other provinces, the Nationalist government attempted today to consolidate the factions to support Chiang Kai-shek its head and generalissimo.

While reports poured in of mobilization of rebel forces in Canton and in Kwangtung province to drive him from the head of the government, Chiang opened the National People's congress here with a statement of the government's achievements.

Demanding that Chiang resign or fight, Canton reports said, revolutionary leaders were raising an army of 50,000 men to thrust him from the power he had gained by leading Cantonese forces to victory in 1926 and 1927 and in erecting the Nationalist government.

Chiang Sends Troops.

Chiang, other dispatches from Canton said, was sending Nationalist troops from Fukien province to combat the rebellious forces being gathered by Chen Chi-tang, military governor of Kwangtung.

Adding to the seriousness of the Canton situation, the government arsenal on the outskirts of the city was blown up mysteriously, killing ten persons and injuring many.

Addressing the National People's congress today, Chiang, ignored the incipient rebellion in the south. He reviewed the progress made by the Nationalist government and said China would do well to emulate the achievements of soviet Russia in developing industries and communications.

Martial Law in Hankow.

HANKOW, China, May 5.—(AP)—Authorities today placed administration of the city temporarily in the hands of the military as the result of radical activity arising from a movement against President Chiang Kai-shek in Kwangtung province. Continued Red depredations in this vicinity also were said by authorities to have influenced the transfer of power.

The military announced martial law would be enforced, at least during the sessions of the National People's convention at Nanking, and that disturbers of the peace and distributors of radical pamphlets would be shot at sight. All public places were ordered closed before midnight.

FRENCH CHAMBER LETS FISTS FLY OVER NEW SPAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 5.—Amid cold silence from the royalist right and the communist left, the chamber of deputies on reopening today, following the Easter vacation, passed a resolution felicitating the young Spanish republic. The measure was initiated by Edouard Herriot, radical Socialist, and received a two-thirds vote.

Discussion of the resolution resulted in a spree of fisticuffs when Andre Marty, communist and notorious as a leader of the Black sea fleet mutiny, engaged in a dispute with Toussaint Ambrosini of Marseilles, Socialist, who is better known as the "Apaché" deputy.

M. Marty called M. Ambrosini an obscene name and the Apaché legislator promptly punched Marty's nose. Marty grabbed a ballot box and broke it over Ambrosini's head, scattering blue and white ballot slips all over the place and precipitating a standup fight. The squabble was finally settled.

A big heckling party on the Austro-German customs union was then decided upon, in which Foreign Minister Briand will be compelled to defend himself. This has been arranged for Thursday.

The corridors of the chamber today were filled with whispers that M. Briand will announce his candidacy for president of the republic next week if he succeeds in repelling the Austro-German interpellations.

HONDURAS RAISES VOLUNTEER ARMY TO AVENGE MASSACRE

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, May 5.—(AP)—The federal government was gathering volunteers tonight to send against rebel forces which last week captured and looted the town of Santa Rosa and killed some 150 persons, including the entire garrison there.

Two thousand volunteers offered to serve under Gen. Pagoaga, commander of federal forces at Trujillo, but he had accepted only 500.

The rebels have moved from the town of Santa Rosa and it has been occupied by Gen. José Maria Teina.

Additional information was received here today of the severe fighting which took place before the town fell into the hands of the rebels. The attackers' casualties were placed at 56. Before evacuating the town they left 54 wounded rebels in the local hospital. Four of them have since died.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

You couldn't help admiring the businesslike way in which the Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds yesterday went about the irksome task of proceeding with their schedule. The Cubs won, of course—8 to 4 the score was—and you might say the whole matter was settled in the first three innings, giving the customers a chance to doze in the last six innings.

Of the dozen runs scored in the contest, all except one Cincinnati marker in the fifth, were rung up during the first third of the ordeal. The Cubs made four in the first inning, three in the second inning, and one in the third, and the Reds made one in the second, two in the third, and that one in the fifth.

Two for Sweetland.

Lumbrious Lester Sweetland got credit for his second victory of the season and would have accomplished a shutout had he been able to slay Nick Cullop. The big Red outfielder drove in three of the Cincy runs and scored the other one himself. He had two singles and a triple as his part of the seven hits made off our sad Floridian.

It was the fourteenth game the Reds have lost in the sixteen played this season. Every one seemed happy that the Reds were able to get past No. 14, and it now is felt that the Cincinnati fellows can go on losing indefinitely, the jinx having been eliminated in yesterday's encounter.

We hate to mention it again, but we want to be sure that you recall it was the Cincinnati Reds who knocked the Cubs out of the pennant last season. The Cubs finished two games behind the Cardinals. The Reds beat the Cubs 11 games out of 22 and they beat the Cardinals 3 games out of 22. Any child can see what that makes the Reds. So go on and feel sorry for them this year if you want to.

Reds Help Averages.

But it's mighty fine to have the 1931 Reds around, not only for the games to be won, which count full measure in the National standings, but also because the 15 hits they granted Monday and the 14 more they granted yesterday have a tendency to fatten up batting averages made lean in the recent St. Louis horror.

The tonic value of punk pitching on the averages of aspiring hitters is shown in this table which we scratched off while trying to remember something about yesterday's game.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., May 5.—Efficiency was written all over the White Sox in capital letters today. Their made-over infield functioned with the enthusiasm of collegians and the ability of major leaguers. There also was a pleasing continuity of attack and Red Faber, that 42 year old youngster, conducted a relief expedition that was beyond expectation. With all these things in their favor, the Chicagoans had no trouble defeating the Tigers in the second of the series. The score was 7 to 3.

The only tuneless note in the day's affair was Vic Frasier, the speed balling Texan. With great defensive items by Irv Jeffries and Bill Cissell to assist him, Frasier carried on effectively for four innings, but in the fifth he changed for the worse. A few hits shook him loose from his control and before the inning was over Faber had to begin wheeling his famed spit ballers up to the Tigers. He choked off that rally while the Sox still were in the lead and went along beautifully to the finish on an allowance of only one hit.

Knock Extra Base Hits.

What made the Pale Hose attack something worth talking about was their persistency in the way of extra base hits off three pitchers, Charley Sullivan, Arthur Herring and George Uhle. Sullivan found it necessary to resign in the fifth inning. By that time the Sox were well along in their work. They had five runs off him and seven hits, three of which were triples and one a double. After Sullivan's departure only four more hits were produced, but two of them were three baggers and one a double. Moreover, they were so timely that two runs resulted therefrom.

Blue hit a triple in the first inning, thereby leading the Sox to a run. Lu hit into the right field corner with one out. The Tiger infield didn't come in for a possible play at the plate; so when Fothergill bounced to Koenig it was easy for Blue to score. Another extra base hit in the second helped the Chicagoans to add one more run. Watwood doubled to right center with one gone and a bit later Kerr singled him across the plate.

Frasier Escapes Mess.

Frasier probably was lucky to be present after the home second. It started as if he'd never retire anybody, but he cleaned up the mess with only one Tiger scoring. Stone led off with a single, McManus walked and Owen beat out a bunt to fill the bases. Frasier hurdled one tough spot by in-

DERBY RATINGS.

STAKE or feature races in which Preakness or Derby candidates appear continue to change public estimation of the chances of various eligibles for these two big $50,000 stakes. The Preakness is run at Pimlico Saturday, and the Kentucky Derby at Louisville one week from next Saturday.

Owners and trainers likewise draw conclusions from these tests, but they view the performances through partisan binoculars. Therefore they can the more readily find excuses—such as poor start, or interference or bad ride—for their defeated charges. So with them it takes more than one race below par to eliminate a Derby candidate from all consideration.

So far, winter book choices, based on 2 year old form, have maintained their reputations pretty well except Equipoise. It is now conceded the Whitney colt was ill in that disappointing race, although this condition was unknown to stable connections at the time. The colt came out of the illness and will start in the Preakness unless something happens in the interval before Saturday. Then Equipoise will answer the question which the one poor race suggested.

Some of the lesser pretenders are out of it. Others of the "long shot" variety have shown enough so they'll go to the post. Uncertainties of horse racing are such that any owner who thinks he has even an outside chance is willing to pay $500 starting fee for the shot at $50,000 first money and lesser amounts for second, third or fourth.

We'll always remember 1923 when Zev was a future book choice all winter, but ran so poorly in the Preakness that his Derby chances seemingly were nullified. Then he was started in a short distance stake race just before the big event, and on that showing was shipped to Louisville. Neither Owner Harry Sinclair nor the chief trainer went west to see the Derby running, although Sinclair for years had been trying to win a Derby. Zev towroped his field, leading from start to finish. In the mutuels he paid nearly 20 to 1, although in the winter book, on the "play or pay" basis, he had been only 8 to 1 and as low as 6 to 1.

Rummage Sales.

We went to our closet for the extra pair of trousers, recently pressed, of our favorite suit. Search revealed them missing. So we donned the other wrinkled pair. Then, as the weather was warm, we sought our favorite light weight felt hat, not new but still serviceable. It was missing.

Just as we were about to emit the usual masculine "You never can find anything in this house where you leave it," a great light broke upon us. There's a rummage sale in Evanston tomorrow conducted by the Junior auxiliary of the Infant Welfare league. Mrs. Wake has some connection therewith.

So we said not a word, but if a strange person in dark goggles and other disguises appears at the sale, it's us trying to locate and buy back our own clothes. If a strange person in dark goggles does not appear, it's because we've decided some one else needs our clothes more than we do.

Equipoise to Hold Speed Test Today

Baltimore, Md., May 5.—(AP)—The stock of another Preakness candidate took a tumble today at Pimlico when Walter J. Salmon's Ladder, flashy sprinter, failed to win at a mile and a sixteenth.

The son of Ladkin-Panoply had won four in a row at six furlongs and today's test was designed to determine whether he could last the mile and three-sixteenths of the $50,000 Preakness Saturday.

Carrying only 109 pounds he ran third to Flaming and Colossal, both carrying 116 and neither nominated for the big stake.

To Hold Workouts Today.

Ladder's trial was the last in competition and likely starter in the Preakness will have before the big race. Interest of horsemen and race followers shifted to the workouts of the co-favorites, the Greentree stable's Twenty Grand and C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, and others less highly regarded.

Twenty Grand, winner of the Wood memorial last Saturday at Jamaica, and his stablemates, Surf Board and Anchors Aweigh, were tested at a half mile today by James Rowe, Greentree trainer. Twenty Grand and Anchors Aweigh were caught at :48 3-5 and Surf Board a fifth faster.

Thousands to See Equipoise.

Equipoise, Twenty Grand and the other leading candidates for the Pimlico classic are to be given real tests tomorrow. Equipoise is to round the oval with a crowd of several thousand of railbirds, for Freddie Hopkins, his trainer, plans to give him a public mile and an eighth trial between the second and third races in the afternoon to demonstrate that he recovered from the kidney ailment blamed for his poor showing in the Chesapeake stakes at Havre de Grace, when he ran last. Anchors Aweigh and four other three year olds led him to the wire in that event.

B'AR HUNTER AND BAROMETER.

E. R. Bradley Entry.

Sad news is in store for folks who win a bet on the Kentucky Derby only when Col. Edward R. Bradley's green and white jacket is carried to victory.

For it doesn't look like a Bradley year. There isn't a Behave Yourself, a Bubbling Over, or a Blue Larkspur in Bradley's noted racing establishment this season. Some 3 year olds are to be found there to be sure, but from the way they have been running—well, they're just 3 year olds.

B'ar Hunter is probably the chief hope of Owner Bradley. Barometer is the other string in the Bradley Derby bow. But not much of a string perhaps, for an old selling plater like Kadiak trimmed him at Churchill Downs the other day.

Barometer didn't amount to hardly anything as a 2 year old. He started against the stars of his age but they always were tossing a lot of dust into his eyes. He began his 3 year old campaign in much the same fashion. Still a maiden and likely to be one for some time his early races indicate.

B'ar Hunter might be a fair kind of a colt. The Bradley connections always were expecting great things of him as a 2 year old. Early in his career he won a few races. But in the fall, when asked to hook up with Equipoise, Mate, Twenty Grand, and the topliners of his division he failed and failed badly.

Both colts have trained nicely in Kentucky this spring and perhaps their early efforts should not be taken any too seriously, for it has always been Bradley's policy to bring his young horses along slowly. He particularly likes to race his Derby candidates into condition.

B'ar Hunter is a Bradley homebred, being a son of Black Servant-Bit of White. For that reason, Bradley probably would rather capture the prize with this colt. But, regardless of what Owner Bradley would rather do, he's not likely to win this year's Derby.

YANKEES BLAST SENATOR JINX AND HOW! 18 TO 8

Bombard Four Pitchers for 19 Hits.

New York, May 5.—(AP)—The New York Yankees slugged out an 18 to 8 triumph over the Washington Senators today. In subduing their jinx team, the Yankees pounded four pitchers for nineteen hits, including home runs by Gehrig and Reese.

Babe Ruth played three innings and contributed a 450-foot drive to the flag pole with the bases full in the second inning. He got only a double out of it. Chapman drove in five runs with two singles and a double. Score:

French Boxers to Reach U. S. Today for Golden Glove Bouts

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ABOARD S. S. FRANCE, May 5.—Ten French fist fighters, the best of all the boy amateurs in France, are all of a titter this evening as La France skims over a mill pond sea, anticipating their first glimpse of the fabled New York where the buildings invade the sky to a height only an imaginative liar can conjure. At about 9 o'clock tomorrow morning they will for the first time set foot on the soil of the United States. They are bound for Chicago to fight the composite Chicago-New York Golden Gloves team on May 12 as guests of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE as a climax to the fourth year of the greatest amateur boxing competition in the world.

The team which left the Gare St. Lazare, Paris last Wednesday with a band composed of gendarmes, mostly ex-soldiers, playing the Star Spangled Banner and the Marseillaise, consists with only one exception, of working boys.

Follow Many Callings.

Gabriel Lerat, featherweight, a machinist, of thin features dark eyes and an awkward style, but probably the greatest competitive fighter of the team.

Available Today at 3 Tribune Offices.

BY ARCH WARD.

The greatest bargain in the history of boxing is offered Chicago today.

THE TRIBUNE at 9 o'clock this morning will place 50,000 tickets on sale for the international bouts between France and America at Soldiers' field next Tuesday. The price is 50 cents.

Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street.

South Side Public Service office, 1101 East 63d street.

50,000 Held Till Tuesday.

Decision to place the tickets on sale today instead of holding all of the 100,000 until the day of the match, as planned, was made to minimize congestion at the gates. The fan who buys his ticket in advance can save time Tuesday night. In event the show is moved indoors on account of rain or cold weather, the admission price will be refunded.

General admission tickets will remain on sale at THE TRIBUNE'S three Public Service offices until Tuesday noon, or until the supply is exhausted. Fifty thousand will be held until the day of the fights to accommodate those unable to obtain tickets in advance.

If you accept the word of boxing authorities, the French-American bouts will draw the largest crowd that has seen a match since Tunney defended his title against Dempsey in the same arena. They are certain to establish a new record for attendance at an amateur show.

Demand Is Unprecedented.

Twice this spring Golden Glove fans have taxed the capacity of the largest indoor hall in the world. Twenty-three thousand saw the champions of Chicagoland crowned on March 11 and the same number watched the Chicago boys punch the champions of New York to a 13 to 3 defeat on April 2.

It had been planned to hold the international bouts indoors. But the demand for tickets was unprecedented. It was obvious a day after announcement of the match that Chicago Stadium would be unable to handle the throng. So THE TRIBUNE decided to gamble with the weather and moved the show outdoors.

Carpenters have been working for a week constructing a ringside which will correspond as nearly as possible to the seating arrangement at the Stadium. They will finish their task Friday. The ringside section includes 21,000 reserved seats, all of which have been sold.

Clear View Assured.

The occupant of every seat at Soldiers' field will have an unobstructed view of the ring which will be built on the 50 yard line of the football field. Persons fortunate enough to obtain a 50 cent seat in the center of the permanent stands on either side of the field would have paid $30 for the same location at the Dempsey-Tunney bout. There is no 50 cent seat which would have cost less than $10 at the professional show.

The French team will land in New York this morning. After a luncheon at the Pennsylvania hotel the party will leave for Chicago on the Broadway Limited. They will arrive at the Union station tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock Chicago time.

Mayor to Welcome French.

Charles de Ferry de Fontnouvelle, French consul; Henri Bougearel, vice consul, and twenty French soldiers in uniform will be among the reception party when the French fighters reach Chicago. The bugle and drum corps of the Medill post of the American Legion and the American Golden Gloves team also will be there.

The French boxers will be escorted down Jackson boulevard to La Salle street and north on La Salle to the city hall where they will receive Chicago's welcome from Mayor Cermak.

REACH NEW YORK TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—The French Golden Gloves team, the first ever to invade America in quest of boxing glory, will set foot on American soil tomorrow morning.

After a view of the city from the water they will land at the Battery, where a fleet of automobiles escorted by the police will run them up Broadway to Union square. Then they go up 5th avenue to Central park and through the park to 110th street, where they will again head south on Riverside drive and go to the Hotel Pennsylvania, where at 12:30 there will be an official luncheon attended by the French committee, city officials, and members of the state athletic commission.

The greeting at city hall has been omitted, due to the fact that the boys are making the Broadway Limited for Chicago, leaving at 3 p. m. With them will be Yustin Sirutis and Phil Dardell, New York Golden Gloves heavyweight and welterweight champions, who are New York representatives on the American team.

Cubs' Early Attack Beats Reds Again, 8-4

order still shows some pretty timid stuff, but the Reds will be here two more days and high hopes are held that the Cubs eventually will have four or five .300 hitters, instead of the three now above the cherished deadline.

About Those 3 Innings.

Now we'll set down a few words about those three active innings yesterday:

In the first inning, with Frey pitching, English singled to center and Hornsby got the first of his three passes. Wilson singled to center, English scoring, Hornsby taking third and Hack proceeding to second on the throw in. Stephenson walked, filling the bases. Hartnett smashed a long hit to center, but the Cubs became confused, as they so frequently do when runners get on base. There was a stack up on the lines, but Hornsby scored and, by much research and scrambling about, Wilson, Stephenson, and Hartnett each managed eventually to find a base that was not occupied by some other runner, thanks to the fact that first was left uncovered when both Stevie and Gabby found themselves on second base simultaneously, giving Gabby a chance to retreat.

As soon as order had been restored, Bell smacked a single to left which scored Wilson and Stephenson. Grimm hit into a double play, the first of three double plays of which the Cubs were victims during the afternoon.

Hits by Cullop and Roettger and a force play scored a run for the Reds in the second, after which Sweetland led off the Cub half with a double to left center and scored on Cuyler's triple. Benton relieved Frey and Cuyler held third while Cuccinello threw out English, and Hornsby walked. Wilson fanned, and Hornsby stole second. Then Stevie, who hadn't made a base hit in twenty trips to the plate, stepped up and cracked a single to left which scored Cuyler and Hornsby. Hartnett popped to Cuccinello.

Bell Scores Last Run.

In the third inning Cullop drove home Sigafoos and Roush with a single to left, whereupon the Cubs made their final run of the day. Bell singled off Sigafoos' glove, went to third on Grimm's single to right and scored while Grimm and Sweetland were going down in a double play.

In the fifth Cuccinello doubled with two out and went home on Cullop's triple. Then English threw out Roettger.

From the fifth on the principal thing was the business of keeping Charley Grimm busy. Charley had 18 putouts, as compared with nine distributed among the rest of the team.

Baecht is scheduled to work today, but there may be a switch to Bob Smith.

Faber's Arm Improves with Age, It Seems

ducing Schang to foul to Blue. Sullivan's grounder to Jeffries forced Owen at second, Stone going home. Simons then dashed in to get a short fly off Johnson's bat and the inning closed.

The barrage that sent three Sox runners scooting across the plate in the fifth was not without its touch of humor. Blue walked with one out and made the circuit on a triple to right center by Fothergill. Fatty Bob made a headlong dive for the base, but instead of sliding into the bag, made the last few feet by bouncing, the point of contact being his extensive abdomen. After shaking the dirt off his pants Bob hiked home on Simon's single to right. Then Simons scored on Watwood's triple to the right field wall. Herring relieved Sullivan and the fun stopped.

Frasier Goes to Showers.

Detroit's last two runs in the fifth started with a hit by Johnson. He was forced by H. Walker, who dashed to third on Koenig's double down the right field line. Then Frasier began to show signs of crumbling. He walked Alexander, and the bases were loaded. He walked Stone and H. Walker scored. McManus popped out and when Owen drew a pass, forcing Koenig to score, Frasier was excused and Old Man Faber brought the inning to a conclusion by getting pinch batter Gehringer on a pop to short.

Fothergill, figuratively and literally, was the heavy man in the harvesting of a Chicago run in the sixth, making the count 6 to 3. Kerr opened with a walk and when Faber's intended bunt became a pop-up, Kerr got down to second by stealing. Jeffries fouled out and Blue walked. Herring also started to walk Fothergill, but before he could complete it he was chased in favor of Uhle. Fothergill showed his appreciation over the switch by drawing a two bagger to the score board in left center, Kerr scoring and Blue halting at third. A pass to Cissell jammed the bases but everybody died when Simons hoisted to H. Walker.

Caraway on Mound Today.

As a fitting climax the Chicago boys shoved over one more run in the ninth. This was an affair between Simons and Kerr. The former led off with a two base drive past Alexander and was sacrificed to third by Watwood. Tate bounced to McManus and Simons was run down but not until Tate had reached second. Then Kerr drove the runner home on a triple to right.

Pat Caraway, already the owner of three straight victories, will tackle the Tigers in the third of the series tomorrow. Manager Bush also will have available the services of Carl Reynolds who came on from Chicago after shaking off a heavy cold. He will supplant Fothergill. Bridges will pitch for the Tigers.

JOHNNY RISKO PUNCHES BAER INTO DEFEAT

Cleveland, O., May 5.—(AP)—With well directed blows to his opponent's body and head, veteran Johnny Risko tonight won a judge's decision over young Max Baer of Los Angeles after a ten round bout in Public hall before 7,000.

Outweighed 204 pounds to 195, Risko survived several hard rights to the head early in the fight and came out of clinches to nail Baer with telling wallops that held things fairly even until the eighth. He then piled up a winning margin in the final two rounds.

Risko blocked many of Baer's hard right swings and although he was wrestled to the floor twice in the clinches, always came up with both fists swinging to Baer's mid section or jaw.

Lewis Faces Judson with No Mat Title

The outcome of Strangler Lewis' bout with Henri Deglane Monday at Montreal has altered the circumstances under which Lewis will wrestle Frank Judson a week from tonight at the Coliseum. Monday's contest was awarded to Deglane after Lewis had bitten him on the wrist in the excitement of battle.

As a result, Deglane fell heir to Lewis' world heavyweight title claim, leaving Judson little to grapple for next week. However, a victory will put him in a position to demand a meeting with Deglane.

Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star, will clash with John Plummer, sturdy Iowan, in the semi-windup. Savoldi has had seven matches since he turned pro and has won them all.

Opponents have not yet been named for Hank Bruder, former Northwestern football star, and Lloyd Burdick.

The other giant is Jim Clinkstock, the belligerent Indian who exchanges grips with Ray Steele of California.

George Zaharias and Frank Bronowicz will meet in the feature bout of the evening. Opponents have not yet been signed for Jim McMillen and Jack Smith.

DUBLINSKY TAKES LENNY'S PLACE ON FIGHT CARD

Will Meet Grogan Friday in Stadium Bout.

Harry Dublinsky, Chicago lightweight, gained one of his chief desires yesterday when Matchmaker Nate Lewis signed him to meet Tommy Grogan of Omaha at the Stadium Friday night.

Dublinsky has been after a Grogan match for several months, following his defeat by the westerner in Detroit last winter. The match was made possible when Ralph Lenny, Jersey City lightweight, telegraphed that he was unable to pass the commission's physical examination.

Grogan refused to meet Dublinsky when Friday's card was first arranged, selecting Lenny as a more suitable opponent. Lenny's inability to appear resulted in Lewis offering Grogan the Dublinsky match or withdrawing from the card. Grogan accepted rather than miss an opportunity to appear in the Stadium.

Reverses Bernard Decision.

Dublinsky achieved a notable victory on the Tony Canzoneri-Jack Berg championship card two weeks ago when he whipped Roger Bernard. Bernard previously had outpointed him, and Dublinsky took occasion in their last meeting to avenge the defeat in a thorough manner. His showing was so impressive that Lewis immediately began to consider him for a bout with Canzoneri and Billy Petrolle.

If he wipes out the Grogan defeat Friday night he will be among the leading contenders for the title match. Dublinsky started out as one of the best prospects in the division, but fell into a competitive lethargy that prevented advancement. In his last few bouts, however, he has displayed less timidity and has begun to slug with his better opponents. Not possessed of a knockout punch, he can hit, nevertheless, and the sting he carries has accounted for several important victories, particularly the Bernard triumph.

French Fighters to Attend.

Lewis announced yesterday that the French amateur champions, who meet the Golden Glove titleholders at Soldiers' field next Tuesday would be the guests of the Stadium at Friday's fight.

Emmett Rocco, the blustery Italian heavyweight, who meets King Levinsky in one half of the double windup, arrived yesterday and took a workout at Mullen's gym.

Grogan and Davey Abad, Filipino puncher, who meets Danny Dubois in the other eight round supporting number, are due today. They will take a workout and then ease up until the fight. Both have been in fights in the last two weeks and are in good shape. Grogan stopped Herman Perlich in two rounds a week ago.

Yanks Sweep Tennis Series with Mexico

MEXICO CITY, May 5.—(AP)—The United States tucked away the first two Davis cup matches with Mexico today to sweep the five match series and then sent out two of its youngsters to play the most exciting tennis of the last five days.

Frank X. Shields of New York, who played the major rôle in the United States victory, and Sidney B. Wood Jr., also of New York, staged an exhibition after the final two Davis cup singles and battled as though the Davis cup instead of the Chapultepec cup depended on it through two terrific sets.

DENEMARK RACE HORSES DECIDE IT'S THEIR DAY

Burning Up and Hogan's Dance Whip Favorites.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Chicago west siders who follow the ups and downs of Emil Denemark's fine horses had a big afternoon at the Aurora track yesterday. The Denemark color bearers accounted for two races and in each instance a heavily backed favorite was beaten.

It was Denemark's Burning Up, a castoff from Edward R. Bradley's turf house, which accounted for the best race of the program, the Piano claiming purse at 5½ furlongs, and it was Denemark's Hogan's Dance, a son of fleet old Wesley Hogan, which started the west siders off to prosperity by winning the opening race.

The favorites to go down before the rush of the Denemark horses were Mote, which bit the dust when Hogan's Dance dashed past him soon after the stretch run started in the first race, and Jack Howe, who folded up and quit when Burning Up burned up the racing strip as he dashed down the stretch for home in the Piano purse.

Jack Howe Quits.

Jack Howe's heart can't be much larger than an undergrown peanut. He probably has quit in the stretch oftener than any other horse that you can think of. Yet now and then he was in need of oats, and those very infrequent victories seem to make him a favorite every time he goes to the post.

Burning Up might develop into a real smart race horse, for those which trailed him home yesterday were all older and Burning Up was giving them all weight. He never left the result in doubt and sailed to the front soon after the start came. Only once did anybody threaten his advantage. That was when Jack Howe, the quitter, pulled up and tried to glance into Burning Up's eye. But Jack made a mistake; he was gazing at Burning Up's shoulder. Then he decided to quit.

Llolele Wins a Race.

And no wonder those west siders who backed such outstanding winners shouted. Hogan's Dance paid $14.56 and Burning Up was good for $8.46 for each two dollars invested. A parley on them figured about $30 to $1, and the west siders, when they get two such good things, usually parley them.

Chicagoans will remember Llolele. He showed a couple of marvelous speed efforts at Hawthorne last fall. Then he dropped in the background, but showed up in the second race at Aurora yesterday and made a show of his field, displaying all the dash of his nimble footed daddy, Easter Bells. It was hardly a contest once Jockey Richard shook Llolele into the lead a few dozen jumps after he was in motion. Waterport was a distant second, getting up just in time to head My Sweets for the place money.

Uncle Sam Uses Planes to Scout Forest Blazes

BY BOB BECKER.

Argonne National Forest, Three Lakes, Wis., May 5.—[Special.]—Uncle Sam provided a nice touch to our trout fishing this afternoon, although from Uncle's point of view the incident was just plain work.

We were fishing the headwaters of the Brule, a stream which makes its beginning in a magnificent stand of virgin timber. Jack Mylrea of Rhinelander, Wis., was in a canoe with us, because the water behind a beaver dam was too deep to wade. About thirty feet away E. W. Tinker, district forester of the lake states, and Malcolm Jeffries of Rhinelander were busy with their rods and lures as they tried to interest the brook trout in a sporting proposition.

Suddenly we heard the roar of an airplane motor. Looking beyond the tall hemlocks and spruces we saw a plane coming out of the west about 500 feet high. A heavy wind, the forerunner of a rip snorting thunderstorm, was sending this plane along at a dizzy clip.

"That's the forestry service's plane," called Tinker as he looked up. "I have an observer covering this country today to see if he can detect any forest fires. Great way to spot 'em, you know—from the air. As far as I know you are looking at the first official reconnaissance ever made from the air by the forestry service in this state."

The plane veered to the east and disappeared beyond a hill. In a few minutes it came back much lower, rocking in the wind which struck it from the side. The ship passed over us as the observer waved a greeting and then, continuing southward ahead of a bank of ominous rain clouds, it disappeared again over the virgin timber.

As it vanished from sight Tinker told how five fires in one day in this new national forest unit had him worried because the north country has been as dry as timber. With a new forest just staring it was no time to have a fire set back the reforestation project which the government is working on.

Two minutes later we had to change the subject from trout fishing and national forests to the question of keeping dry in a thunderstorm because the threatening storm broke with a vengeance.

Everybody paddled to shore, dragged their canoes to dry land, turned them over, and with rain drops pelting down there was a quick scramble to crawl under the canoes. From this shelter all of us cheered the rain, which was badly needed to reduce the menace of forest fires.

The brook trout struck beautifully before this storm. Two of the boys in this party sloshed their way down stream to some good fishing water and caught their limits just before the rain and hail began to fall.

TALKS OF TWO LEADERS STIR GREAT INTEREST

But Have Little Effect on Chicago Prices.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The speeches of two outstanding figures in the financial world yesterday—one dealing directly with the stock exchange and the other treating in general terms the current business outlook—stirred great interest in market circles yesterday, but had little appreciable influence on price movements.

The Mellon speech came late in the day when the Chicago market was already sagging moderately under the weight of increasing professional liquidation which was inspired by the dip in stocks in New York. Traders were anxious to find a clue in the Mellon speech on how the future stacks up and when the report of the address was flashed to the floor it caused a mild wave of excitement.

Finds Hostile Sentiment.

The assertions of Melvin A. Traylor before the International Chamber of Commerce proved something of a bomb shell to the traders generally. While exchange officials declined to comment on the banker's statement, as might be expected, there was general hostility on the part of brokers and speculators to the sentiments expressed.

Some brokers were inclined to agree with part of the speech, but there was general opposition to the Traylor recommendation that floor trading be abolished and small margin accounts be prohibited. That serious consideration may be given the proposal to substitute some sort of periodic settlement for the present daily loan system was indicated in the informal comments made by brokers and bankers on that particular section of the Traylor broadside.

During most of the day the ticker moved slowly, recording small volume of business transacted on the Chicago exchange. Some $2,000 odd shares were involved in the deals. Such shares as Bendix and Borg Warner followed the trend of the New York market closely and ended up with minor losses.

Marshall Field Dividend.

The declaration of the regular quarter dividend by Marshall Field occasioned no surprise as officials had previously announced the $2 annual rate would be maintained. The quarterly report by John R. Thompson company was about in line with expectations. The chain restaurant firm had sales in the first quarter of $3,451,356, as compared with $3,783,585 in the corresponding period last year. Net profit for the three months' period was $317,831 which was equivalent to 72 cents a share on the capital stock outstanding. This compared with net profit of $301,727 or $1 a share in the first quarter of 1930.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Production of Illinois Steel company, United States Steel corporation subsidiary, last week showed a slight increase over the previous two weeks, resulting largely from increased specifications on contracts by automobile manufacturers.

David Sarnoff, president of Radio corporation of America, said at the annual meeting that while business in the radio industry has suffered in common with other industries, operations in the last three months have picked up.

Imports of hides during March were considerably larger than February, while exports showed a decline, statistics compiled by the New York Hide Exchange show. March imports were 145,000 hides, against 80,000 hides in February, while exports in March amounted to 80,000 hides, a decline of 5,000 hides from the previous month.

Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company has obtained a $250,000 order from the Safe Harbor Water Power corporation for circuit breaker equipment.

Panama Canal tolls totaled $2,014,349 in April against $1,964,434 in March and $2,232,763 in April, 1930.

Low prices and an almost complete cessation in demand for domestic coal occurred in the bituminous markets of the country in April, Coal Age reports. Consumer buying was of the hand-to-mouth variety, and dealers refused to lay in stocks even with the added inducement of lower prices.

SURVEY SHOWS PROSPECTS FOR COMING MONTHS

Upturn Hinges Upon Uncertain Lines.

BY O. A. MATHER.

What are the prospects for trade and industry during the remainder of 1931? A survey of thirty-odd lines made by the Standard Statistics company indicates unusual uncertainty as summer looms. The number of industries with a better outlook is balanced by others with unfavorable prospects and so it is the considerable number of lines now in the uncertain category that will swing the scale for good or ill.

The analysis of the outlook for the most important lines follows:

AGRICULTURAL MACHINERY—With further shrinkage in farm purchasing power in prospect for 1931, there is little basis on which to found expectations of early improvement.

Expects Replacement Demand.

APPAREL—Replacement demand should assume increasing importance as the year progresses and production should continue to expand.

AUTOMOBILES—First quarter earnings statements reveal a generally unfavorable comparison with last year, but an encouraging factor is the showing of various producers whose volume has been reduced but who have managed to report at least a small profit. Major recovery in parts company earnings are likely to be delayed until the motor car industry experiences a marked revival.

BUILDING—Considering the industry as a whole, it is apparent that the bottom level has not been passed. A reversal of trend is not expected before the second half of the year at the earliest.

CHEMICALS—Price recovery will be relatively slow and earnings will continue restricted during the near future.

COAL—The bituminous industry is approximately scraping bottom and there is little reason to expect a revival before the third quarter, at least.

COPPER—A sustained expansion in demand is necessary to materialize higher quotations for the metal, and it is unlikely that such improvement will develop before the fall months at the earliest.

Have Good Prospects.

FOOD PRODUCTS—Leading producers of nationally advertised package foods, as well as specialty bakers, will probably earn nearly as much this year as they did last year, while dairy products manufacturers have prospects of fully maintaining the income levels of 1930.

HOUSEHOLD PRODUCTS—Leading manufacturers of matches, soap, and refrigerators are likely to report 1931 profits fully equal to those of last year.

MEAT PACKING—Until comparative price stability prevails, packers will have little opportunity to operate at a satisfactory rate profitwise.

PETROLEUM—The demoralized situation in crude oil prices continues to overshadow the industry with no definite signs of alleviation yet apparent.

Outlook for Radio.

SUGAR—Profits of most producers will probably remain at greatly depressed levels.

TOBACCO—Though an earnings reduction for cigar companies is expected during the first half year, the decline should not be unusually severe.

Estimate 20% Increase in April Auto Output

New York, May 5.—(AP)—April automobile production by members of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, representing all important manufacturers, except Ford, is estimated at 231,017 units, an increase of 20 per cent over March, but a decrease of 12 per cent from the like month last year. During the first four months this year production by members of the organization was 701,171 cars and trucks, against 906,580 for the corresponding period of 1930.

H. J. Klinger, vice president and general sales manager of Chevrolet Motor company, said May production will at least equal the April total of about 106,000 units and may run as high as 110,000.

April sales of Studebaker corporation totaled 7,096 cars, an increase of 19 per cent over the 5,980 sold in April, last year, and were reported the best for any month since September, 1929.

Auburn Adds Dealers.

The Auburn Automobile company added 231 new dealers and distributors in April, bringing the company's total new dealer and distributor representation added since Jan. 4 to 604. N. E. McDarby, vice president in charge of sales, announced.

March automobile financing in the wholesale division totaled $63,024,127, against $49,848,876 in February and $77,647,813 in March, 1930. Retail financing in March this year amounted to $91,970,730, as compared with $66,304,773 in February and $123,723,106 in March a year ago.

Mack Trucks had net loss of $178,737 in the first quarter, contrasting with profit of $490,709, or 64 cents a share, in the same period of last year. A statement by the company said that although operations in January and February of this year had been at "a very low rate," there had been an increased volume in March, which returned an operating profit.

CUT FREIGHT RATES

Washington, D. C., May 5.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today authorized southwestern lines to reduce freight rates on automobiles to meet "drive away" competition.

The authorization was contained in a decision in the consolidated southwestern cases permitting reduction in rates on oil well supplies, glass bottles and various other articles to, from and between southwestern points.

Simultaneously with handing down of this decision, the commission received an application from southwestern lines asking reopening of rates for petroleum products in the same territory.

The railroads advised the commission that petroleum and petroleum product rates could not be considered apart from what they called chaotic and unpredictable conditions in the oil industry due to overproduction.

Cite Competition.

They said that transportation of gasoline by pipe line was an actuality, and that waterways were getting more and more of the business. Motor truck and pipe line competition, not being restricted as to rates, they added, was cutting heavily into their business.

The commission, in its decision authorizing filing of reduced rates on automobiles, applied the same condition it applied yesterday in the cotton rate case to meet truck competition. The hauls are limited to 500 miles and are to be made at carload rail rates and the rates are to be filed with the commission subject to suspension and investigation if considered necessary.

WORLD BANK AGREES ON PLAN TO ASSIST TRADE

BRUSSELS, May 5.—(AP)—A subcommittee of the Bank for International Settlements today approved a report on methods by which it is hoped to assist international transactions by granting long and average term credits.

The committee's approval was unanimous, but the report has no effect until it is approved by the management of the bank, to which it will be presented on May 18.

Representatives of British, French, German, Italian and Belgian banks compose the committee. Two sessions re held yesterday but the discussions were not revealed. Karl Melchoir, director of the Warburg bank in Hamburg, Germany, attended.

Board of Trade Suspends Three at Night Session

At a night session of the Chicago Board of Trade directors last night Mose Singer, a pit trader, was suspended for thirty days and A. K. Ruxton for sixty days, while G. W. Bevan was suspended for six months under the provisions of rules 150 and 202 regulating trading irregularities in executing orders.

The charge against the trio was violation of the brokerage rule which requires that all trades made in the pits must pay a brokerage.

The case grew out of manipulation of the clearing house sheets by William Cheney, a clerk employed by the Uhlmann Grain company. To carry out his plan it was necessary for Cheney to make numerous trades through brokers. The irregularity shown by the clearing sheets was discovered last November by L. E. Fitz of the federal grain futures administration. Cheney is not a member of the Board of Trade, and it is said that he will be prosecuted by the government officials under provisions of the grain futures act.

WALGREEN DRUG SALES UP 9.8% DURING APRIL

Sales of Walgreen drug stores for April of this year were $4,664,478, as against $4,247,633 for April, 1930, an increase of $416,845, or 9.8 per cent.

For the four months of 1931 sales were $17,762,086, as against $17,141,349 for the same period in 1930, an increase of $620,736, or 3.6 per cent. The total number of stores being operated at April 30 was 446.

Freight Car Loadings Show Slight Recession

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 5.—Loadings of revenue freight for the week ending April 25 totaled 759,272 cars, the car service division of the American Railway association announced today. This was a decrease of 730 cars below the preceding week this year, with decreases being reported in the total loading of all commodities except coal, ore, and live stock, which showed increases.

The total for the week of April 25 also was a reduction of 147,607 cars under the corresponding week last year and a reduction of 292,613 cars below the same week two years ago. Miscellaneous freight loading for the week of April 25 totaled 313,513 cars, a decrease of 616 cars below the preceing week this year and 56,295 cars below the corresponding week of 1930. It also was a decrease of 103,288 cars below the same week in 1929.

Reapprove Refinancing Plan of Burns Brothers

Stockholders of Burns Brothers Coal company yesterday reapproved the refinancing plan proposed by the management. It provides for the sale of $9,000,000 5 per cent notes and the reduction of the stated value of the class "A" common stock to $60 a share from $100 and the reduction of the stated value of the class "B" common stock to $10 from $40.

VACUUM OIL COMPANY REDUCES DIVIDEND TO $2 ANNUAL BASIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—Net profits of the Vacuum Oil company in 1930, including dividends from foreign marketing companies which exceeded their actual earnings by $6,084,464, were $20,393,487, or $3.62 a share on 5,626,558 $25 par shares outstanding at the end of the year, against $35,767,628, or $6.96 a share in 1929. There was a deficit of $2,240,735, after dividends, against a surplus of $14,976,730 in 1929.

The company yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, placing its stock on a $2 basis, against $4 paid previously.

Directors of the Crown Zellerbach corporation have declared a dividend of 75 cents a share, payable June 1, on account of the quarterly dividend due on series A and B $6 preference stocks and recommended to the board of directors of the Crown Willamette Paper company that a dividend of $1 a share be declared, payable July 1, on account of the quarterly dividend due on the first preferred stock of that company. This will automatically defer second preferred dividends of the latter company, as the first preferred is cumulative up to $7 annually.

E. L. De Colyer, chairman of the board of the Amerada corporation, told stockholders at the annual meeting today that "We see no reason now for the failure to maintain the current dividend basis. Our first quarter business was better than the corresponding period last year, when we had a slight deficit."

General American Securities, Inc., announced that coupon No. 2 on Associated National Shares was entitled to a distribution of $.24647 a share.

Directors of the Ohio Oil company voted to omit the quarterly dividend due at this time. Three months ago the dividend was cut from 50 cents to 25 cents on common. Directors declared the regular quarterly $1.50 preferred dividend.

Munsingwear, Inc., directors have reduced the annual dividend basis of the stock to $2 from $3 by declaring three quarterly dividends of 50 cents each for the three remaining quarters of this year.

Asks Permission to Scan Sutro Books in Stock Suit

New York, May 5.—(AP)—James J. V. Fleming filed a motion today in the Supreme court for permission to examine certain books of Sutro & Co., suspended stock exchange firm. Fleming is suing the firm for $30,000, representing losses he alleges he sustained by speculating in Manhattan Electric Supply company last year.

Construction crews are now at work along Western avenue south of Flossmoor and west of Chicago Heights laying a section of the 950 mile, $75,000,000 pipe line which is to bring natural gas from the Texas Panhandle to the Chicago district. Rapid progress is being made and gas company officials predict that by early winter natural gas will be used to help cook Chicago's food and to run its factories.

Already the pipe line has been carried across the Mississippi south of Muscatine, and it is being worked across Illinois toward Joliet.

When delivered to the Chicago area the natural gas is to be mixed with manufactured gas. The natural gas is to be delivered to the 98th street and Crawford avenue plants of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company for mixture.

Encounter Dredging Problems.

The six mile main to carry the natural gas from the city limits at 138th street, near Green Bay road, to the 98th street plant will be completed within a few weeks. This work involves a cost of about $1,650,000.

The Chicago section of the line follows the Pennsylvania railroad right of way from 138th street to 110th street, where it runs west to Avenue N and north on Avenue N to 100th street, where it crosses the Grand Calumet river to the 98th street plant.

A number of unusual difficulties have been encountered in running the pipe to Chicago. The section traversed between the city limits and 110th street runs through swamp land and parts of the six foot trench often filled with water as fast as it was dredged. Plank roads had to be laid for the workmen and machines. The crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad right of way at 123d street was through quicksand which necessitated construction of special dams and special pumping devices.

Thousands Get Employment.

The construction job throughout its length is giving work to thousands of men, both directly and indirectly. Two hundred nine thousand tons of 24 inch steel pipe are being used—or about 8,500 carloads. It is estimated that 75,000,000 cubic feet of earth will have been removed—enough for a mound 25 feet wide and 15 feet high running from the loop to Waukegan.

Before the mixed gas can be used in Chicago the 9,000,000 burners in service in the district will have to be adjusted. A force of 2,000 men will be trained to do this work with a minimum of delay when the new gas goes into the mains.

It is expected that the mixed gas also will be used in the suburbs served by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

QUARTERLY NET OF ALL ROADS IS $106,400,000

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Net operating income for all railroads for the first quarter this year amounted to approximately $106,400,000, a decline of 39.7 per cent from $176,428,272, reported for the corresponding period last year.

The March figure was in the neighborhood of 25.8 per cent below last year, while at the close of February net operating income showed a decline of 47 per cent from the like period of 1930. The March improvement was attributed to the ability of the roads to cut expenses, rather than to an upturn in gross.

Bank Commission Against "Trade Area" Branch Plan

New York, May 5.—(AP)—The American Bankers' association economic policy commission in its report on current banking problems, released today, opposed the "trade area" branch banking plan proposed by Controller of Currency J. W. Pole. R. S. Hecht, president of Hibernia Bank and Trust company of New Orleans, is chairman of the commission.

The Pole plan would permit national banks to operate state-wide and interstate branches. The commission attacked the plan as an "anti-state bank policy" and said it would ruin the dual banking system. The commission, however, favored limited increases in branch banking for both state and national banks. It reported slight growth in branch banking last year and marked reduction in the number of banks in the nation.

Belgian Congo CopperMine Managers Arrive in U. S.

New York, May 5.—(AP)—F. Pisart and Camille Gutt, managers of the Katanga copper mines in the Belgian Congo, who were in the United States last fall for a series of conferences on copper production curtailment, returned today on the liner Majestic. Their present visit, they said, was routine. The executives said the present curtailment of copper production had reduced the world supply some 40,000 tons, but the industry still was suffering from the world economic depression.

Crude Oil Production Gains 50,800 Barrels

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 50,800 barrels in the week ended May 2, totaling 2,475,100 barrels, the American Petroleum institute's weekly summary indicates. Daily average production east of California increased 52,400 barrels to 1,948,600 barrels.

Refiners representing 95.7 per cent of estimated total capacity, operated at 67.2 per cent of their capacity reported daily average runs of crude oil to stills as 2,399,300 barrels. Daily average the previous week for refineries representing 95.7 per cent of total, operated at 68.1 per cent of capacity, was 2,432,900 barrels. Gasoline stocks at these refineries were 45,613,000 barrels against 46,451,000 barrels.

Appalachian Gas Enlarges Holdings in Satellites

Appalachian Gas corporation's stock holdings in subsidiary and affiliated companies now average over 83 per cent, according to the official statement issued yesterday. When the corporation a year ago first became an active factor in the natural gas industry it had four subsidiaries operating in the Appalachian field. There are now eleven unit companies in the group, while operations are carried on in three major gas fields, natural gas being sold in eight states. Consolidated assets have increased to over $41,000,000.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 5.—Those who follow the devious ways of the stock market for a livelihood had plenty of time for their meditations today. Prices crawled around on pinpoint trading areas and took their own good time about doing it. The session was little more than a long drawn out yawn. Losses were slightly in the majority at the close.

Show Displeasure.

Wall street brokers were displeased by the recommendations made at the International Chamber of Commerce congress by Melvin Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago, that brokers be prohibited from accepting speculative accounts of less than $10,000 and that the floor trader be eliminated. The proposals were characterized by some as "impracticable."

Walter Channing Burbank, partner in the New York Stock exchange firm of Clark, Childs & Co., said: "This seems like one of those statements made from time to time without due consideration and without looking facts in the face. Such a law could not be enforced. Why pick on stocks? Why not enforce the same laws in the real estate market or in any other market if it comes to that?

"This law would not only hit the poor man. There are many rich men who prefer to open accounts under $10,000. The country depends on the free flow of securities to keep the wheels of industry turning. Anything that tends to interrupt this distribution is bad."

Sag Under Own Weight.

The truth is such stocks as did develop swayback seemed to succumb chiefly to their own weight and not because of any pressure of consequence. They suffered from neglect—like the whole market. The extremely dull stage reached by dealings yesterday convinced the market that it ought to be satisfied if it could maintain the status quo for a while, apparently, and each side seemed to be waiting for the other to make the first move.

Hogs and lambs met good demand at strong prices yesterday, the latter scoring an advance of 15@25c in midsession, while cattle moved slowly and finished weak to 25c lower. Marked decreases in supplies of all classes of cattle were reported at principal points. The total at the 20 leading markets at 187,000 showed a decrease of almost 70,000 head, or 27 per cent, compared with last Tuesday's supply of cattle, hogs and sheep.

Receipts of hogs at Chicago were smallest for Tuesday in three weeks at 20,000. Only four Tuesday totals have been smaller this year. Activity featured the trade at steady to strong prices compared with Monday's average market, although sales were not quite up to the high point at the opening of the week.

The extreme top at $7.25 equaled the low point of the season, established in February, while the general average at $6.75 was the same as Monday's average and 5c above the low point eleven weeks ago. Only 4,000 were left at the close yesterday and few of these were offered for sale when only 18,000 were posted for today's market.

Hog Futures Are Active.

Trading in hog futures was active, but the buying side took advantage when the market was swamped with offers and prices were cut 15@25c. Eleven carloads of hogs were sold for next September delivery, the largest number of sales on one session since last September.

Medium and heavy grades were sold at $7.75, while light weights brought $7.80. June light were offered at $7.85 and bid $7.60. May mediums were offered at $7.75. On the "to arrive" market, light weights for today's delivery were bid $7.25. Mediums carried bids of $6.75 and heavy grades were bid $6.50.

In spite of the big eastern demand for cattle lately, buyers were able to force quotations on all but the very best stock to a lower level yesterday. The top at $9.75, paid for 1,147 lb steers, equaled the highest in more than a week. Monday's shipments of cattle from Chicago totaled 6,689, the largest for one day since June, 1927.

Outsiders bought 36 per cent of receipts during the first two days of this week, against 27 per cent a year ago. Only a few loads were good enough to sell above $8.00 on yesterday's session; the bulk going at $7.00 @8.00, while plain quality beef steers ranged downwards to $6.00.

Lambs Reach $10.00.

Colorado wool lambs advanced to the $10.00 line on yesterday's bulge, equaling last week's peak, which stands only 15c under the highest point of the year. Most wool lambs changed hands at $9.50@9.85.

Lambs without fleece sold largely at $8.50@8.85, with prime 85@92 lb averages at $9.00, within 25c of the highest price of the season for shorn stock. Some 106 lb averages from Washington were sold at $8.75. Some inferior Texas shorn stock sold at $4.65@5.00. Aged sheep and yearlings were unchanged. Feeding and shearing lambs sold steady.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs and 11,000 sheep, against 11,630 cattle, 22,182 hogs and 14,218 sheep the previous Wednesday and 9,902 cattle, 15,033 hogs and 12,296 sheep a year ago.

REGULATION OF CANADIAN GRAIN TRADE PLANNED

OTTAWA, May 5.—(AP)—Regulatory legislation in respect to trading in grain futures will be introduced in parliament late this session and will be along the lines of recommendations of the grain inquiry, headed by Sir Josiah Stamp, London, England, economist.

The report, it was learned today, is unanimous and the document finds that trading in grain futures is beneficial to producers, but makes recommendations for regulatory legislation.

One of the precedents for regulatory legislation was provided in 1924 by amendments to the Canadian banking act conferring certain powers on the government in regard to banks. Following the enactment of these amendments, an inspector general of banks was appointed.

May Follow U. S. Plan.

WINNIPEG, May 5.—(AP)—Regulation of Canadian grain exchanges, forecast in Ottawa reports as certain, is expected to place trading in futures under government supervision similar to that existent in the United States.

Under United States laws, according to evidence before the commission, the government knows the daily volume of open contracts, the daily position of market customers with an open interest of 500,000 bushels or more on the futures market, and the position of certain individuals who might be asked to report direct. Lengthy explanatory testimony was given by Dr. J. W. T. Duvel of Washington, D. C., chief economist of grain futures administration, United States government.

Figures available to the government, Dr. Duvel indicated, show whether heavy selling for future contract is liquidation by "longs" or buyers tired of holding their wheat purchases, or new "short" interests entering the market. Dr. Duvel considered that the present regulations aid substantially in halting unnecessary and disadvantageous speculative trading.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Weather conditions in the northwest are the main factors in the wheat situation at present. Traders in the main assume that winter wheat conditions are so good that they are likely to come through all right and a big crop is expected. It is said that should anything happen to the spring wheat crop it might create a bullish sentiment and an upturn in prices. For the present most traders are inclined to go slow on the selling side. There are, however, a number of old timers who are excessively bearish and can see nothing in the situation except that wheat should be sold on all hard spots. Those who are bullish advocate the buying of July on all breaks, claiming that it is showing signs of being oversold. May is acting tight, but trade is not large.

May corn is showing more strength and specialists say it responds more readily to local buying. One of the close observers of pit operations says that a number of large local operators are speculating on corn and that they sell it on all bulges and are not scared into covering on moderate breaks. This is inducing more general buying on the weak spots by the trade in general.

COTTON IRREGULAR

A weak and lower close followed a fairly firm opening in the cotton markets yesterday, with prices slightly higher. Cables were stronger and Liverpool finished 7@9 points net higher, although spot sales were only 2,000 bales. The south and local traders sold liberally, creating the impression that some important interest was liquidating by way of New Orleans. All the early gain was lost by midday and the finish on futures in Chicago was at net losses of 4@8 points, with other markets off 4@13 points. New York leading. Reports from the textile interests showed little change in the general situation. Fertilizing sales so far this season are said to be 30 per cent less than last year, which is considered a most important factor. There is a bearish feeling, however, in certain quarters and the market runs into selling on all hard spots. Spots were unchanged, New York being 9.70c, New Orleans 9.45c, Galveston 9.60c, and Houston 9.50c.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, May 5.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil closed 8 points lower to 3 net highe rtioday, with sales of 1,200 brls. Easiness of cotton and grains, together with unsettled lard markets and scattered July liquidation, upset the list. Crude oil was barely steady. Prime crude, 6.37½c; bleachable spot closed 7.20c; May, 7.36c; July, 7.60c; September, 7.70c; December, 7.48c. There were no sales in prime summer yellow, with closing prices as follows: Spot and May, 7.20c; July, 7.40c; September, 7.45c; December, 7.45c.

WHEAT PRICES EASE ON NEWS OF NORTHWEST RAIN

European Stocks Are Reported Light.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Scattered rains in the Canadian and American northwest, while insufficient to afford more than temporary relief from the dryness which has prevailed in the spring wheat area for some time past, took the bull edge off the market yesterday and with a weakened technical position prices on the Chicago Board of Trade dropped around 1c from Monday's finish.

New crop futures closed within a fraction of the bottom with net losses 7/8@1c. July was 63⅜c; September 62¾c to 62⅞@63c, and December 66¼c at the last. Old May was unchanged at 81⅝@82c, and new May up ⅜c at 84¼c.

Parts of the Dakotas, Minnesota, and Montana received fair rains, but in the prairie provinces they were scattered and generally too light to be of any material benefit, but the prospect of additional moisture being received kept the local element on the selling side the greater part of the day. Buying against bids and short covering checked the decline. Winnipeg finished ¼c higher to ⅝c lower as compared with Saturday, the spread between the July futures there and at Chicago narrowing somewhat, with both markets at 63⅜c at the last. Liverpool was ½d higher to ¼d lower with July closing at 68⅝d.

Wheat a Weather Affair.

The wheat market is regarded by the trade as almost entirely a weather affair, and developments in the northwest especially are expected to determine the trend of values in the immediate future, although there were complaints of too much rain and of rank growth at some points in Kansas.

Seeding in Alberta and Saskatchewan is estimated by a leading Winnipeg line elevator house to be 50 per cent completed, while in Manitoba around 80 per cent of the acreage is seeded.

Japan was a liberal buyer of Australian wheat, according to cables from abroad, while the continent took considerable Argentine. The demand for Canadian grain, however, was very disappointing, with sales of around 300,000 bu in all positions, although the character of the buying of futures at Winnipeg by expert houses suggested a larger total. European wheat stocks are reported as light.

Corn Market Easier.

Corn prices averaged slightly lower with trade mainly of a local character. Shorts bought the May, with the July and September under some pressure, and the finish was unchanged to ⅛c lower, the latter on July, while May and December were firm. May closed at 56¼c, July and September 58c, and December 61¾c. The latter touched 52⅝c at the extreme on short covering by local operators, who sold last week around 50c.

Cash interests were on the buying side of May oats as the result of the premium of 2½@3c prevailing for No. 2 white in the sample market. The close was ½c higher to ¼c lower, with May 27½c, July 27¾c, September 28c, and December 30¼@30⅝c. More rain would be beneficial in Iowa according to reports to J. E. Bennett & Co.

A large acreage of rye is expected to be cut for hay this season. It is figured that on the basis of prevailing prices rye is worth about 14c per bu at loading stations, and that a farmer would lose money in harvesting it as grain. It is estimated that it would be worth more when cut for hay, especially as the latter promises to be somewhat short in part of the Dakotas and Montana this year. Futures were firmer early, but eased later with wheat, and closed unchanged to ⅛c lower, with May 33½c, July 36½c, September, 38c, and December, 41⅜c.

McKelvie Raps Opponents.

Omaha, Neb., May 5.—(AP)—In the absence of Samuel R. McKelvie, grain member of the federal farm board, C. B. Stewart of Lincoln, Neb., president of the Farmers' West Centrrl Grain company, today read before stockholders of the company a speech prepared for delivery by McKelvie, in which he denounced opponents of cooperative grain marketing. McKelvie, scheduled to deliver the address, failed to arrive in Omaha in time for the meeting.

Stockholders of the company, which in its first year of existence handled approximately 8,000,000 bushels of grain, heard McKelvie outline four principles by which, he said, coöperatives might be led to success despite opposition. They were:

2. Do not pay out profits "until sufficient reserves have been established to insure against unavoidable losses that inevitably occur in every line of business."

3. Do not speculate. "When you buy cash grain hedge it as soon as possible; that is what your private competitor does."

4. Be jealous of your credit. "Only a few people know how to use easy credit and thousands have failed from taking or signing the other fellow's note."

PRIVATE SALE OF U. S. WHEAT MADE AT CUT RATES, IS BELIEF

A feeling that the federal farm board should make known to the country as a whole the details of its reported sale of 12,000,000 bu of hard winter wheat for export prevailed on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

According to reports received from Russell's Commercial News of New York a meeting was held between officials of the government agencies and various exporters on April 25 at which it was agreed that hard winter would be offered through brokers for export on an equal basis to all.

On April 30, according to the New York report, the government agency refused to offer wheat and on the same date European importers cabled that one foreign exporting firm with a branch in the United States was offering and selling American wheat on the basis of 1c per bu less than prices previously given through brokers. On May 2 came the announcement that the farm board had disposed of its surplus hard winter at Atlantic and gulf ports.

According to the New York story it is alleged that apparently a large block of wheat was sold at a private sale at a price substantially under prices quoted to the trade in general, and European advices indicate the wheat which is being sold is being sold entirely by one foreign concern on the basis of 66c free on board Atlantic and gulf ports. It is rumored the price paid to the government is between 60@61c, and the trade is not aware of any efforts made to obtain a higher price than the bid submitted at the private sale.

REFINANCE TALL STREETERVILLE FLAT BUILDING

New Loan Negotiated on 180 East Delaware.

BY AL CHASE.

Another big apartment project has been successfully refinanced. Transfer of title to the eleven story building at 180 East Delaware place by Miss H. G. Forde to the Beacon Building corporation yesterday disclosed what has been done by the bondholders' committee, headed by Craig Hazlewood, vice president of the First National bank. This, by the way, is one of twenty such refinancing projects that have recently been successfully carried out by this committee, Sonnenschein, Berkson, Lautmann & Levinson were attorneys.

The bondholders will control the property. A $450,000 loan has been negotiated for five years at 6 per cent and the proceeds will be distributed among the bondholders. In addition 150,000 shares of no par value common stock will care for the remainder of the original bond issue, which was for $1,200,000 and made by the American Bond and Mortgage company, and for the junior mortgage holders and owners of the equity. The building was erected several years ago by B. Leo Stelf and Samuel Cole. It occupies a 150x107 site in Streeterville.

Tells of Chicago's Growth.

A. Lawren Brown, director of public relations for George F. Nixon & Co., gave an illustrated talk on Chicago before the subdividers' division of the Chicago Real Estate board yesterday noon at the Palmer house. Percy Wilson, president of Percy Wilson & Co., and head of the division, presided at the luncheon. Mr. Brown painted a vivid picture of this city's tremendous industrial growth, and predicted that the next three years would present unusual advantages for investment in reality.

"The most recent estimates of the commerce of Chicago," he said, "that is, the product of her stores and factories, for the last three years amount to more money than was paid out by the United States government from its first budget of 1791 until within three months of the armistice in 1918, a total of $37,000,000,000."

Realty Board to Meet.

J. L. Jacobs, consulting and efficiency engineer on local government, will address the Chicago Real Estate board members this evening, following the monthly business session of the realtors. His subject will be "Efficiency and Economy in Local Government."

The twelve room brick residence at 4252 Hazel avenue has been purchased by George V. McIntyre, Municipal court judge, for an undisclosed consideration, from Marion G. Cummings. The lot is 50x207. Frank F. Overlock of McMenemy & Martin, was the only broker.

Frank W. Schmidtke & Co. report several leases, among them being the store at 3004 North Laramie to the Fair Cleaners and Furriers, at 3042 North Laramie to the Laramie Chain store. Mr. Schmidtke says there is a good demand for stores and flats in that section.
